ACTION TAKEN IN U. S. COURT

Ft. Wayne Injunction Case Postponed When Both Sides Agree.

Little Change Seen in the Street Railway Tangle on Tuesday.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 5.—Hearing of the injunction proceedings growing out of the street car strike at Fort Wayne was postponed in federal court today until Oct. 27.

The postponement was the result of an agreement by attorneys representing both sides of the case.

Company Will Seek to Keep Full Schedule in Operation.

Cars will again be operated Tuesday night and every night hereafter, according to a statement made Tuesday by General Manager Sam W. Greenland, of the Fort Wayne and Northern Indiana Traction company, regardless of the bricks and stones that may be hurled.

The smashing of glass in five cars Monday night has not disturbed the officials of the company or deterred them from continuing the operation of cars after dark.

The strike situation remains unchanged, although members of the carmen's union are still optimistic and are firm in the belief that their cause will eventually be won. There has been no noticeable change, however, in the policy of the traction officials.

Leave for Indianapolis.

Joseph C. Colgan, member of the general executive board if the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employes, and C. B. Huston and J. E. Hooper, members of the grievance committee of the local union, the trio who have been cited for contempt of court before Judge A. B. Anderson, of the federal court at Indianapolis, left Monday night for the state capital, notwithstanding the announcement that the cases had been postponed to October 15. The three men received a message about 4 o'clock Monday afternoon from their attorney to be in the federal court at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning. No further information was given.

Two new men joined the street car men's union Tuesday morning, Charles Eby and Joseph Laisure, making four old employes of the company who have affiliated with the organization this week.

LAST MINUTE NEWS

WIFE OF U. S. SENATOR SUES FOR SEPARATION.

Concord, N. H., Oct. 5.—Mrs. Grace Hollis today filed a petition for a separation from her husband, United States Senator Henry F. Hollis, of New Hampshire and for a separate maintenance. The petition was made returnable Nov. 15 and Senator Hollis was restrained by the court from disposing of his property until final judgment in the case was reached.

BANK VAULT BLOWN BY TWO MEN; LOOT IS $4,000.

Shawnee, Okla., Oct. 5.—Two men blew open the vault of the state bank at Maud, Okla., 15 miles south of here early today and escaped with $4,000. A sheriff's posse pursued the men eastward through the Seminole country.

MAY MAKE FIGHT FOR CLOSED SHOP

Schenectady, N. Y., Oct. 5.—With the producing end of the General Electric company's plant tied up by a strike of approximately 10,000 organized workers, union leaders today declared their intention of making a fight for a complete closed shop before returning to work. To this end they began organizing about 3,000 women workers.

Under no circumstances, the leaders said, would a settlement be discussed with company officials before Thursday. By that time it is expected most of the women workers would be allied either with the machinists or electrical workers' locals, and the metal trades alliance grievance committee will have formally endorsed the strike. This is the committee which agreed several days ago to accept a compromise plan offered by General Manager George Emmons, but this action displeased the members of the various crafts and the walk out yesterday occurred without the consent of the committee. Its members are said to be displeased with the action of the locals, but will endorse the strike probably Wednesday night.

Rumors of a probable compromise settlement continue strong. The general belief is that a nine-hour day eventually will be agreed upon. Heretofore a ten hour day has obtained. The company always has opposed the closed shop and many prominent union leaders are doubtful if they can induce the company to agree to it now. Not a sign of disorder has been noted since the first body of 1,500 machinists walked out yesterday. No special guards have been employed by the company and the city police still are working their regular beats. Union officials are repeatedly cautioning the strikers against violence.

HEADLIGHTS CAUSE ANOTHER ACCIDENT

Glaring headlights on an automobile have added another one to its long list of accidents. C. G. Kaiser, who resides in Bloomingdale, is confined to his home suffering from two broken ribs as a result. The accident occurred Monday night on the Lincoln highway when the buggy in which he was riding was struck in the rear by the Shryock truck driven by M. H. Smith, who reported the accident to the police.

Mr. Smith was driving on the highway with the truck at 6:30 o'clock when he met an automobile with blinding headlights, and although he slacked down the machine he bumped into the rear of the buggy occupied by Mr. Kaiser. He says the lights blinded him so that he did not see the rig in front of him.

THIRTY DELEGATES ATTEND C. E. MEET

Thirty delegates had arrived late this afternoon for the annual meeting of the Christian Endeavor societies of the Wells district of the St. Joseph conference of United Brethren churches, in sessio at the Calvary U. B. church of this city of which Rev. J. W. Borkert is pastor. Round table talks were given at the afternoon session and the departmental superintendents gave five-minute talks.

The evening session opens at 7:30 o'clock and R. A. Walker, state field secretary of the Indiana Christian Endeavor societies, will be the principal speaker. Mr. Walker is well known here and a large audience is expected to be present to hear him. Special music will be rendered.

MANY HOMELESS AND DESTITUTE.

Washington, Oct. 5.—In response to a message from Governor Hall, of Louisiana, asking for assistance in taking care of the homeless, Acting Secretary Newton of the treasury today authorized public health service officials to lend tents and other equipment to gulf coast hurricane sufferers. Governor Hall wired that over 6,000 people were homeless and destitute.

DUMBA NOW ON HIS WAY HOME

GOES TO VIENNA TO MAKE REPORT

Says He Regrets to Quit America But Bears No Ill-Will in Case.

New York, Oct. 5.—Dr. Constantin T. Dumba, the Austro-Hungarian ambassador to Washington, who was recalled at the request of President Wilson, sailed for home today on the Holland-America liner Nieuw Amsterdam. He was accompanied by Mrs. Dumba. Dr. Dumba sailed under a safe conduct arrangement made by the state department.

The Nieuw Amsterdam will touch at Falmouth, England, and then proceed to Rotterdam. From the latter port Dr. Dumba will go at once to Vienna to report to his foreign office.

Dr. Dumba in his last words to the newspaper men said: "I bear no ill-will toward this country, nor its people. I am deeply sorry to leave at the present time for I have made many friends here, and I hoped to stay longer to see

SAYS HE WAS CHIEF OF WRECKING CREW

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 5.—Details of the "wrecking crew" on election day were described by William W. Pettit at the trial today of Mayor Joseph E. Bell, charged with election conspiracy. Pettit said he was made chief of the "wrecking crew" by William Clauer, a city employe and a co-defendant.

Pettit told of beating up a negro named Lancaster and driving two other colored men from the polls. Later he said he and his four companions went to a number of precincts in an automobile and voted as often as possible.

"Clauer told us we were to see that our men, when challenged, were permitted to vote," the witness testified. He said the police were with us and if we were arrested we would be released at once. I said, "Tom Taggart, Mayor Bell and Chief Perrott have enough money and power to get us out, I guess.' He did not say anything to that.

Pettit said he and his four companions were supplied with blackjacks at democratic headquarters, from which place they started out on election morning.

The witness was given a severe grilling on cross examination by C. W. Miller, for the defense, who took him over election day and then went into the witness' police record.

EXPLOSION ABOARD WARSHIP; 2 BURNED

Newport, R. I., Oct. 5.—An explosion followed by a fire took place today on board the torpedo boat destroyer Cummings while she was engaged in war maneuvers off the coast. The Cummins was immediately headed for this port.

The explosion occurred this forenoon in the forward compartment of the Cummins and two men were badly burned by oil flames. The fire was soon extinguished, but it was decided by her commander, Lieut. J. C. Fremont, to start back for Newport. The Cummins is expected here late today.

The Cummins left here yesterday as a member of the sixth division of destroyers attached to the fleet of the "Enemy" in the war game off the coast. It was believed that she had reached a point some 150 miles off the coast when the accident happened. The destroyer was in company with the destroyers Cassin and Alwyn.

A message from the division commander of the navy department giving a brief account of the accident was sent to Washington this afternoon.

INQUEST IS HELD OVER BODY OF BOY

Coroner Edward H. Kruse stated Tuesday that he expects to return a verdict finding that the accident resulting in the death of Raymond Graffe, son of F. C. Graffe, 1201 Swinney avenue, who was fatally injured when struck by an automobile in front of St. Patrick's church on Harrison street, Saturday night, was unavoidable. The inquest was held Monday afternoon when the following witnesses were examined: Ray D. Christian, who was driving the car, and M. F. Marhenke, both of Decatur; Mr. and Mrs. Graffe, parents of the child, and Mrs. Elizabeth Magers.

Mrs. Graffe declares that the car was going fully twenty miles an hour and also denies that Mrs. Magers, who was with her at the time, ever made the statement that the accident was unavoidable. Coroner Kruse expects to file his verdict with the county clerk in a few days.

GERMANY PROTESTS MOTOR BOAT SALES

Washington, Oct. 5.—Specific protest against shipment of six forty-foot motor boats from Boston to England has been made to the state department by the German embassy on the ground that they are war vessels designed to aid in the British campaign against submarines.

The protest has been referred to the neutrality board which has decided there is no reason to prevent the shipment. The boats as shipped carried neither guns, emplacements for guns nor armor. The board held that as in similar cases recently there was nothing to show that the boats were intended for war purposes or to place them in the class of war vessels.

BIG REALTY DEAL CLOSED

Wolf & Desauer Purchase Jewish Synagogue Property.

Congregation Will Now Seek Site for Erection of New Temple.

A deal was closed this week for the purchase of the property belonging to the Achduth Veshalom congregation at Harrison and Wayne streets by Wolf & Dessauer for a consideration of $53,250, which is another indication of the expansion of business west of Calhoun street and the rapid commercial development of Harrison street. The property was bid in for Wolf & Dessauer by Fisher Brothers.

The new owners are not to have possession until March 2, 1916, and in the meantime the congregation will look out for a site upon which to erect a new synagogue. Services will be held in the old synagogue, however, until that time.

Site is Valuable.

The property is one of the most valuable on Harrison street, extending south a half block to the alley. The Achduth Veshalom congregation before the erection of the present synagogue in 1874 occupied a small brick building which still stands on rear of the lot Harrison street. Since that time this building has been occupied by various denominations and for the last few

WOULDN'T STAND FOR COLORED CHAUFFEURS

Cumming, Ga., Oct. 5.—When a party of automobilists, comprising the annual "seeing Georgia tour" of the Georgia chamber of commerce, yesterday drove into Forsyth county, into which no negro has been allowed to enter since four negroes criminally assaulted a young white woman near here two years ago, four of the tourist automobiles, driven by negro chauffeurs, were made targets for stones and sticks, thrown by a crowd of men and boys. An attempt was made to take one of the chauffeurs from his car. No one was injured.

The tourists speeded up their automobiles and hastened into Cumming, the county seat of Forsyth, where an entertainment planned in their honor was carried out.

Racial feeling ran high at the time of the assaults and two of the negroes were lynched. The other two were tried and convicted here chiefly upon the evidence of a sister of one of them. They later were hanged here. All negroes were ordered to leave Forsyth county at that time and all obeyed the order.

MAN WHO DIED IN CELL IDENTIFIED

He Was Wm. T. Henson, of City, and Was With Delia Zell.

The man who died in a cell at police headquarters at 10 o'clock Sunday morning from what was then believed to be acute alcoholism, and in connection with whose death Delia Zell has been taken in custody, was identified Tuesday morning as William T. Henson, aged 29 years, rooming at 140 Baker street, and employed by the Furnas Ice Cream company, 513-15 Lafayette street, as driver.

The woman is held on a drunk charge pending the outcome of an autopsy to determine whether or not Henson came to his death by poison that may have been placed in coffee he drank with her at a restaurant on Harrison street Saturday night.

Henson had not been seen by either his employers or his boarding house mistress since early Saturday evening and his absence caused an inquiry that led to identification of the body at the Schone & Ankenbruck morgue as the remains of Henson. Earl Bates, 308 West Lewis street, who formerly roomed with Henson, declared the body at the morgue was that of Henson and employes of the Furnas company were equally positive.

Was With Zell Woman.

Henson picked up the Zell woman, who resides with her husband at 136 West Jefferson street, on the street. She was arrested about 10 o'clock Monday night at Harrison and Pearl streets by Detective Sergeant Walter H. Immel, who had been detailed for investigation of the case. She was with a well-dressed traveling man she had met in a moving picture theater on Main street. Her companion was given a severe shock when Detective Immel placed her under arrest, turned her over to a uniformed officer and said to the man:

"This woman may be wanted for murder."

The man said the woman was taking him to a room on the north side. She had another man with her when they came out of the theater, but she had got rid of him, seeming to prefer the traveling man's company.

Collapsed in Restaurant.

Detective Immel learned Monday that the man who died at headquarters Sunday morning had been with a woman in W. M. Fryberger's "Queen" restaurant, 613 Harrison street, about 9 o'clock Saturday night, where the two were served with coffee at a table. The woman drank her coffee hurriedly and as the man took a deep draught from his cup he spewed it over the table, exclaiming, "My God, somebody's drugged this coffee." At the same time he upset his cup and the contents were spilled on the table.

Soon after that the man collapsed in his chair, became helpless and apparently unconscious. Fryberger, the proprietor, came in at that time and the man was carried outdoors and the police notified. When the patrol wagon with officers arrived the woman had disappeared.

The unconscious man was believed to have been overcome by liquor and was taken to a cell at headquarters, where he died Sunday morning.

Delia Zell Was the Woman.

Detective Immel got a description of the woman that was in the restaurant and after having questioned two females of the street without result, went after Delia Zell. She was very drunk when arrested, but admitted her companionship on Saturday evening with the man who had collapsed at the "Queen" restaurant. Her condition Monday evening was such that not much that was satisfactory in the way of evidence could be obtained from her, but her story that the man with whom she was in the restaurant was a stranger to her was believed. She was locked up on a charge of drunkenness.

ALLIES FAIL, SAYS BERLIN

Western Attack Called Do or Die Effort That is Fruitless.

BRITISH MEET NEW REPULSE

Today's War News Given in Summary.

Artillery firing along a wide front has succeeded the exhausting infantry operations of the past week or more on the front in France, the French war office statement today shows. No exchanges of territory are reported. Communication routes behind the German lines continue to be heavily shelled by the French artillery and their air craft.

A dispatch from Berlin declares that the German steamer Svionia, reported sunk in the Baltic sea yesterday by a British submarine was attacked with shell fire without warning.

A German official statement on the general offensive movement of the entente allies on the eastern front declares in effect that it is shown to have been a do or die effort to end the war, which failed.

The Berlin war office asserts that both British and French army orders prove that the movement was started with the intention of driving the Germans from French soil.

The allies, the statement declares, expected to break through the German lines and gain the open field, thus turning out the Teutons, the expulsion of which would influence hitherto neutral nations to join the entente powers.

Notwithstanding what is declared to have been a seven-fold numerical superiority and possession of vast stores of war material, the German lines were not broken, but merely pushed back in to comparatively small sectors to the second, and by no means the last German line. It is asserted that virtually no German troops which were intended for service on other fronts were diverted from their destination by the allied attack.

Up to noon today in Petrograd no answer had been received to the ultimatum sent by Russia to Bulgaria. Contrary to first reports, the ultimatum was not delivered until 4 p. m. Monday and the time limit was not due to expire until 4 p. m. today or 9:30 a. m., New York time.

Berlin, Oct. 5.—The British attack on the German fortification north of Loos has again been repulsed. The war office announced today that the efforts of the British were fruitless and that they sustained considerable losses.

A dispatch from Sofia dated Oct. 4 to the Zeitung Am Mittag says: "Premier Radoslavoff of Bulgaria today made the following declaration to representatives of the government parties:

"'We confront war and must defend our national interests. We must wrest from our enemies everything they took from us two years ago and get satisfaction for every insult.'"

BULGARIA GETS MORE TIME.

London, Oct. 5.—Whether by delay in telegraphic communications or by some unexplained cause, Bulgaria obtained an additional 24 hours in which to decide her course. The time limit of the Russian ultimatum demanding that King Ferdinand break with the central powers did not expire yesterday afternoon as had been reported, and the Bulgarian government had the opportunity of delaying its decision until mid-afternoon today.

No official report has been issued concerning the landing of allied troops at Saloniki. According to Athens three-fifths of the Bulgarian forces are to go to the Serbian frontier and the remainder will hold the Greek line.

Loss of the Hohenzollern redoubt near Labasse as announced yesterday by Field Marshal French was a keen disappointment to England. It is assumed the British troops after their rush forward over a comparatively wide front, did not have sufficient time to consolidate this difficult position. The British commander's admission of the loss was tempered with the statement that German counter attacks had been beaten off along the remainder of the British front.

Military writers profess to see already the effects of the offensive in the west on operations over the eastern front. The Russians are holding the Germans before Dvinsk and apparently are giving little ground elsewhere.

Von Bernstorff Note is More Satisfactory

Washington, Oct. 5.—Satisfactory settlement of the issues between Germany and the United States growing out of the sinking of the steamship Arabic was forecast today in official quarters after a conference between President Wilson and Secretary Lansing.

Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, in a brief conversation earlier in the day, gave Secretary Lansing oral assurances that his communication, submitted last Saturday would be changed to conform to the wishes of the United States and an hour later a messenger from the German embassy brought the document to the state department. Immediately afterward Secretary Lansing took it to the white house and after a brief talk with President Wilson said there would be an announcement shortly on the status of the negotiations.

In all quarters it was indicated that the wishes of the United States had been met to the extent that an arrangement had been made for the settlement of points in dispute.

Where Gigantic Drive Has Resulted in Gains for the Allies in France

The map shows in greater detail the great gain along a 20-mile front on the battleline northeast of Verdun. At this point the French have succeeded in piercing the German's second line, and are seriously threatening the army of the German crown prince.

DELAY IN DELIVERY OF RUSSIAN DEMAND

Berlin Believes Russian Action Will Quickly Clarify Diplomatic Situation in Balkans.

Petrograd, Oct. 5.—Russia's ultimatum to Bulgaria was not delivered to Premier Radoslavoff until 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. This statement was made officially here today.

The foreign office at noon today stated that no answer had been received from Bulgaria to the ultimatum.

It is not expected by the foreign office that ultimatum will be presented by Russia's allies. Russia did not insist upon demobilization by Bulgaria, but it is expected that if this is not done at once Bulgaria will gradually reduce her army to a peace footing, in case her reply is favorable to Russia.

The Russian minister at Sofia may remain there indefinitely as a private citizen owing to illness even should diplomatic relations be severed.

Previous advices from Petrograd were that the Russian ultimatum had been delivered on Sunday and that the twenty-four hours limit within which reply was requested expired yesterday. This period did not begin until the time of the actual delivery of the ultimatum to the Bulgarian government, therefore the Bulgarian government has until 4 o'clock this afternoon in which to decide whether to adopt a policy of strict neutrality or to side openly with Germany, Austria and Turkey.

DEEP IMPRESSION IN BERLIN.

Germany Believes Ultimatum Will Clarify Diplomatic Air.

Berlin, Oct. 4.—(Via London, Oct. 5.)—Russia's ultimatum to Bulgaria has made a deep impression here, but has resulted in a feeling of relief because of the conviction that the moment has arrived when the diplomatic situation in the Balkans must be clarified within a few hours. The general opinion is that Bulgaria cannot yield to Russia's demands and that the ultimatum may even cause the pro-Russian element to rally to the support of the government. Germans consider that the entente powers elected an unpromising moment to make their voice heard at Sofia. Discussing the consequences which are likely to follow a breach in the diplomatic relations between Russia and Bulgaria, the newspapers profess to expect an immediate declaration of war by the entente allies, with a blockade of Bulgarian ports on the Black sea and on the Aegean, as well as the landing of an Anglo-French army at Salonika. The papers contend a blockade would have no practical effect since Bulgaria now places little dependency upon foreign maritime trade.

SIGNED SOME TIME AGO.

Milan, Italy, Oct. 4.—(Via Paris, Oct. 5.)—A military convention was signed between Bulgaria, Germany and Austria some time ago, according to a Sofia dispatch to the Corrier Della Sera.

By the terms of this treaty the Bulgarian army is bound to attack Serbia with six divisions in the Nish-Pierot section and to send Macedonian troops to Vardar to destroy railroad communication with Salonika, thus delaying the allies in their efforts to aid Serbia.

The opposition Bulgarian leaders, M. Ghenadieff, Malinoff and Guechoff, after having gone so far as to threaten King Ferdinand because of his stand in favor of Germany and Austria, are reported to have changed front completely and now proclaim that the nation is united. Students parade the streets of Sofia singing alternately the Bulgarian, German and Austrian national anthems.

DECLARED LEGAL MARRIAGES.

Union of Slaves in Ante-Bellum Days Upheld by Arkansas Court.

Little Rock, Ark., Oct. 5.—The Arkansas supreme court has declared the unions of negroe slaves in the ante-bellum days legal marriages, even though no marriage ceremony was performed. The decision was given in a case where a negro had inherited property from a grandfather who was a slave. The title was attacked on the ground that his father was an illicit child.

Bluffton, Ind., Oct. 5.—The little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mettler fell out of the back door at her home and sustained a fracture of the collar bone and also the dislocation of a shoulder.

TURKEY WILL GET WARNING

U. S. Insists That Frightful Massacres of Armenians Must Cease.

Washington, Oct. 5.—The Turkish government will be formally notified that unless the massacres of Armenians ceases, friendly relations between the American people and the people of Turkey will be threatened.

Instructions to that effect had gone today to Ambassador Morganthau. Officials here made it plain that the message did not threaten a rupture in the diplomatic relations between the two countries.

The ambassador's instructions are to immediately inform Turkey that the American people already are so stirred by the reported massacres that a continuance of the atrocities might result in a break in the friendly relations between the two people.

WAR OF EXTERMINATION.

New York, Oct. 5.—The Turks and Kurds are waging a holy war of extermination on the Armenians according to sixteen members of the American board of foreign missions, who arrived from Van, Turkey, on the Swedish steamer Hellig Olav today.

Ernest Yarrow, one of the missionaries, told how the Armenian population of Van, numbering 1,500, held out against 5,000 Kurds and a Turkish company commanded by a German officer, from April 20 to May 17, when Russians arrived and relieved the ton.

"We had six American and two Red Cross flags," said Mr. Yarrow, "and we flew these over the mission, but they were not respected by either of the combatants. The Turkish company arrived three or four days before the Russian relief came, and the shrapnel from the Turkish guns tore down all of our flags.

"We sheltered large numbers of Armenian women and children, but as soon as the Turks and Kurds had been driven away from the town, virtually all of the Armenians turned out to loot the Turkish houses and duplicate the atrocities that had previously been practiced upon the Armenians. It was with great difficulty that they were restrained.

"The Turks and Kurds have declared a holy war against the Armenians and vowed to exterminate them. The population of Van was poorly armed and were forced to use brass and copper trinkets to make bullets. Three small cannon were made of scrap metal. The supplies of ammunition were running short and the Russians arrived just in time to save the Armenians from being wiped out."

Mr. Yarrow said many Armenians were suffering from typhus and other diseases and when he left conditions almost everywhere in Armenia were terrible.

According to Mr. Yarrow many of the atrocities practiced by the Kurds were indescribable. He confirmed all of the reports of outrages which have reached the United States and said only a portion of the real story had been told.

PATTERSON-FLETCHER COMPANY

"The Store That Does Things"

SEEKS TO DEFEND ALL PORTS IN "WAR GAME"

Washington, Oct. 5.—Admiral Fletcher's Atlantic fleet of battleships was engaged today in defending the coast from Maine to Florida against a hostile force under Vice-Admiral Mayo. This was the beginning of a ten days' war game which had been planned on a more extensive scale than ever before attempted by the United States navy. Practically every available vessel of the active list was participating.

The hostile fleet, designated as the "Red," put to sea from Newport, R. I., and the other, the "Blue," steamed from Hampton Roads yesterday. Admiral Fletcher's objective was to prevent the "Red" fleet from effecting an entrance to any port.

In the defending fleet were eight dreadnoughts and four pre-dreadnoughts. Admiral Fletcher's flag flew from the Wyoming and the other ships of the fleet were the New York, Florida, Texas, Arkansas, Utah, Michigan, South Carolina, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, New Jersey, Virginia and Louisiana.

Vice-Admiral Mayo's fleet was composed of swift cruisers and vessels of similar type.

MAYOR TO APPEAL AS COUNCIL OUSTS HIM

Terre Haute, Ind., Oct. 5.—The city council last night declared the charges against Mayor James M. Gossom in a bill of impeachment sustained by a vote of six to three. By the same vote the council declared the office of mayor vacant. Attorneys for Mayor Gossom filed notice of appeal to the circuit court and contended that the vote did not carry a sufficient majority to impeach. President Harry Skean was absent. The defense contended that the law required a two-thirds majority of the members-elect.

All members of the council made lengthy explanations before recording their votes. Voting for the impeachment were Councilmen Brannin, Reide, Ohm, Monninger, Cronin and Daugherty. Votes recorded against the impeachment were Deasee, Hanley and Savoree.

ESCAPES FROM STATE MINES.

Alabama Negro, Six Times Sentenced to Death, Gets Freedom.

Montgomery, Ala., Oct. 5.—Erwin Pope, a negro, six times sentenced to death and each time saved from the gallows by the supreme court or by executive clemency, has escaped from the state mines in Shelby county.

Two hours before he was due to mount the gallows the last time, Gov. O'Neal granted a stay of execution and later commuted his sentence to life imprisonment. Pope was arrested six years ago on a charge of killing James McLurkin, a farmer. He always maintained his innocence.

Rotarians Put Ban on "Mr." and Enjoy Feast and a Frolic.

The Fort Wayne Rotary club put the ban on "Mr." at its initial feast of the fall season, held at the Anthony hotel Monday evening. There were no "Misters" about the banquet table, and in their places were merely Jim, and Jack, and Joe and Bill, with the remainder of the assortment of familiar given names which friends are privileged to use in addressing their intimates. To that extent formality was cast to the winds, and the membership enjoyed a feast, a frolic and an entertainment that was thoroughly enjoyable. Music was supplied by the Simon orchestra, and by "Dick" Hartzler, who was given vociferous applause for his vocal numbers. "Fred" Church played the accompaniments.

Rotarians found their places labeled by large oval cards on which were printed their names in large black type, and the preliminaries included the introduction of some half a dozen new members and the reading of a telegram from Aviator Art Smith, at New York, regretting his inability to be present at the first meeting of the club since his adoption into the Rotarian family.

With feast and routine business out of the way, and the one-minute reign of a number of temporary sergeants-at-arms at an end, the diners were turned over to Jesse A. Green, who, as toastmaster, directed the post prandial program. The initial contribution to the speech making was by S. E. Mulholland, who, speaking as a "hyphenated" resident of Fort Wayne, because he did not chance to have the good fortune to be born in this city, pleased for the closer friendships and intimacies that dispense with the formality of "Mister," and enable men to know each other as they really are.

State Treasurer George A. Bittler was presented by the toastmaster as the man who, like Grover Cleveland, had coined a political slogan, but it was not "a public office is a public trust." Instead it was "Let George do it." Mr. Bittler explained amid applause that during his official career he had in fact been attempting to have George do it in a manner that would meet public approbation. "Bob" Hanna exploded a bombshell in the camp when, after cleverly leading the diners up to the expectation of a formal announcement of his candidacy for congress, confided to them instead the momentous information that he was a candidate for membership in the Rotary club.

Each of the addresses was a delight, and the evening was topped off with an entertainment by Henry Roethig, a Chicago magician.

MANY BRANCH CLUBS WILL BE ORGANIZED

An enthusiastic meeting of the Lincoln Republican club was held Monday evening in the lodge room over the Star theater on Calhoun street, when it was decided to organize a branch in each of the townships and towns in the county with delegates to the Fort Wayne club as the central body.

Among the speakers of the evening were: Dr. J. E. Stults, county chairman; Fred Todd, C. R. Lane, W. H. LeTourette, George H. Loesch, D. H. Hogg, Dr. Noah Zehr, Dr. George W. Gillie, W. E. Clapham, Noah Egley, Christian Piepenbrink and others. Plans were discussed for a meeting to be held in the near future at which time Horace Stillwell and Ed C. Toner, both of Anderson, who were among the leading progressives in the state, will probably be the principal speakers.

Mayor Thompson Issues Order Affecting Over 4,000 Drinkeries.

Chicago, Oct. 5.—Mayor Thompson in a message last night to the city council, announced that the owners of all saloons in Chicago hereafter would be forced to obey the state law, which provides that they remain closed on Sunday. The mayor ordered the city collector to notify in writing all persons holding licenses for saloons that they must comply with the requirements of the state law. There are more than 4,000 saloons in Chicago.

Mayor Thompson was attended in the council chamber by three detectives. In the recent municipal election Thompson's opponent was openly supported by the liquor interests, but Mr. Thompson was elected by the largest majority ever recorded in a Chicago mayoralty election.

Mayor Thompson set forth in his message that Corporation Counsel Folsom had advised him that the state law provided a fine of not exceeding $200 for any place where liquor was sold which remained open on Sunday. The mayor said the opinion of the corporation counsel was that existing city ordinances permitting, under restrictions, saloons to remain open on Sunday could not nullify the state law.

"This being the law," the message read, "as I am advised, and it being my duty as mayor to take care, so far as it lies within my power, that the law is faithfully executed in the city, I hereby direct that saloons or dramshops shall comply with the law and close on Sunday."

MINNEAPOLIS DRYS, BEATEN, TO TRY AGAIN

Minneapolis, Oct. 5.—The county option election in this (Hennepin) county, was won by the "wets" yesterday by a majority of about 9,000, according to virtually complete returns today.

At the headquarters of the "drys" it was said the struggle to oust the 433 saloons in Minneapolis had not been given up—only deferred.

According to the local option law passed by the last state legislature, the prohibitionists can petition for another election in three years.

DOCTOR ACCUSED OF STEALING POST CARD

Hammond, Ind., Oct. 5.—Dr. George F. Bicknell, of East Chicago, is under arrest for stealing a postal card. Dr. Bicknell has a pretty office girl, whose name is Anna Gregovovich. She wrote a postal to Susie Kostenbanich and signed it Anna Bicknell.

Susie called up the doctor and inquired as to the identity of the signature. He jumped in his auto and, calling on Susie, demanded the postal which had informed her that if she didn't look out she would spend her days in jail.

The allegation is that Bicknell snatched the card from Susie as she was placing it back in her waist and turned it over to the postal authorities. Divorce proceedings are pending between the doctor and his wife, Ada Bicknell.

Don't scold your fretful, peevish child. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with sour waste.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomachache, indigestion, diarrhœa, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul waste, the sour bile and fermenting food passes out of the bowels and you have a well and playful child again. Children love this harmless "fruit laxative," and mothers can rest easy after giving it, because it never fails to make their little "insides" clean and sweet.

Keep it handy, Mother! A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Remember there are counterfeits sold here, so surely look and see that yours is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup. —Advertisement.

Senator Root's the Fellow Who Put Reform and Reaction in Same Pew

Until the New York constitution-making job at Albany started a leak in the gas bag, no presidential boom was more beautifully inflated than that of Root. But this business of presiding over a reactionary convention is all to the bad for presidential ambitions.

"Grandpa" Root is a clever man. This fact was discovered when he was a young and comparatively unknown lawyer, and led to his retention as counsel to "Boss" Tweed when the latter was prosecuted for looting the city of New York. It will be remembered that Tweed died in jail, a poor man, but Historian Myers relates in the first volume of his "Great American Fortunes" that real estate was deeded by Tweed to Root in lieu of fees.

Root is a lawyer. His profession would be his answer to any criticism of his profiting by the "Tweed Ring" loot. He has had many clients—some good and some bad. At times he has appeared as counsel for "the people," as when he arose and spoke most eloquently against the seating of William Lorimer of Illinois, who had bribed his way into the United States senate.

And so it was for a good many years, whenever the city of New York got a spasm of reaction against the iniquity of vulgar political misrule, among the "prominent" and respectable citizens who would be named as a "reform" committee, was Elihu Root. Generally, his name appeared not far below that of Seth Low. As an exponent of respectable reform, Root is habitually there in his best silk hat.

But reform must not trot too fast—not if Grandpa Root is to stay in the line of march. Just before he left the United States senate he showed how fast a pace he could stand. Somebody was talking about a government-owned steamship line, and Root held the senate in the grip of his matchless oratory for an hour while he told why not. The interstate commerce commission's creation, he said, was a step toward socialism. So was the construction of a government railroad in Alaska. He opposed the government's conservation activities, its federal trade commission, and practically all the results of congressional enactment for the last 20 years. These, he declared, were all a dire menace to individual liberty—a liberty panoplied only by the constitution (unamended) of the nation's fathers.

As a member of Col. Roosevelt's cabinet, Root served in his familiar role as lawyer. Roosevelt has sometimes said in more truth than jest that he found Root useful as the producer of excellent reasons for doing what he, Roosevelt, had decided to do.

As secretary of war, Root showed himself an excellent administrative officer. He reorganized the war department and left the army in much better shape when he went than when he came.

He was a very competent secretary of state—with very little to try his real abilities. The time was peaceful and diplomacy at a low ebb when he was there.

Grandpa Root's age has proved a handicap in his race for the republican presidential nomination. He was born in Clinton, Oneida county, N. Y., Feb. 15, 1845. He would be 72 years of age when inaugurated, if elected president, and 76 when he finished his first term.

The stress of being president—just the physical strain of people to be seen and current work to be done, is a task for youth and strength. The ability to hold the party power for a second term is also a serious consideration in the minds of president makers. To be obliged to discard a man at the end of four years on account of age and groom a successor is an uninviting task.

President Arthur gave Root his first boost into public life by appointing him, in 1883, at United States district attorney for the southern district of New York. He began making constitutions in 1894 when he was delegate at large to the state constitutional convention and he has served the country in other ways—as by membership on the Alaskan commission in 1903, the North Atlantic Fisheries arbitration at the Hague in 1910, and on the permanent board of arbitration at the Hague.

Grandpa Root is familiar with the job of presiding over republican conventions. He did it at Chicago in 1904, and again at Chicago in 1912, when Taft received his second nomination—that nomination which brought him the electoral votes of Vermont and Utah. On the second occasion the convention was kept in order with difficulty by 400 city policemen, and some firemen, and at Grandpa Root's right hand during all his presiding times, stood John Maynard Harlan, six foot six in his sox, and weighing many pounds of firm muscle for the purpose of seeing that Grandpa Root was not torn limb from limb.

But so potent were the tones of Grandpa's voice, and so commanding the glance of his eye, or so gentle were the assembled progressive delegates that John never had to strike a blow. The nomination of the beloved Taft was triumphantly put through—and enthusiastically—by Grandpa Root.

IN FIVE MINUTES NO SICK STOMACH, INDIGESTION, GAS

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, refusing to digest, or you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food, or have a feeling of dizziness, heartburn, fullness, nausea, bad taste in mouth and stomach headache, you can surely get relief in five minutes.

Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula, plainly printed on these fifty-cent cases of Pape's Diapepsin, then you will understand why dyspeptic troubles of all kinds must go, and why it relieves, sour, out-of-order stomachs or indigestion in five minutes. "Pape's Diapepsin" is harmless; tastes like candy, though each dose will digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you eat; besides, it makes you go to the table with a healthly appetite; but what will please you most, is that you will feel that your stomach and intestines are clean and fresh, and you will not need to resort to laxatives or liver pills for biliousness or constipation.

This city will have many "Pape's Diapepsin" cranks, as some people will call them, but you will be enthusiastic about this splendid stomach preparation, too, if you ever take it for indigestion, gases, heartburn, sourness, dyspepsia, or any stomach misery.

Get some now, this minute, and rid yourself of stomach misery and indigestion in five minutes.—Advertisement.

London, Sept. 25.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press)—Details of the siege of Van and the massacre of Armenians by the Turks are given in the current issue of the "Near East," which fixes the responsibility for the crime on Jevded Pasha. It was on Jevded Pasha also that the refugee American missionaries, in the story of their sufferings recounted to the Associated Press correspondent at Petrograd this week, laid the guilt. Jevded is the supreme commander of the Turkish army operating in this province.

Van, the ancient capital of the Armenian Ardzuni dynasty, was occupied by the Russian army in its advance in the Caucasus during the first week of last May. The Russian commander, General Oganesov, who is an Armenian, was assisted by six Armenian volunteer regiments under the Armenian revolutionary, Andranig, who had fought with the Bulgarians against the Turks in the first Balkan war. But long before Van fell to the Russians, Jevded Pasha started the work of massacring the Armenian population.

The massacre began at Shadokh, a large and isolated village, where not a man was spared except those over sixty years of age. Of the women, the more comely were carried away by Jevded's soldiers and Kurd tribesmen. The massacre was carried out systematically in the entire province of Van, beginning with the outlying village. Great care was taken to prevent rumors of this from reaching the capital.

There was living in Van city at that time Prince Ishkham, an Armenian, who had formerly been useful to the government in settling troubles between the Turks and the Armenians. He was asked by Jevded to go to the villages and try to reconcile the contending parties. Jevded addressed the prince in a letter as his "dear friend." The prince, unaware of the plot, started out with a number of advisers. The entire party was slaughtered by a party of Jevded's horsemen while taking lunch at a coffee house.

At this time also there was in Van an Armenian member of the Turkish parliament by the name of Vramian, who was invited by Jevded to call on him at headquarters. On arrival at headquarters Vramian was arrested, a large stone was tied to his feet and he was thrown into a lake and drowned.

The Russians were now reported on the advance. Talaat Bey published a warning against the Armenians participating on a penalty of dire punishment. But the story of the massacre in the isolated parts was carried by survivors, and the Armenians prepared to sell themselves as dearly as possible, the peaceful element as well as the revolutionaries. Jevded then called on the Armenian bishop to visit him. The bishop refused. Thereupon Jevded descended upon the "rebellious" city of Van with an army of 8,000 Turks and Kurds and called on the people to lay down their arms, surrender without conditions and trust to the clemency of the sultan. This offer was made through the Italian consul.

Of the 50,000 Armenians in Van, only 450 were armed—250 with rifles and the rest with revolvers. For 29 days this handful defended the city. On the 30th day, General Oganesov arrived with his Armenian volunteers and Russian regulars and the Turks retreated.

Conditions were at that time frightful, as the only doctor in the city to look after the sick and wounded had been Dr. Allen, an American missionary. But with the Russians came help, and doctors and nurses soon arrived from Tiflis. Committees were appointed to aid the sufferers, and the peasants started in to till the fields and rebuild their homes.

THE SENTINEL'S DAILY SCRIPTURE READING.

Exodus 11:1-10.

1 And the Lord said unto Moses, Yet will I bring one plague more upon Pharoah, and upon Egypt; afterwards he will let you go hence, when he shall let you go, he shall surely thrust you out hence altogether.

2 Speak now in the ears of the people, and let every man borrow of his neighbour, and every woman of her neighbour, jewels of silver, and jewels of gold.

3 And the Lord gave the people favour in the sight of the Egyptians. Moreover the man Moses was very great in the land of Egypt, in the sight of Pharaoh's servants, and in the sight of the people.

4 And Moses said, Thus saith the Lord, About midnight will I go out into the midst of Egypt:

5 And all the firstborn in the land of Egypt shall die, from the firstborn of Pharoah that sitteth upon his throne, even unto the firstborn of the maidservant that is behind the mill; and all the firstborn of beasts.

6 And there shall be a great cry throughout all the land of Egypt, such as there was none like it, nor shall be like it any more.

7 But against any of the children of Israel shall not a dog move his tongue, against man or beast; that ye may know how that the Lord doth put a difference between the Egyptians and Israel.

8 And all these thy servants shall come down unto me, and bow down themselves unto me, saying, Get thee out, and all the people that follow thee: and after that I will go out. And he went out from Pharaoh in a great anger.

9 And the Lord said unto Moses, Pharaoh shall not hearken unto you; that my wonders may be multiplied in the land of Egypt.

10 And Moses and Aaron did all these wonders before Pharaoh: and the Lord hardened Pharaoh's heart, so that he would not let the children of Israel go out of his land.

The Riley Birthday Celebration.

To few men has been given the experience that will be James Whitcomb Riley's on Thursday when the Hoosier poet will see a celebration of his birth anniversary that will be practically nation-wide. We observe the birthdays of many who have achieved greatness in one form or another, but we usually wait until they are dead and pay tardy honor to their memory rather than acknowledgment at a time while they are still among us and able to appreciate the roses of good-will and affection scattered before them.

There is something unusually fine in the Riley birthday celebration idea. It started a few years ago when school children at Mr. Riley's home city, Indianapolis, marched en masse to the poet's home in Lockerbie street to place before him the wreath of their unmeasured love and affection for the singer who knows the childish heart as no other poet of this or any other age has known it. Year by year since that time the celebration of the poet's anniversary has taken on new and added momentum until there is scarcely a city or town in all America in which on Thursday there will not be some recognition of the anniversary of this poet of childhood and of age as well. At Indianapolis there will be an elaborate banquet at which the most distinguished sons of Indiana will pay tribute to his genius and his tenderness. Other states have taken it up, and Secretary Lane has taken occasion to suggest that the observance be universal.

The schools will have a very large part in doing this honor to Mr. Riley, and we think this is precisely as the poet would wish it—for the children are his friends, true and unwavering in their love and their devotion. It will be gratifying to Mr. Riley to have the gifted and the great pay him distinguished honor, but his real joy will come from the part the children will play in the occasion. Indiana is proud to claim Mr. Riley, but he belongs no less to the entire American people, and the celebration of his sixty-second birthday on Thursday will be the expression not merely of a city or of a state, but of a nation which has been thoughtful enough to attest its regard while the recipient of so notable a tribute is yet here to receive it.

Recent arrests in connection with illegal purchases of narcotic drugs in Fort Wayne should make it apparent that the good results achieved by the new federal law in its effort to stamp out the drug habit are not to be lost by permitting a lapse into former looseness in the traffic in "dope." In the present instance the charge is not against either druggist or physician, but against a man who is charged with having forged a physician's prescription in order to obtain the drug. The penalty for violation is quite as severe in one case as in the other, and no form of violation of it is entitled to any leniency whatever.

The real menace in the Mexican situation appears to have leaked out at last. The telegraph wires are now bringing the momentous news that disorder below the Rio Grande is liable to strike a death blow at the chewing gum industry because it is cutting off the supply of something or other that forms the basis of chewing gum. After this no doubt even the most vehement opponents of armed intervention will be constrained to withdraw their objection to quick and decisive action. In the face of a peril like this there is no time for mollycoddling.

Colonel Roosevelt, now on a hunting expedition in Canada, has made affidavit at Quebec that he was forced to break the game laws by killing a moose in order to have his own life. In the absence of specific details we may assume that perhaps the moose demanded that the colonel accept the progressive nomination for the presidency again next year. In any event like that we think an unbiased jury would at once declare the colonel's action justifiable self-defense.

The United States treasury deficit for the fiscal year is reported at $31,593,180, but it will be observed that your Uncle Samuel is doing no worrying over so little a thing as that. So many other burdens have been cast upon his shoulders by the European war that a treasury deficit has come to possess only relative importance. Uncle Sam always manages to find the money when he needs it, somehow.

Wheat grown by William Tritch, a DeKalb county farmer, entered in the competition at the San Francisco exposition, has just been awarded the gold medal as the best grain shown from Indiana. Northeastern Indiana has never done a great deal of boasting along the line of grain-raising, but Mr. Tritch has gone quietly about demonstrating what she can do in a practical way when she sets herself at the task.

FEMININE "DAVID HARUM" GETS RICH BY SWAPPING.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 5.—"David Harum" has been outdone by a woman, Mrs. F. E. Woodbury, of this city.

She has made a game of trading—a fascinating, profitable game, that has netted her $22,000 worth of real estate and merchandise in a short time.

Starting with 18 beautiful imported gowns. Then came a dentist's kit, rare Woodbury started to barter "for the fun of it." Fine clothes, she discovered, will always find a market. The game grew more interesting with each exchange, and more profitable.

A piano was secured for one of the gowns. Then came a dentist's kit, rare specimens of birds, collections of wonderful baskets, and wonderful paintings for others. Finally real estate and more substantial possessions.

According to Mrs. Woodbury, every one likes a "swap," which accounts for the amount of property gained by her in many shrewd transactions.

(Indianapolis News).

The Indiana State Federation of Labor adopted certain resolutions and rejected others at its recent meeting in Gary. It is more to be congratulated on its refusals than on its acceptances, and the Indiana public will be glad to note that leaders in the labor meeting expressed a conservative judgment, which well reflects the temper of the whole body. For this, however, the committee on resolutions was primarily responsible. It declined to indorse resolutions protesting against war preparedness; denouncing the exportation of war munitions; condemning the Indiana National guard; attacking Judge Anderson, of the federal district court in Indianapolis, and calling for the prosecution of one of the Rockefellers in connection with alleged perjured testimony given before the commission on industrial relations.

These resolutions struck at persons and institutions. Criticism of Judge Anderson was based partly on the court's actions in the dynamite trial. Rejection of this resolution is noteworthy. Equally conspicuous is the failure to attack Mr. Rockefeller. The federation did well not to condemn the national guard, for the guard, as an institution, is a valuable and much-needed part of the state government. The opinion on preparedness and on the exportation of war materials were properly excluded from the federation's official records. The Indiana federation had in this respect the help offered by the American Federation of Labor's attitude. American labor, union and unorganized, is a unit when the matter of patriotism is at stake. Often much trouble is avoided by refraining from too free expression.

The judicious attitude of the Indiana federation affords an illustration of the trend of all American labor bodies. The era of emotionalism is passing. Those organizations have the most weight—and command the most respect—which study their official words well, refusing to be stampeded into unjust denunciation on the one hand or flattered into unmerited approval on the other. The action of the resolutions committee was entirely acceptable to the convention, as was shown by the rising vote of thanks.

IS THE SUBMARINE BEATEN?

(Pittsburgh Dispatch).

British reports of the destruction of between 50 and 75 German undersea boats, accomplished by the aid of submarine telephony electric signaling systems, under-water nets and a horde of swift patrol boats and aeroplanes, are regarded by Washington naval experts as proof that the submarine has been vastly overestimated. The popular notion of the value of the submarines has not been echoed by the naval authorities, Secretary Daniels notwithstanding. Daniels, or any other civilian secretary, is little better qualified to judge professional and technical questions than the man in the street who has assumed rather hastily that the submarine has rendered the super-dreadnaught obsolete The popular fancy is caught by the spectacular, whereas the professional is expected to study a subject in all its phases.

Accepting the British reports at their face, it would be just as foolish to jump to the conclusion that the submarine has been beaten. They mean only that its possibilities have been restricted. It still remains a most valuable weapon, but not the only one. The dreadoughts have not been tested. Possibly the experts may discover that their dependence on them has been excessive. The need for battle cruisers, long ignored at Washington, is now admitted. The value of the hastily improvised mosquito fleet of motor boats, yachts and other small craft by England to meet the submarine peril shows that however impressive the super-dreadnoughts may be, an effective navy must include provision for every available type.

The matter of the annual home-coming of all lumni to be held on October 16 will be discussed.

AUTO STRIKES BOY.

Lawrence Kramer is Knocked From His Bicycle and Painfully Hurt.

Lawrence Kramer, 11 years old, residing at 715 Lavina street, was struck by an automobile owned and driven by George J. Schott, 1320 Washington boulevard west, Monday afternoon, and knocked from his bicycle. The lad sustained a gashed chin, with other cuts and bruises and injuries about his head and shoulders. He was removed to St. Joseph hospital. The accident occurred at College street and Washington boulevard.

Louis S. C. Schroeder, superintendent of the Fort Wayne office of the Indiana Free Employment bureau, has gone to Indianapolis to attend the grand lodge meeting of the Knights of Pythias.

A MERCILESS JUDGE

One Who Shows No Favor.

A merciless judge is Father Time. Before him the weak and the wanting go to the wall. Only the truth can stand. For years the following statement from a Fort Wayne resident has withstood this sternest of all tests.

Mrs. Louisa Elbert, 1236 Summit St., Ft. Wayne, says: "My back pained me and there was weakness across my loins. Knowing how greatly Doan's Kidney Pills had helped another of my family, I got a supply. They soon removed the trouble and I have had no sign of it since. I do not think Doan's Kidney Pills have an equal." (Statement given April 19, 1906.)

After a Lapse of Over Six Years

Mrs. Elbert said: "I have had no return of kidney trouble since Doan's Kidney Pills cure me."

PSYCHOLOGIST WILL ADDRESS QUEST CLUB

The first meeting of the Quest club for the season will be held Friday evening at the Anthony hotel, at which time Professor Walter Dill Scott, dean of psychology at the University of Chicago, will be the principal speaker. The lecture will follow a sumptuous banquet. Professor Scott is known throughout the country as both a psychologist and a lecturer. Members of the Quest club are looking forward to a most profitable winter.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

What the Sentinel Had to Say About Persons and Events Twenty-Five Years Ago.

William Goodfellow, of Calhoun street, has returned from a visit to Kendallville.

Rev. M. J. Byrne, of the Cathedral clerical staff, has gone to Cincinnati.

Isador Lehman, the shoe merchant, has returned from a business trip to Chicago.

Ground was broken this week for an addition to the parish rooms of Trinity Episcopal church.

The members of the congregation of Simpson M. E. church gave a surprise party on their pastor, Rev. J. Meritte Rriver, and presented him with a purse of $75.

Benjamin Rothschild has returned from Louisville, Ky., where he looked after the land interests of a Fort Wayne syndicate of which he is a party.

The venerable Peter Kiser, one of the earliest pioneers and business men of Fort Wayne and one of the most widely known citizens who ever resided here, dropped dead yesterday afternoon and his body was found in the rear of a building on East Columbia street, where evidently he had sat down to rest. He had been living for several years with ex-Justice John Dolan, southwest of the city, and had come to the city yesterday with Mr. Dolan, spending some time visiting friends about town. He was born in Montgomery county, Ohio, in August, 1805, and at his death was the oldest pioneer citizen of the city. In 1825 Mr. Kiser was employed by Gen. John Tipton, then Indian agent at Fort Wayne, to furnish the meat rations for the Indians during treaties and other councils with them. He erected the first market house here in 1835 and was then the only butcher in the town. Later he engaged in general mercantile business, from which he retired several years ago. He was initiated a member of Wayne lodge of Masons in 1828. Twice he represented Allen county in the state legislature.

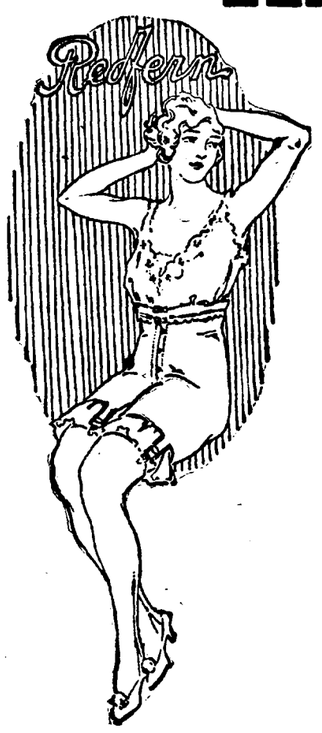
THE CORSET DE LUXE REDFERN



"Through the courtesy of the manufacturers of Redfern Corsets, we announce the visit of one of their designing staff, Miss Ida Lewis, who will spend a few days in our Corset Department, beginning Thursday, Oct. 7. This associate designer will be pleased to discuss your corset problems and give you personal attention in fitting the new Redfern models best adapted to your figure. You are cordially invited to call at any hour or make definite appointment by mail or telephone."

OUR CORSET SERVICE

Corset service is not merely careful fitting. This, to be sure, is an important part, but equally important is the selection of styles that are strictly in accord with Fashion's dictates.

There are many makes to choose from. Our selection must be done with infinite care—and we are justly proud of what we have.

This season, busts and skirts are practically as they were in the Spring, but there are minor changes in shape and lines that we are pleased to show.

The details are too many to tell you here, but we will be pleased to show them by careful fittings with the new Redfern styles for Fall.

May we expect a visit and explain our corset service?

NEWS OF FORT WAYNE'S NEIGHBORS

Johnny Haas, Aged 98 Years, is Buried at Columbia City.

Columbia City, Ind., Oct. 5.—Funeral services will be held here this afternoon over the remains of Johnny Haas, who at the time of his death was the oldest resident of Whtley county, having reached the age of 98 years and 9 months. Death was the outcome of a fall he sustained two weeks ago, from the back porch at the residence of his son-in-law, Silas Deardorf, with whom he made his home. His health, for one of his years, had been good up to that time. Mr. Haas was born in Berne, Switzerland, December 24, 1816, and grew to manhood there, where he married and became the father of three children. In 1853 the family came to America and five other children were born in this country. Mrs. Haas died in 1882. After living in Ohio and in Chicago Mr. and Mrs. Haas came to Whitley county.

WARSAW MAN ARRESTED.

RED SWEATER INFLAMES BULL.

Bluffton, Ind., Oct. 5.—A grandson of J. E. Haecker, residing southeast of Bluffton, had an unpleasant experience when he was chased by an angry bull and had to take refuge under a wagon until he could call Mr. Haecker, who chased the animal away with a pitchfork. The boy angered the bull by venturing too close to him while wearing a bright red sweater. He escaped without any injuries.

LAD BREAKS LEG IN FALL.

TAKING DOWN EXPOSITION TENT.

Auburn, Ind., Oct. 5.—The work of lowering the tent for the industrial exhibit was begun on Monday morning by employes of the Wolf Tent and Awning company of Fort Wayne, who own the tents. Men were also at work tearing down the booths in which the exhibits were housed. Decorations were also removed on Monday morning and by afternoon the city again resumed its normal appearance.

MENTONE MAN STRICKEN.

Warsaw, Ind., Oct. 5.—While en route home from Warsaw, where he had been attending the fair, A. G. Wertenberger, of Mentone, died suddenly as a result of a stroke of apoplexy which he suffered while driving an automobile. Death occurred at the home of Merl Tinkey, three miles west of this city, where he was taken when his illness was noticed. The deceased was about 55 years of age and was a prominent retired hardware merchant of Mentone. In his immediate family he is survived only by his wife.

LIFTS TOO MUCH; BREAKS ARM.

Bluffton, Ind., Oct. 5.—Dan Gilliom, of the firm of Gilliom Brothers, seriously injured his left arm Sunday evening while handling some heavy machinery. He knew at the time that he had hurt the member but gave it no consideration and found yesterday that he could not use it. A doctor discovered a fracture of the forearm and placed the member in splints. It will keep him from working for several weeks.

ANGOLA FAIR IS OPEN.

Angola, Ind., Oct. 5.—The annual district fair at Angola opened today and will continue daily through the remainder of the week. It is being advertised as "bigger and better than ever!" Purses of $2,800 will be distributed in the horse races, and $5,000 will be awarded in purses and premiums. The feature free attraction will be Miss Ruth Bancroft Law, the noted lady aviator, who will make daily flights in the morning and afternoon.

AGED COUPLE REUNITED.

Auburn, Ind., Oct. 5.—Alexander Flint, aged 79, and his former wife, Emaline Flint, aged 71, after a separation of sixteen years, procured a marriage license here and were remarried. They separated after a quarrel in 1899. The husband went west and the wife procured a divorce. Recently he returned and the old love was rekindled. The marriage resulted. The couple will reside near Butler.

WOMAN 84 YEARS OLD ENTERS UNIVERSITY

Lawrence, Kas., Oct. 5.—Mrs. Amy Winship, 84 years old, registered at the University of Kansas last week. She is the oldest college student in the United States. Mrs. Winship will take regular class work in psychology, sociology and history at the university.

Mrs. Winship has made going to college her hobby because she likes to be among college students and to get new ideas, she says. She became interested in advance study six years ago, while visiting an acquaintance who was attending Ohio State University. She attended classes one day and found the lectures so interesting that she stayed until the end of the term.

When she went back to her home in Wisconsin she enrolled at the University of Wisconsin and took a regular 4-year course in the college of liberal arts and sciences.

Leaving the University of Wisconsin, she started on a tour, stopping a week or two at large schools and hearing lectures. She has attended Johns Hopkins university, the University of Texas, the University of Missouri, Iowa State university and the University of Illinois.

TRAIN BANDIT IDENTIFIED.

Edward Loftus Is Man Who Held Up Messenger at Arcadia.

Columbus, O., Oct. 5.—Edward Loftus, who gave himself up to the police here last Saturday, was identified yesterday by Ralph Williams, the express messenger, as the bandit who held up and robbed the express car of a Lake Erie & Western passenger train of $2,500 near Indianapolis on the night of September 15, according to an announcement by the police.

The police said Loftus confessed to the robbery of the epress car. Indianapolis officers are expected here today to take him back to Indiana.

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and abundant with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair fell out or took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle for about 50 cents. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and is splendid for dandruff, dry, itchy scalp and falling hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and abundant.—Advertisement.

Not a Reformer is This Woman's Slogan

Dr Lillian C. Irwin

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 5.—Dr. Lillian C. Irwin, first woman candidate for the school board here, is making her campaign on the announcement that she is not a "reformer."

"I don't believe," she declares, "in too much reform." In this regard Mrs. Irwin differs radically from nearly all women who are entering the field of politics and social service.

She was urged to run by the Women's Good Government league of Seattle.

"It seems," she said, "the most logical step in our civic life to have a woman on the board of education."

Dr. Lillian Irwin has practiced medicine in Oregon, Alaska and Seattle, following her graduation from Stanford university, Cal., and was prior to that a school teacher in New York and Oregon.

PUT INDIANA MAN ON THRIFT BOARD

Appointment of Milo H. Stuart Announced by President Aley.

Chicago, Oct. 5.—Indiana, the ancient home of thrift in America, is to take a prominent part in the nation-wide campaign now in progress to bring Americans back to those sturdy habits of thrift and frugality which characterized our New England ancestors.

Announcement was made today of the appointment of Milo H. Stuart, superintendent of the Manual Training high school, Indianapolis, Ind., as a member of the thrift board of the National Education association. The appointment was made by President R. J. Aley, of the University of Maine, who was delegated at the recent national meeting of the educators held in Oakland, Cal., to select the nine persons in America best suited to canvass the whole thrift problem with a view of making recommendations within a period of two years, respecting methods to be employed in teaching thrift in the public schools of America.

This committee also will supervise the essay contest to be conducted by the National Education association. A series of prizes ranging from $10 to $75 each are to be awarded through the committee for the best essays on the subject of "Thrift." Some of these prizes are for school children only, and others are for adults only. S. W. Straus, president of the American Society for Thrift, and a member of the National Education association's thrift committee, has agreed to finance the entire cost of this work in the interest of thrift in America.

Superintendent Stuart was placed on the National Thrift board because of his national recognition as a manual training authority.

TWO CHILDREN HAD CROUP.

The two children of J. W. Nix, merchant of Cleveland, Ga., had croup last winter. One was a boy of 6, the other a girl of 8 years. Mr. Nix writes: "Both got so choked up they could hardly breathe and couldn't talk. I gave them Foley's Honey and Tar and nothing else and it entirely cured them." This reliable medicine should be in every home for it gives immediate relief from colds, coughs and croup, heals raw, inflamed throat and loosens phlegm. Dreier Drug Co.—Advertisement.

TOUCHED BY MOTHER'S PLEA.

Sheriff of Vanderburg County Obtains Release of Prisoner.

Evansville, Ind., Oct. 5.—Touched by the plea of a mother, who has no other support and the story of five children at home with no means of procuring food, William Habbe, sheriff of Vanderburg county, obtained the release of Curtis Smith, charged with forgery. Smith was indicted a few days ago by the grand jury.

About a year ago Smith was arrested here on the charge of having held up and robbed a grocer, and he was sentenced in the state reformatory. After he had served about six months a negro was arrested and confessed the crime of which Smith was convicted. Smith obtained his freedom and the negro was sent to prison in Smith's place.

Edison has constructed a little voice-mill which will work at the bidding of the voice. If a mother fixes one to a cradle, the cradle will rock as the baby cries, and continue to do so in proportion to the outcry.

Modern Atalanta in Pose that Will Develop Health, Beauty, Grace

Kay Laurell, Famous Beauty of "Ziegfeld Follies"

Atalanta, goddess of Greek mythology, was the embodiment of womanly grace and strength. In the Louvre, Paris, Atalanta still lives in imperishable marble.

America's famous 1915 beauty, Kay Laurell of Ziegfeld's Follies, in the accompanying illustration has posed as a modern Atalanta and urges all women who desire health, grace and beauty to practice it as an exercise.

Here's one good way to do it: Inhale deeply for seven counts and on the last count swing the weight forward on the right foot, just as if starting to run, throwing the right arm up and the left arm back, as shown in the illustration. Hold this position and breathe for three counts; return to normal position as you exhale, in seven counts.

AT THE TEMPLE.

FORT WAYNE GIRL IN CAST.

Miss Estelle Greek Appearing in "Third Party" at Temple.

Miss Estelle Greek, a Fort Wayne girl, who is home on a brief vacation, after having appeared continuously for several seasons with the United Plays company's productions, is a member of the cast of the farce comedy, "The Third Party," in which the Temple players last night opened a week's run. Fort Wayne's talented daughter was given an enthusiastic reception last night. "The Third Party" is quite the biggest laugh of the season. It is an amazing series of ludicrous situations that shift naturally from Cafe Royale to the country home of the Maxwells. A young man-about-town has succeeded in getting himself selected as male chaperon for a member of parliament and his dining companion, a pretty dancing girl. When friend wife appears, the chaperon introduces the dancer as his wife and the entire party adjourns to the home of the errant husband's uncle and aunt. Complications pile up with amazing rapidity and each is met with an excuse more ludicrous and absurd than its predecessor. .

AT THE EMPRESS

LOIE DACRE AMUSES MANY.

Champagne Girls Intoxicate Empress Audiences With Pleasure.

The Champagne Girls, who are appearing at the Empress this week are very intoxicating—but kind reader, do not misconstrue the meaning, for they will not make you feel quite as boistress as the champagne with its percentage of alcohol would. But at the same time will make you just as happy. Gussie White, the clever little soubrette, is fast becoming a Fort Wayne favorite. She is a Broadway soubrette with Broadway ideas, and is without a doubt one of the very best. Bert Saunders and Lew Golden are two top notch comedians. Loie Dacre, who has made more people laugh in the world than a score of other comediennes put together, will appear at each performance. You positively will never hear any of these songs Loie Dacre sings unless you see her at the Empress this week, for each of her numbers are restricted and anyone using them would be dealt with accordingly.

And Other Beauty Secrets

Switches will be unknown among women when they give as much care and attention to the hair as they do to the face and hands. Women troubled with dandruff and falling hair, thin, scraggly hair will do well to shampoo at least twice a month with a teaspoonful of eggol dissolved in a cup of hot water. This will remove all excess oil, dirt and dandruff. A simple and delightful hair tonic to be used in connection can be made very easily by mixing half a pint of water with half a pint of alcohol and adding one ounce of beta-quinol, massaging this simple tonic into the scalp nightly will soon stop the hair from falling, kill all the dandruff germs and soon produce a fine, gossy and luxuriant growth.

Not so much the big wrinkles, but the little ones are what rob the face of its youthful appearance. No matter how faithfully and vigorously you massage the face, there will be no perceptible result unless the proper article is used. If you will get from your druggist about two ounces of powdered eptol, dissolve it in half a pint of hot water, you will have a remarkable wrinkle remover that will in a short time produce a startling change, making the face plump and youthful to a marked degree.

Fashions decree that arms and neck should be entirely devoid of those ugly hairs. Using pastes, powders and razors only strengthens the roots so the hairs grow thicker and stronger than before. Next to the electric needle, the only safe, sure and painless way is to dissolve the hairs. Get from your druggist one ounce of simple sulfo solution; apply freely to the hairs and in about three minutes they will be dissolved away entirely, leaving the skin soft and white without any irritation whatever

Society

Miss Mary Sibray, of West Wayne street, is in New York City for a few days' stay.

Mrs. T. B. Jenkinson, of Boston, Ind., is here on a visit to Mrs. John Anderson, of South Calhoun street.

Mrs. Olive Green, of Lake avenue, has come home from Saginaw, Mich., where she visited her brother, Dr. R. L. Dixon.

The Dywyki club will be entertained on Wednesday afternoon by Mrs. Arney, of Taylor street.

Miss Hillis Drayer left Tuesday for Scarsdale, N. Y., to resume her studies at Ingleside school.

The Neighborly club will be entertained by Mrs. Chester I. Hall on Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Mary C. Ewing has returned from a visit with relatives in Baltimore, Md.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Taylor are expected home on Wednesday from Mackinac Island, Mich.

Mrs. Norah Bash Hughes has arrived to remain during the winter with her son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hughes, of 716 Rockhill street.

Mr. and Mrs. John Ferguson, of West Berry street, are visiting their son and family and daughter and her family in Paducah, Ky.

Misses Adelaide and Henrietta Levenberger of East Creighton avenue, have returned from a two weeks' visit in Cleveland.

Rev. Samuel Wagenhals is in Chicago attending a directors' meeting of the Theological seminary but will return home on Thursday.

Miss Clelia Voirol, of 602 Putnam street, left Tuesday for visits with relatives in Cleveland and other Ohio towns.

Mrs. Neil McLachlan has returned to Minneapolis, Minn., after making a few days' visit here with Mr. and Mrs. James McKay, of Lakeside.

Mrs. Oscar Fox, of West Wayne street, has gone to Chicago for a visit with relatives for a few days. Mrs. Fox has but recently returned from a summer outing in Bethlehem, N. H.

Mrs. A. Korn, of Swinney avenue, left on Monday for Detroit, Mich., to attend the wedding of her nephew, Walter Huser. Mr. Huser is a native of this city, but has lived in Detroit the greater part of his life.

Mrs. Carrie S. Geseman has returned to Louisville, Ky., after a six weeks' holiday, part of which she spent with her father and sisters, H. C. Schrader and the Misses Schrader, of Rockhill street.

Miss Irene Bowman gave a dinner party on Monday evening in honor of her aunt, Mrs. Barcus, of Albion. Music was furnished during the evening by Miss Marguerite Wirth, soloist, and Miss Georgia Wirth and the hostess who sang a duet.

Little Mildred Krudop was fortunate in having her birthday anniversary come on such a warm and beautiful day as Saturday was and in the afternoon there was a gathering at the Krudop home in Madison street to enjoy Mildred's party. A merry time out of doors was followed by refreshments of a birthday cake and other sweets in the house. Red candles were burning on the birthday cake, a tiny red taper stood at each place and a basket of candies for each guest, all signified a birthday party.

Their tenth wedding anniversary was the cause of a merry company of friends gathering at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Kress, of Saturday evening, at their home, 811 Harmar street. The guests were members of a Moose degree team and there was fun enough for twice as many people as were present. Those who had part in the celebration were Messrs. and Mesdames W. F. Meyers, A. J. Fanz, J. F. Faehnrich, C. F. Ploor, L. C. Horstmeyer, J. A. Majors, E. J. Poinsette, J. E. Webber, A. W. Weisenberger, J. J. Horstman, E. A. Magee, J. B. Horstman, E. H. Reed, C. J. Whiting, O. A. Schaphorst, O. A. Ehle, J. H. Dailey, H. H. Heuer, W. F. Albrecht, C. B. Getty, O. W. Bitner, J. W. Meyers, C. C. Bohde, R. J. Stetter, Frank Edgell.

Members of the Grotto Tennis club gave Mr. and Mrs. Charles Griffith, of Cass street, a pleasant surprise on Saturday evening by calling at their home to play bunco and otherwise have a good time. A handsome but very practical gift was presented to Mr. and Mrs. Griffith by the club and a supper altogether appetizing was served and disposed of. Everybody had a splendid time and Mr. and Mrs. Griffith headed the list. Those who had part in this jolly affair were: Dr. and Mrs. C. L. Baird, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gaskill, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Palmer, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Kintz, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Fox, Mr. and Mrs. Aller, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rhodes, Mr. and Mrs. Jess Hostler, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Keller, James G. Carmen, Miss Gertrude Miller, Miss Beatrice Fox, Wayne Bell, George Blakesley and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Dunten, of Huntertown.

A pretty home wedding to take place Tuesday evening was that of Miss Gertrude Seeley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Almon W. Seeley, and Mr. Ray W. Fish, older son of R. R. Fish, of West DeWald street. The wedding will take place at the home of the bride in Andrew street, at 6 o'clock in the evening. The ceremony is to be performed by Rev. Frank Hickman, of Greencastle, a relative of the bride. There will be no attendants to the bridal couple A musical program is to be given preceding the ceremony by Miss Irene Frances Rohyans, pianist, and Abraham Jones, violinist. A wedding dinner will be served to fifty people. The bride and groom are to go to Chicago on their wedding trip and are to go to housekeeping in this city as soon as their new home is finished. The groom is the Indiana representative of the Sandusky, Courtland Cement company. Many beautiful parties and showers of gifts have been given for the bride, who is very popular among her many friends.

Will Give Annual Recital.

Miss Helene Spindler will give her annual piano recital in Elks' hall on Friday evening with the famous Scotch basso, David Baxter, assisting. Miss Spindler's progress has been marked and her attainment is such that she affords keen pleasure to all her hearers, whether they be hypercritical or merely lovers of good music. Mr. Baxter has been heard in Fort Wayne and his voice and methods were received with much enthusiasm then so his name on a concert program means something worth while artistically and as a matter of real delight.

A Country Party.

Mr. and Mrs. William Monk and family, of Batesville, this state, were honored on Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kahn, in the country. Mr. and Mrs. Monk are visiting their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. John Kroemer, and a dinner was given in their honor on Friday by Mrs. Kroemer. Guests at one of these delightful parties were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cook and family, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kahn, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Crissinger and son, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Kroemer, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Klotz and family and Mr. and Mrs. George Kahn.

Huth-Wagemann.

A quiet wedding of recent date was that of Miss Irene Wagemann and Mr. Leonard Huth, which took place on Sept. 30 at the parsonage of St. Andrew's church. Rev. Father Horstman officiated at the ceremony. Miss Ella Tivenan, of Upper Sandusky, O., and Mr. Charles Hock, of this city, were attendants. Following the ceremony a wedding supper was served at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Wagemann, 1709 Fletcher avenue. The bride and groom will make their home for the present with the bride's parents.

GENERAL CULTURE CLUB.

Work Begins This Week—Outline of Year Portends Deep Study.

The General Culture club opens its season's work on Thursday with a meeting at the home of Mrs. F. A. Emrick. There will be a reading of "Alibi Jim" and a discussion of current events. Mrs. Archibald has the program. The club has a miscellaneous program outlined for the year, but the topics selected are of importance and much out of the ordinary. The constitution of Indiana and why a new one is desired is one study subject. "Educating for Citizzenship," "The Double Standard," "Alaska," "The Age of Mother Power," "Famous Living Americans," "The Negroes and Indians as Citizens," "Servia," "Belgium," "Immigration," "Socialism," "Industrial Warfare" and "The Temperance Reform" and the big subjects with many minor ones easier to elaborate upon and always current events for casual conversation. Officers of the club are: President, Mrs. C. H. Brown; vice-president, Mrs. Lou Kelsey; second vice-president, Mrs. H. E. Frank; secretary, Mrs. G. W. Fitzsimmons; treasurer, Mrs. B. F. Sarver.

AT THE MAJESTIC.

"Don't Lie to Your Wife" at the Majestic Wednesday.

If Campbell B. Casad, the author of "Don't Lie to Your Wife," which will be seen at the Majestic tomorrow matinee and night, hadn't been arrested for speeding his automobile, that merry semi-musical farce would never have been written; like all newspaper men when cornered in some complication, he has made the most of the opportunity as rapidly as the complications of a humorous nature occurred to him. The author, while waiting for a bondsman, jotted them down, weaving them ultimately into one of the best farces that has been offered to the theater-going public in a long time.

The scenery is the same model as used in the four months' run at the Whitney opera house, Chicago, and is rich and showy.

This Girl Literally Dances Through Dreamland.

The frivolous Fort Wayne youths who dance away all their waking hours finally have been outdone. Here is a dance inventor who actually dances in her sleep.

Miss Beatrice Allen, leading lady of Joseph Santley's "All Over Town," a rollicking musical revue, which comes to the Majestic theater Saturday for Matinee and evening performances, bears the peculiar distinction of working out her most intricate dances while in dreamland.

Miss Allen asserts that her subconscious mind begins work as soon as she touches the feathered mattress at night. It is in these strange adventures in dreamland that she has found most of her original steps.

QUAINT WING-LIKE DRAPERIES FLUTTER ON NEW DANCING FROCKS.

By Betty Brown.

Panniers that look like gay colored wings adorn many of the new evening gowns and they are especially pretty when the panniered frock is worn for dancing as the fluttering drapery gives an airy butterfly effect to the costume.

This wing-like drapery is emphasized in a model recently designed by Mme. Alla Ripley of the Fashion Art league of America. The panniered skirt which is elaborately draped in cascade effect at the back is made of taffeta in the new mulberry red shade, and the under skirt is formed of two flounces of embroidered white chiffon. The mulberry color is repeated in the tiny rose buds embroidered on the edge of each flounce, and again in the band of velvet at the bottom of the skirt. The bodice is a filmy thing of embroidered net cut square in front but fashioned surplice style in the back so as to form a deep V.

AT THE JEFFERSON.

The five-part photo-adaption of "The Fatal Card," the latest Paramount picture at the Jefferson, aside from being a faithful screen version of one of the most notable American dramatic successes ever presented in film, is further distinguished by the fact that for the first time in the history of feature motion pictures, it jointly presents two artists of such individual importance as John Mason and Hazel Dawn.

"The Fatal Card," by C. Maddon Chambers and B. C. Stephenson, is recorded in theatrical annals as one of the most forceful dramas ever produced on the American stage. The elaborate manner in which the photoplay has been constructed and the perfect and effectively harmonious characterizations of John Mason and Hazel Dawn make the subject one of the most dramatically absorbing screen creations of the day.

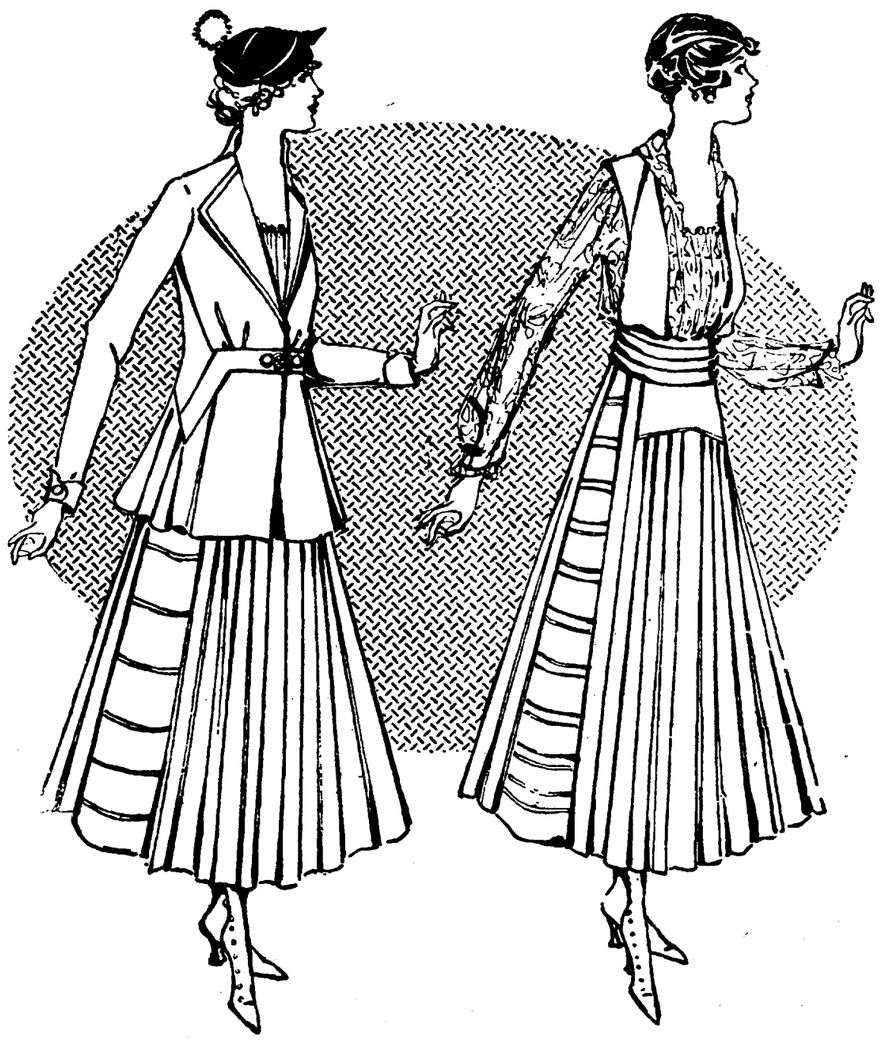
The usual installment of the Pathe News in addition, Thursday Pathe Gold Rooster Play, "Simon the Jester."

The screen version of "The Fatal Card" presents a series of dramatic thrills and shocks such as have rarely been crowded into a five-part motion picture. This breath-stealing feature will remain at the Jefferson again tomorrow.

Mrs. Sam Salmon, residing on Harrison street, is confined to her home as the result of injuries sustained last Thursday when she fell while walking down Calhoun street.

The C. B. L. of I. will give a pedro and dance in the hall on East Main street Wednesday evening. A novel dance for Hallowe'en night has also been planned for the evening of Oct. 27.

PRETTY BUT VERY PRACTICAL IS NEW FROCK IN THREE PIECES



By Betty Brown.

The three-piece suit—the tailored frock with fancy blouse—is one of the practical costumes fashion has brought forth again this fall and quite the smartest model I've seen was a design in navy blue imperial crepe made by Mme. Bailey, of the Fashion Art League of America.

The jacket which is a trifle long, is made with the graceful ripple that is so modish this season, and pipings of black patent leather add to its smart severity. The skirt is box pleated with tucked panels on either side and there's a short yoke in front.

The blouse is blue chiffon and fillet lace and the chiffon set on in reveres give the airy-fairy waist a pretty tailored effect.

Injunction Suit Prepared Against County Auditor Johnson.

The city of Fort Wayne will resist the attempt to assess a tax of 2 cents on the $100 valuation against city property by the Wayne township advisory board for general township purposes and City Attorney Guy Colerick has prepared a complaint for an injunction to restrain County Auditor Will Johnson from including this levy in the annual tax rate when it is published. The suit will be filed in the superior court where it is expected that Judge Yaple will decide as two other Indiana judges have already held, that the law is unconstitutional. Judge Denney, of Jay county, held last week that the law was invalid in a suit brought by Mayor C. A. Paddock, of Portland. If the law is so held it will save the taxpayers of Fort Wayne about $8,000. This law, which was passed by the last legislature, gives township advisory boards the right to levy a tax against cities or towns situated wholly within the township. The state accounting board has held that the law applies only as regards the township fund proper, but instead of reading fund the law reads "funds." Since the rearrangement of the township boundaries to make Wayne township include all those portions of Washington, St. Joe and Adams townships into which the city extended, Fort Wayne is brought within the law's scope. The Jay circuit court has held that only the poor fund levy of 5 cents as made by the township advisory board can be applied against Portland.

WILL TRY TO INTEREST BIDDERS.

Park Board Will Seek New Proposals for Paving Rudisill.

The park board, after having rejected the bid of the Moellering Construction company to pave Rudisill avenue from Calhoun street to Broadway with asphalt macadam for $25,776.48 because it exceeded the estimate of the engineer, will readvertise for new proposals and will undertake to interest other bidders, perhaps some from the outside, in the work. The Moellering bid was the only one submitted Monday for grading and paving Rudisill. The board awarded contracts for boulevard improvements as follows: Constructing curb and gutter on Rudisill from Calhoun to Broadway and on north side from Calhoun to Fairfield and grading park strip on south side from South Wayne to Broadway, J. B. Grosjean, $5,321.25; grading Rudisill from Bowser avenue to Anthony and grading Anthony from Rudisill to Pontiac, Moellering Construction company, $4,841.28; sidewalks and combined curb and gutter on both sides of Rudisill from Calhoun to Piqua, J. B. Grosjean, $1,940. The board approved the estimates for constructing sidewalks on the north side of Rudisill from South Wayne avenue to Broadway and for curb and gutter on the same side from Fairfield to Broadway.

PLAN FOR PAYING LIGHT BILLS.

Secretary-Manager John Wessel and Auditor John Ault, of the city light and power works, plan a redistricting of the city for convenience of patrons in paying light bills. The dates of payment will be the 10th and 25th of each month. The city will be redistricted, the business district to be bounded by the Pennsylvania and Nickel Plate railroads on south and north and Harrison and Clinton streets on west and east. The residence districts will be divided by Calhoun street and each district will be subdivided into sixteen sections.

EFFICIENCY CLUB MEETING.

The officials and employes of the city will assemble in the council chamber Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock to take further steps for the organization of a municipal efficiency club for the promotion of better public service in the city government of Fort Wayne.

Lambert Looks Like the Sure Thing on Friar Eleven.

The Friars practice Tuesday night at League park. Captain Byroade has stayed awake nights figuring out new things to drill into his huskies, and the team that climbs into the Maxwell-Briscoes next Sunday will be a still better working organization than the one that shamed South Bend this week.

SOX PENNANT IS NO. 13 FOR BOSTONTOWN.

Harry Wright led the Boston Nationals to flags in 1877 and 1878. Merritt in 1883, Selee in 1891, 1892, 1893, 1897 and 1898, and Stallings in 1914.

The American league won in 1903 and 1904 with Jimmy Collins as manager; in 1912 with Jake Stahl and this year with Bill Carrigan.

The flag for the Philadelphia Nationals is their first in thirty-two years they have been in the league.

OILY TONGUES GREASE WAY TO PENNANTS

Managers Who Won Didn't Kick a Player Into Form But Coaxed Him.

(By Brown Holmes, Special Report Writer, who spent several weeks with the world series contenders of the American and National leagues to get "inside dope").

A new type of manager will be seen in the world series this season, a type of manager who does not crack the big whip over the heads of his men and make them hustle through fear, but who rules by kindness.

Victory for Bill Carrigan, of the Boston Red Sox, or Pat Moran, of the Philadelphia Nationals, or both, in the American and National league pennant races, will mean victory for the "pat-on-the-back" brand of management.

The managers who have been in the big series in late years have been for the most part drivers. They were men who ruled mostly by the iron hand and dominated the play of their men in every department.

Connie Mack cannot be called a driver, but Carrigan and Moran are different even from the tail tactician of the Athletics.

I asked a player who had joined the Red Sox, after playing with several other teams, how he liked his new manager.

"I like him fine," said the player, "but if I didn't I wouldn't dare say so; there would be twenty ball players on the club ready to knock me down."

That shows how Carrigan stands with the men he is working with.

Carrigan was always just a ball player and when he became manager he remained a ball player. Most ball players who suddenly rise to authority forget they have been players themselves and become aloof and domineering.

Carrigan handles his men just as he wanted to be handled when he was in the ranks. He is boss, but he lets his players use their own judgment in a lot of cases, giving them credit for having brains.

Another thing players like about Carrigan is that there is no "second guess" with him. If he gets a hunch to make a play a certain way he makes it. If the play fails, he takes it as a matter of baseball. He does not alibi for himself or try to throw the blame on the players.

When it became evident early in the season that the Phils had a chance to land, Manager Pat Moran called the players together and said:

"I think you fellows can win the pennant this season if you want to. But you've got to get out there and hustle. Now, I'm not going to tell you what time to turn in at night and what time to get up in the morning or anything like that. If you fellows want to win you'll take care of those things yourself.

"I'm not going to set a lot of rules and stand around with a club to enforce them. I'm going to put this whole thing right up to you. If you want to win, be out there every day with the best you've got."

"BILL" CARRIGAN

"PAT" MORAN

By Brown Holmes.

The managers who will meet in the world series, Bill Carrigan, of the Boston Red Sox, and Pat Moran, of the Phils, give a big boost to the catcher-manager proposition. Their success and the success of other managers who were catchers leads to the idea that men who see things from the backstop's viewpoint make good men to lead teams.

Nine managers who have been successful in recent years were catchers. Besides Carrigan and Moran, there are Connie Mack, Wilbert Robinson, Roger Bresrahan, Branch Rickey, Frank Chance, Clarence Rowland and Lee Fohl.

All of these managers have not won pennants, but they have shown the goods.

Carrigan and Moran represent two types of leaders—the playing manager and the bench manager.

Carrigan has been one of the real good catchers of the American league for years, and since he became manager, succeeding Jake Stahl, he has taken his regular turn with the windpad.

Moran, after he went to the Phils from the Cubs, became coach, then succeeded Red Dooin as manager. He is always in uniform and on the base lines and his baseball knowledge has been one of the club's big assets.

CENTRAL LEAGUERS IN SUNDAY GAME

Peru and Kokomo independents pulled off a game Sunday that looked for all the world like a Central league affair. Red Hart hurled for Kokomo, Jake Holderman and Paul Beyers were in the Peru lineup, and Kelly, DeHaven, Wetzel and several other Central leaguers of seasons past were there.

SPEEDWAY RACES TO BE 300 MILE AFFAIRS

No More Half Century Grinds at Indianapolis Track, Says Fisher.

Indianapolis, Oct. 5.—Carl Fisher, president of the Indianapolis motor speedway, announced while en route from New York that the next speedway race slated for the Indianapolis speedway would be at 300 miles instead of 500, as has been the custom heretofore.

"I am convinced that the shorter race will be more popular with racegoing public for experience has taught us that 500 miles is a little too long to be enjoyed fully by the spectators," said Fisher.

Mr. Fisher said that he believed that all contests next year would be at 300 miles and that purses would be reduced accordingly to $30,000 instead of $50,000. When asked if the race May 30 would be for $30,000 instead of $50,000, Mr. Fisher said that he would be in a position later to make a statement on this angle of the race. He left the impression, however, with his auditors that the purse would be $30,000.

While in New York Fisher also took a healthy slam at those individuals who have been throwing mud at the speedways for purchasing race cars and campaigning them. In part Mr. Fisher said: "This talk of speedways commercializing the game is all rot. When we purchased the Peugeots and Maxwells we did so with the idea of strengthening the racing industry. American manufacturers have much to learn from their European brothers. We have purchased the best race cars in Europe so that our own manufacturers may study them and build cars along the same lines and perfect their own products. And we choose this time because if there ever was a time for the American manufacturers to gain on their competitors across the water this is the day and age when all of Europe is wrapped in a mighty conflict, making the manufacturing of automobiles practically impossible.

JOHNSTON QUITS FOR SEASON.

San Francisco, Oct. 5.—William M. Johnston, the twenty-year-old San Francisco player who recently won the national singles championship in the east, expects to retire fro mthe game for the remainder of the season, according to announcement today. Johnston returned home yesterday, accompanied by Clarence J. Griffin, also of San Francisco, who was Johnston's partner in their successful contest for the national doubles championship.

PHILS PAID $500 FOR PENNANT.

Grover Alexander, world's greatest pitcher, who put the Phils in the world's series, cost the Phils $500.

Alec was with Syracuse in the New York State league in 1910, and big league scouts passed him up. None would recommend his purchase. The Phils got him by draft, the system used on players regarded just bare possibilities.

SMITH DEFEATS REICH.

Philadelphia, Oct. 5.—The National league champions closed their regular schedule today by meeting Brooklyn in two contests and the next two days will be employed in getting the grounds and players in readiness for the opening of the world's series on Friday. There has been little or no betting here on the result.

Officials of the club and Philadelphia fans alike feel highly elated over the fact that President Wilson will be present at the second game of the series on Saturday. This is the first time the chief executive of the nation will have attended a world's series contest. The president and his party will view the game from a box near the center of the grandstand.

BAT NELSON SAYS SENTIMENT PROMPTS BIG CALL ON WELSH.

OF HEGEWISCH, ILL.

Pay to the Order of FREDDIE WELSH, IMMEDIATELY AFTER FIGHTING ME A FINISH OR 45 ROUND BOUT— $10,000.00

TEN THOUSAND AND NO/100 DOLLARS

Battling Nelson.

Battling Nelson

(By Ringsider).

San Francisco, Oct. 5.—Battling Nelson really wants to fight Freddie Welsh for the lightweight championship of the world.

He wants to fight him so badly that he drew a check on his bank for $10,000, made payable to the order of the lightweight champion immediately after fighting Nelson to a finish or a forty-five round bout. The check was deposited with Promoter J. W. Coffroth and the latter given permission to secure telegraphic certification of the check.

"This is no bunk or press work," said Nelson, after signing the check. "The money goes as it lays. It is my guarantee that Welsh will be paid for his services if he agrees to meet me; if he accepts and a promoter is found, and I am sure quite a number of them will be only too anxious to handle the match.

"Welsh can make any other arrangements he pleases with the promoter. If I were not absolutely sure that I could beat Welsh I would not be foolish enough to give him $10,000 to fight me. I want that title to come back to America and it will if Welsh will agree to meet me on the terms named in the check.

"After the champion ran out on me in Havana and a Denver club tried to match us, I made exactly the same offer that I am making now, but Welsh paid no attention to it. He's afraid of me. He is afraid to risk the title, preferring to trot over the ten round no-decision route.

"As I have frequently stated, if there is one lightweight in the world that I can beat, and I know I cannot beat all of them, that man is Freddie Welsh. Let him accept this offer and I'll guarantee to find a battle ground. Havana or Juarez would welcome the match, and at either place we would draw big money."

"Sincere or not, Nelson's offer affords room for plenty of speculation as to what might be were the match made and Nelson returned the winnert. It would be the first time in the history of the ring that a one time champion, six years after losing his title, came back and rewon his lost laurels.

Add to this the fact that Nelson is supposed to be past the fighting age, having turned his thirty-third year last June, and the recapture of the lightweight championship of the world would be even more remarkable.

Champion for the second time would mean hundreds of thousands of dollars to Nelson and he would unquestionably be the most popular fighter the world ever knew, even more so than John L. Sullivan was when he was knocking 'em kicking at the rate of one a night.

The interest in such a bout would be as great, if not greater, than that aroused by the Jeffries-Johnson affair.

Nelson has been doing a theatrical turn in San Francisco, but he avers that that had nothing to do with his challenge.

"I made this offer long before I had even thought of coming to San Francisco," he said. "It is the one big thought that I have had since Welsh took the title to England. They may think the old Dane has no feeling of sentiment, but he has and he is willing to risk his $10,000 to prove it."

¶ Men are especially invited to attend this Fashion Exhibit.

The Most Gorgeous Millinery Shown in Years

Smarter, more varied than any Hats of recent seasons—taking for inspiration the modes which dominate Wraps, Suits and Costumes. Despite this variety, Fashion issues certain well-defined mandates which every carefully gowned woman will wish to observe.

For Morning and Street Wear—Hats are presented in the accepted suit colorings—characterized in shape and trimming by a marked simplicity. These Hats gain distinction by the elegance of materials used—silk beaver, Lyons velvet or velours.

For Afternoons—There comes the need for millinery more elaborate than the Hats designed for wear with tailored costumes. These afternoon Hats this season often assume generous proportions—and are made picturesque by the addition of richly colored flowers, plumes or delicate feathers.

For Theater and Evening Wear—Another division in millinery modes is created. Hats made of gold or silver laces are designed with graceful, pliant brims and ornamented richly but sparingly with flowers, or brilliantly colored spangled ornaments.

EMPLOYES ENJOYED BAND CONCERTS

Early in the summer the band composed of the Fort Wayne Electric works commenced giving one noon-day concert in McCulloch's park each week. Another possibly, the last of the season, will be given next Thursday, providing the weather remains favorable. These concerts were directed by Prof. John Verweire and each consisted of six numbers, all of high grade and popular character. They were most popular with the employes of the works, many of whom had their wives and children bring a lunch to the park on that day and enjoy a family basket dinner while they listened to the music. As an appreciation of the concerts, which were given by the company, a communication of thanks, signed by nearly every employe of the big works, the signatures covering many sheets of paper, was delivered to General Manager F. S. Hunting yesterday. It read as follows:

"We, the undersigned employes of the Fort Wayne Electric works, take this method of expressing our appreciation for the splendid music you have provided us the past season during the noon hour. That success has attended these concerts has been abundantly demonstrated by the continued interest shown, not only by the large attendance, but by the hearty applause the excellent programs have called forth. A sense of genuine satisfaction is felt throughout the works that you have shown toward the employes a feeling of good will as well as a spirit of co-operation. We only wish more employes would show the same attitude toward their employes, then our labors would become more a pleasure than a vexation. It is this spirit we appreciate; may the scope of its manifestation be widened."

GREATEST CLASS IN HISTORY.

Friendship Lodge, No. 70, I. A. M., Has 234 Applicants.

By far the greatest number of applicants to be initiated into a labor union at one time in Fort Wayne will be the admission to membership in Friendship lodge, No. 70, International Association of Machinists, of 234 applicants Thursday night, October 8. A smoker will follow the initiations, but on account of the inadequacy of the hall the big dinner planned for the occasion has been postponed and will be given at the Elks temple Monday night, October 18. On that occasion some of the general officers, included being General Organizer Fred Griffith and A. E. Holder, members of the legislative committee of the A. F. of L., will be the speakers.

TAKING ON NEW LABORERS.

The Bass foundry and boiler shop have been taking on some new laborers lately, business having improved and created a necessity for bigger force. Labor conditions throughout the city are better than they were some months ago and for the first time in many months advertisements for laborers have appeared in the city papers.

SLASHED HIS THUMB.

While in the effort to manipulate a caseknife as a screwdriver, Conductor U. G. Dragoo, of the Pennsylvania, badly cut one of his thumbs. He was taking his ticket punch apart to adjust and oil it, when the head of the screw he was endeavoring to turn broke and the end of the knife ripped open the thumb.

MEMBERSHIP CAMPAIGN OPENS TOMORROW.

The three days' membership campaign in the interest of the Railroad Y. M. C. A. will commence at 7 o'clock tomorrow morning. The soliciting will be under the direction of E. B. Hughes, chairman of the membership committee, and a force of fifteen to twenty solicitors will be employed.

WILL BECOME WAITER.

H. L. Stevenson resigned a position in the Pennsylvania toolroom this morning and tomorrow he will become a waiter in the Fredericks' restaurant. He worked at that business once before, it is said.

SHIPPING MANY DYNAMOS.

The shipping department of the Fort Wayne Electric works is having a busy week packing and sending out dynamos and electrical apparatus of all kinds. Much of the output is for export.

COMPLETES FIRST TRIP.

J. Fred Walters, member of the advisory board of the Pennsylvania relief department, resumed charge of the Clinton street entrance to the Pennsylvania shops this morning. He was out on the quarterly trip over his territory.

FIREMEN ARE FURLOUGHED.

A. F. Bolinger, P. J. Koch, P. J. Murphy and F. Doty, firemen on the extra list of the G. R. & I., have been furloughed, subject to recall at any time when business of the road will justify such action.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES

Paul Lichtle, of the Bass Foundry is on duty again after being sick two weeks.

Division Operator J. F. Betts, of the G. R. & I., is in Richmond today on business for the company.

C. W. Potts, who had a finger crushed last week, resumed work at the Pennsylvania shops this morning.

J. P. Ryan, a helper in the Pennsylvania boiler shop, is off duty as the result of an injured elbow.

Boilermaker F. W. Morris, of the Pennsylvania shops, is off duty on account of the death of a relative.

E. L. Ensel, division storekeeper of the Wabash railroad, went to Decatur, Ill., yesterday on company business.

E. F. Needham, superintendent of motive power on the Wabash railroad, with headquarters at Decatur, Ill., was in Fort Wayne yesterday on company business.

R. M. Worman, an electric welder, of the Pennsylvania shops, is off duty taking treatment for injured eyes. His condition is not serious.

New men at the Pennsylvania freight house yesterday were C. L. Knotts, R. H. Miller, O. E. Bogner, R. Scott and R. G. Welch.

Next Saturday, Machinist John Offner, of the Pennsylvania vise room, will go to East Liverpool, O., to visit his sister, Mrs. John Michael.

L. Laughlin, of the punch department of the Fort Wayne Electric works, is nursing a huge boil on one of his knees and will not be able to work for awhile.

James A. Haslup, of the Pennsylvania planing mills, who was taken sick three months ago, is recovering and this morning resumed his work at the shop.

Andrew Stinger, of the punch department of the Fort Wayne Electric works, is at Indianapolis attending a lodge meeting which will consume the greater portion of the week.

Harry J. Sullivan, assistant ticket agent in charge of the Nickel Plate office at nights, has gone to Indianapolis and Cincinnati to spend four or five days of his two weeks' vacation.

Mr. Whitehead, of Altoona, is here inspecting three car loads of car and locomotive castings at the Bass Foundry and Machine works for the Pennsylvania railroad.

E. F. Stephan, assistant chief clerk in the office of Superintendent Otto Schroll, of the Pennsylvania, was in Pittsburg yesterday on company business.

H. Levin has taken employment as an electric welder at the Pennsylvania boiler shop. He was employed in another department of the shops up to two weeks ago.

Operator O. W. French, of the New York Central ticket office, has gone on a three months' vacation and his work, the second trick, has fallen to Operator J. L. Sayles, of North Adams, Mich.

Miss Helen Gruber, instructor in the small motor department where there are many girls employed, has obtained a leave of absence and will go to Cannonball, N. D., in a few days to visit friends and relatives.

H. W. Bente, who last week completed his apprenticeship as a machinist in the Pennsy shops, was sent to Lima, O., yesterday to assist Machinist George Stoll in the inspection of engines being built there.

Work of construction on the new additions to the plant of the Wayne Oil Tank and Pump company is slightly handicapped by a scarcity of laborers. Lennon & Tapp, the contractors, are said to need twenty men at once.

Machinist W. C. Bergman, of the Fort Wayne Electric works, was able to report for duty this morning. Last Thursday he sustained some painful burns on his legs when an electric motor exploded.

The Wabash will convert forty locomotives of the 2400 class into superheaters this winter, as rapidly as they can be sent through the shops. Fifteen have already been converted and are giving good satisfaction.

Foreman Art Williams, of the Pennsylvania toolroom, did not show up for duty this morning, as he intended, probably on account of bad weather. Mr. Williams has been quite sick several weeks.

The announcement that the election of the Railroad Y. M. C. A. and its auxiliary would be held yesterday afternoon and last night were erroneous. The Y. M. C. A. election does not take place until next Monday night and the election of the auxiliary takes place some day this week.

J. T. Fox, a machinist at the Pennsylvania erecting shop, had his lip badly cut yesterday when he ran against some projection while at work on a locomotive. He continues at work, however, notwithstanding the painful character of the wound.

W. C. Kolb has an injured nose, the result of being struck by a piece of steel; F. P. Gable has a lacerated finger and N. E. Work has a sprained back. Kolb and Gagle are Pennsylvania machinists and Work is a crane operator at the same shops.

Pennsylvania Machinist H. A. Jerome, who lost a portion of the third and fourth fingers of his left hand two months ago, has recovered sufficiently to resume work and will report tomorrow. At least this was his intention when he called at the shops this morning.

"Ha, Fred, I'll not show up at the shop today. Just presented with a son," was the story heard when Clerk Fred Schaphorst, of the Pennsylvania machine shop, placed the receiver to his ear. "Who's talking?" inquired Mr. Schaphorst. "C. V. Sebold, of course," was the reply.

"Taps" Come for Famed Soldier of Fortune; Dies on German Bayonet

By Fred V. Williams.

San Francisco, Oct. 5.—Gen. C. Rhys Pryce has been killed fighting with the Canadians in France.

The famous soldier of fortune who commanded a foreign legion in Mexico, during the Madero revolution, fell in a fierce bayonet charge at Neuve Chappelle. He was stabbed in the stomach and shoulder, dying in agony hours later. When his comrades found him his jaws were set on his rifle butt, where they had clamped in the death agony.

He had announced a premonition that he would die thus.

I first saw Pryce in Mexico. He was then in command of a revolutionary army comprised of his foreign legion, a Mexican and an Indian regiment.

It was 2 o'clock in the morning early in May, 1911, in a squat adobe building on the main street of Tia Juana, a town he had taken by assault a few days before.

He sat at a table, in the dim light of a candle, erect and a soldier every inch of him. At his feet sprawled a giant half breed, drunk and snoring loudly. Pryce was using him for a footstool.

Around him grouped his staff, soldiers of fortune from every nation, hardy veterans of wars in every part of the globe. Opposite the general sat hunched a rat-faced little Mexican draped in a blood red sash of the revolution. He was the Robespierre of that two-by-four bit of hell in that particular part of Mexico and he, as representative of the Zapatista faction, was giving Pryce orders.

One crook of that little Mexican's finger and Pryce would have died for "the good of the revolution." Yet Pryce refused to take his orders, and laughed down his suggestion to make a "clean sweep of it to Ensenada."

Ensenada, the capital of Lower Mexico, was rich with plunder and loot. Yet Pryce refused to reach out for the prize. Refused until the red-sashed Robespierre should supply his men with more ammunition.

"I will not attempt to perform any more miracles, First Chief," said Pryce, evenly. "I have laid a hundred miles of territory at the feet of your junta. Now the junta must do its part by the army. We must have cartridges. We must have artillery. Otherwise I am sending my boys into another Alamo.

A snarl shot across the table at Pryce from between the teeth of the Zapatista agent, but the fingers of the little demon in red did not crook, and Pryce did not die "from behind." He was spared for another day, outside of Mexico.

That night I slept within a few feet of Pryce as a member of his staff while the gunmen of his bodyguard, deep in their cups, snored and moaned loudly about me, and Pryce, wrapped in a sheep's skin, slept as peacefully as a child, an Indian, rifle across his knee, squatting at his feet.

General C. R hs Pryce.

Whether the bullets hummed about him on the battlefield or in camp—for duelling in his army was of daily, almost hourly, occurrance at times—Pryce was cool and calm, gentlemanly and soldierly.

At times I found him the scholar, with thoughts far from war and bloodshed.

His life in Mexico was one of peril and adventure. Finally he fled the country to escape assassination at the hands of Mexicans in his own command. For he loathed massacre and only killed in fair fight, a trait that made him unpopular with the revolutionary powers.

Pryce was the son of a British army officer. He was born in India. In a native rebellion in which his father lost his life Pryce received his first baptism under fire. He served throughout the Boer war and was decorated for bravery. In Canada he joined the famous Northwest Mounted Police. In Mexico he clinched victory for Madero by taking from Diaz a wide strip of territory in lower California.

Later Pryce was prosecuted vigorously in the federal courts at Los Angeles for his part in the Mexican revolution. Smarting under the sting of their defeats, that part of officialdom in the southern republic which was loyal to the memory of Diaz, tried to extradite him. But they failed, and Pryce was lured into the "movies"—which he never liked.

The great war called him, and in Canada the man who had commanded an army, enlisted as a private. In France a few months after he had predicted to friends that he would never come out alive, Pryce died on the bayonet of a German.

He was a gentleman and a soldier, and those of us who shared his fortunes in Mexico give him a soldier's valediction!

BIG DAMAGES ASKED BY RAILROAD MAN

Suit for $25,000 damages as a result of injuries received while acting as a freight conductor, was filed in the federal court Tuesday by Albert M. Croy against the New York, Chicago and St. Louis Railroad company. Croy alleges that on the evening of January 28, 1914, he fell into an excavation at the side of the company's tracks at Bellevue, O., sustaining four broken ribs, fractured parts of which were driven into his lungs, resulting in hemorrhages and serious inflammation. He also alleges that he was injured about the spine, besides innumerable cuts and bruises.

ROLLER SKATING

Grand Opening, Oct. 11, 1915, at 7:30 p. m., corner of Webster and Main streets, entrance on Webster street. Open every afternoon from 2 to 4, evenings from 7:30 to 10, except Sunday. First-class music. The very best of a new floor. Best of skates money can buy. Admission, 10c; skates, 15c. Children under 12 years of age will not be permitted to skate during the evening sessions. The proprietor will put forth every effort to conduct a first-class rink and reserves the right to refuse skates to objectionable persons. It is no place for rowdies or objectionable persons, but a place for clean people to enjoy themselves and aid the comfort and enjoyment of others, so objectionable persons will save the embarrassment of being refused skates if they stay away. There will be an attending officer at all times.

AUTO THIEF'S CASE IS AGAIN PUT OFF

Melvin Brownell Will Be Given a Hearing on October 9.

The hearing of Melvin Brownell, a young man charged with grand larceny, for the theft of an automobile, was again postponed in the city court, Tuesday morning, and will be heard next Saturday. Meanwhile, he is in jail in default of $1,000 bond. Brownell, who was arrested in Gary for stealing an automobile in South Bend and brought here from the latter city when he got a suspended sentence for his crime there, has confessed that he stole the Oakland touring car of Arthur E. Smith, 710 West Berry street, from in front of the Fort Wayne Commercial club the night of November 21.

Both Have Records.

Jack Ryand and John O'Brien, two men picked up last week and held on loitering charges, were found guilty in the city court Tuesday, and fined $10 and costs. They went to jail. Harry Hawkins, with a quart bottle of alcohol which he had consumed to the point of his own physical collapse, was fined $1 and costs. He was found helpless on the Wabash tracks near the end of Grand street.

Lancastrians Seem to Have Strong Line Out for High Office.

London, Sept. 25.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press).—Sir Charles Cheers Wakefield, Kt., who has been elected lord mayor of London, and who will take oath of office on November 8, is the third native of Lancashire in succession to be lord mayor, and he will be succeeded next year by another Lancastrian in the person of Sir William Dunn. With rare exceptions the post is never held but one year and there has been no exception for 30 years.

Sir Charles is a self-made man, as the term is used in the United States, has built up a large business in lubricants and is known to have considerable wealth. Indeed that is almost a necessary adjunct for although the salary of lord mayor is $50,000 a year, the term in the mansion house calls for an outlay said to be much larger than that.

He was born in Liverpool, 52 years ago, and his whole business life has been devoted to the oil business. His company has recently erected on Cheapside an imposing business building, Wakefield House, where his office is located, a block above St. Mary-le-Bow's, whose bells, according to tradition, were said to call Dick Whittington to be thrice lord mayor of London, and only a few minutes' walk from the mansion house and the Guildhall, the centers of the functions in which the lord mayor participates and to and fro rides in his celebrated coach which is still one of the sights of the city.

His home is at Hythe, in Kent, where he has collected a notable gallery of famous paintings and prints, and where he spends all his leisure time with Lady Wakefield and his adopted daughter of sixteen. He has made several trips to different parts of the United States and has traveled all over the world.

He was chosen sheriff in 1907, an alderman in 1908, and is a devoted supporter of guildry, which plays such an important part in the civic life of the city. He is a member of no less than nine of the wealthy companies and on the court of four of them. His parent guild is the Haberdashers and he is the master of the Cordwainers, a company that never before gave a lord mayor to the city.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

TREASURE LIES IN GERMAN ARMY PATH

Washington, D. C., Oct. 5.—"One of the finest coin collections in the world is housed in the home of a private collector in Pskof, a city midway between Dvinsk and Petrograd, upon the Warsaw-Petrograd railroad, along which the Germans are endeavoring to advance, and the collection is one of the most valuable things to be found in the country around this city-gateway to the immemorial lands of the Slav," according to a bulletin issued today by the National Geographic society. "M. Plushkin, the proprietor of Pskof's principal drygoods store, is the owner and gatherer of the collection which has made him known in many foreign lands and which is easily the most interesting thing in the hoary city, once a republic and the rival of Novgorod the Great.

"M. Plushkin lives above his store, surrounded by his wonderful collection of coins and many other curios and antiquities which he has gathered during twenty years. The other treasures of this strange collector are of a chaotic variety, and fill several of the rooms of his home. The coin collection is the only part of his museum which contains a wide assortment of valuable articles that M. Plushkin has attempted to classify. Numismatologists everywhere know this collection, and consider it one of the best and most complete in the world, better than a similar collection to be found in the Hermitage.

"There are any number of Russian coins in the cabinet. Among these are examples of the earliest coins of Russia, the oldest of which do not date further back than 980. There are bars and half bars of silver, valued at two roubles and one rouble. There are ancient coins of Pskof, Novgorod the Great, Kief, Kazan, Tver and other towns, each with its distinctive stamp. One of the old roubles is a coin eight inches square, a formidable piece of wealth. There is another rouble in the collection, made of bronze, which weighs seven pounds. In this old money, forty roubles, worth today about $20, would weigh their happy possessor down like a sack of potatoes. Papal, Mohammedan and Jewish coins, the latter bearing the stamp of Solomon's temple are represented, together with concave coins of old Byzantium, square Swedish coins of brass, remarkable coins used by the republic of Pskof, and some Chinese coins of the year 2000 B. C. Rare specimens of the coinage of almost every nation of Europe are found in the collection. One of the oldest was started upon its career 2300 B. C., and has seen more than 4,000 years of existence, or has become quite old as most things go.

"The collection also contains numerous specimens of the paper money of various nations. The examples of Russian paper money was particularly complete, some of the early specimens being unusually interesting. Among the early bills are a few as large as the ordinary diploma or legal document. Upon them are preserved the signatures of all the emperors and empresses who have ruled in Russia. Collectors, and curious visitors, from many lands have journeyed to the forsaken, decayed little town of Pskof and braved the inadequacies of its hotels in order to inspect M. Plushkin's renowned cabinet of coins."

PURCHASE OF SUPPLIES.

Indiana School for Feeble-Minded Youth.

Sealed proposals addressed to the President of the Board of Trustees of the Indiana School for Feeble-Minded Youth, will be received at the office of the Superintendent until 9 o'clock A. M. Tuesday, October 12th, 1915, for furnishing the Institution with its regular monthly supplies; three months' supply of butterine and oysters; yearly supply of electric lamps and laundry supplies.

The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

For the Board of Trustees,
GEORGE S. BLISS,
Superintendent.

Saws were first fashioned in imitation of the jawbone of a snake.

The following editorial is probably the strongest appeal ever written for the care and preservation of the eyes of children. That it should be read by every parent in Fort Wayne is certain. It is really a duty.

I Am the Eyes of a Child

I am the EYES of a CHILD!

I am brown, or blue, or green, or black, or grey.

I have faith in every One and every Thing. I trust the the world.

I look out upon the business of Life and wonder what it is all about.

I still possess the crystal clearness of Innocence. I see nothing sordid or unlovely. The pictures I throw on the baby brain are magical.

I am not for sale or exchange, nor can I be bought. I am Priceless.

I am the windows of the Soul. I am MORE than that, I am almost Life.

I am sensitive. I require Care and Thought on which I thrive.

I never return when once I go. I go reluctantly if go I must.

I grow weak with Overwork, or Ill Health, or Strain. I resent Indifference or Neglect. When I am not as Strong as I was Intended to be I protest against Over-Exertion in the School Room. I rebel against long hours of Study or Reading at Home where the Lights are so Dim that I cannot see.

I sound my Warnings daily. I cause Misery to the Brain, and a throbbing Head. I produce a countless score of ills that are blamed on Everything but Me. My punishment is Relentless.

I MUST be heard. I punish myself. I worry myself into aching, twitching, burning coals of fire. I cannot Work. I Weep. I will not Sleep. I will not stop until my Cry is Heeded.

The Parents of the Baby Body in which I Dwell blame Fretfullness, Illness, Apathy, Dullness and a Stumbling Gait on a score of things.

But I AM THE CAUSE.

I Live on Love, for Love Protects. Oh! how great is the Reward I give.

I Fairly Sing and Dance and Thrill with Light and Joy and Gladness when I am Healthy, and Strong and Rested.

I Thrive on CARE.

The Brain, my Sister, takes Joy in my Joy, and Hand in Hand we are Wonder Workers. We perform Herculean tasks and are Glad.

I flutter into Being often More Weak than my new born Owner. I try not to be Harsh on the Cause of my weakness. I like Life and will Live with Care.

If I need Aid from the Skilled Hands of Men who Know Me, who study my needs, who Know what I Must Have, then I respond in sheer gratitude.

If I have Behaved Badly and caused Pain it is only because I have needed Help. With Assistance these Learned Men Can give Me I Live until I am no longer Wanted.

I speak that ALL Parents may hear! It is my Prayer that you do not Shrug with Indifference or get Angry at the seeming Implication that YOU of all people, could Possibly be So Careless or Lacking in Love as to permit YOUR child's EYES to be Neglected.

Will YOU believe and Understand that I mean just YOU, the very Owners of the Grown-up Eyes who are Reading this?

Are YOU SO sure that I do not NEED HELP RIGHT NOW?

REMEMBER I am the EYES of a Child.

I MAY be the Eyes of YOUR Child.

STOP RUINING YOUR LIFE

Why continue to commit slow suicide when you can live a really contented life, if you only get your body and nerves right? It is unsafe and torturing to attempt to rid oneself of tobacco by suddenly stopping with "will-power"—don't do it. The correct way is to eliminate nicotine poison from the system, and genuinely overcome the craving.

Tobacco is poisonous and seriously injures health in several ways, causing such disorders as nervous dyspepsia, sleeplessness, gas belching, gnawing, or other uncomfortable sensation in stomach; constipation, headache, weak eyes, loss of vigor, red spots on skin, throat irritation, catarrh, asthma, bronchitis, heart failure, melancholy, lung trouble, impure (poisoned) blood, heartburn, torpid liver, loss of appetite, bad teeth, foul breath, lassitude, lack of ambition, weakening and falling out of hair and many other disorders.

Overcome that peculiar nervousness and craving for cigarettes, cigars, pipe, chewing tobacco, or snuff.

Here is an opportunity to receive FREE a carefully compiled treatise on the subject, containing interesting and valuable information that you should be glad to learn about. This book tells all about the renowned THREE DAYS' METHOD by which thousands and thousands saved themselves from the life-wrecking tobacco habit. Full particulars, including the book on tobacco and snuff habit, will be mailed FREE TO YOU, in plain wrapper, postpaid. All you need do is merely REQUEST IT. A postcard will do. Address:

HELD AS A GERMAN SPY.

Chicago Newspaper Photographer Under Arrest in London.

Chicago, Oct. 5.—Irving G. Reese, a newspaper photographer of Chicago, who went to Europe to get war pictures, is a prisoner in London, charged with being a German spy, according to word received here today. Federal authorities in Chicago and Washington are conducting an inquiry into the case, it was said. A man said to have been the "double" of Reese landed in Plymouth, Eng., in June, exhibited his passports and disappeared. Soon afterward the Chicago photographer landed in England and when the duplication in passports was discovered he was arrested.

RESERVOIR WALL GIVES WAY.

Torrent of Water Released by Mishap at Portsmouth, Ohio.

Portsmouth, O., Oct. 5.—Three frame dwellings were destroyed and one side of a hill washed away yesterday when the east concrete wall of the huge reservoir of the storage of Portsmouth's water supply collapsed, precipitating 7,000,000 gallons of water down the hillside. Occupants of the houses fled to safety before the torrent of water reached their homes.

Helen Westerman, daughter of Mrs. Virginia Westerman, who has been seriously ill for the past two weeks, is convalescing.

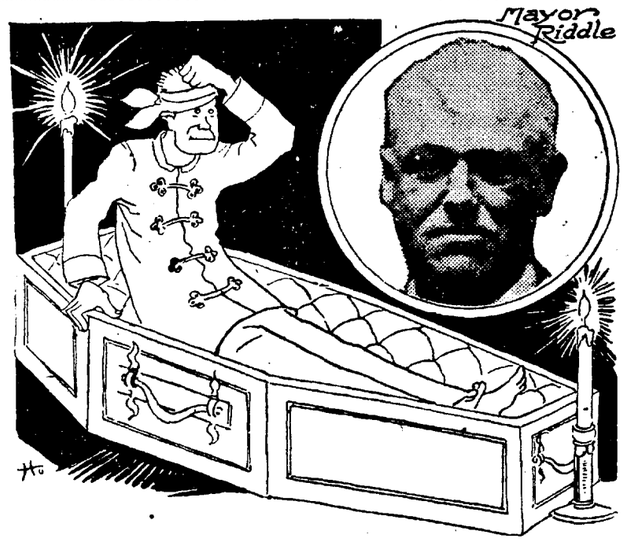
MAYOR WILL SLEEP IN COFFIN TO PUNISH SELF FOR "NIGHT WITH BOYS."



Atlantic City, N. J. Oct. 5—"No I'm not joking; not a bit of it," exclaimed Mayor Riddle as he inspected the new plush lined coffin which he has had made to order and which he will install in his home. "When a fellow gets out with the boys and kind of gets by his limit, he should have something to remind him, aside from a headache and a flannel tocque the next morning. I've had this coffin made so that when I get home after one o'clock in the morning from some banquet or the like it will be my sleeping place. Guess that'll make me think!"

EVERY REAL ESTATE DEALER IS INVITED

Every real estate dealer in Indiana is invited to attend the annual convention of the Indiana Real Estate association in Ft. Wayne October 20 and 21, regardless of whether or not they are members of the association. Special attention has been given the program and the addresses have been planned to appeal to every realty dealer in the state.

For the dealer in farm lands, the address of C. F. S. Neal, of Lebanon, holds special interest, real estate men say. Mr. Neal is recognized by real estate men as one of the best authorities on farm land in the state. He is president of the first rural savings and loan association organized in Indiana.

For the city subdivider, the addresses by John J. Watson, of Toledo, O., and Frederick C. Shipman, of Detroit, are pointed to. Mr. Watson formerly was in charge of the Roland Park addition in Baltimore, and now has charge of the Ottawa Hills addition at Toledo. Mr. Shipman is known as one of the leading subdividers in Detroit.

Chalmers Headliner.

Probably the address which will make the greatest appeal to every dealer will be that of Hugh Chalmers, president of the Chalmers Motor company of Detroit. His subject will be "Advertising and Salesmanship." An address on the same subject was given by Mr. Chalmers before real estate men in Pittsburgh in 1914.

The complete program follows:

October 20.—Morning, reading of reports and address by C. F. S. Neal on "Rural Credits"; luncheon from 12 to 2 o'clock, with officers of the national association as guests. The afternoon addresses will be by John J. Watson, on "Ottawa Hills"; Frederick C. Shipman, John R. Mitchell, of Evansville, on "Auction Sales of Subdivisions"; Emerson W. Chaille, of Indianapolis, on "Subdivisions in Indianapolis," and W. E. Doud, of Ft. Wayne, on "Subdivisions and Home Building." A reception will be held in the evening.

Thursday's Program.

Thursday morning, 9 o'clock—Address, "Needed Tax Reforms in Indiana," by Eben H. Wolcott, of the Indiana tax commission, report of tax committee, discussion and address by Mr. Chalmers. The afternoon will be devoted to the reading of reports, election of officers and the selection of the place for the 1916 meeting. At 5 o'clock, the guests will go for an automobile ride about the city and at 7 o'clock the annual banquet will be held, the following addresses being scheduled for that occasion:

"Indiana," by Charles W. Fairbanks; "The Dayton Plan," by George B. Smith, vice president of the Greater Dayton association, of Dayton, O.; "The Real Estate Man," by John L. Rupe, of Richmond; "The National Association of Real Estate Exchanges," by Walter Collins Piper, president, of Detroit, Mich.; "Ft. Wayne, With Might and Main," by Walton H. Ingham, of Ft. Wayne.

MINISTER GIVES TESTIMONY.

The Rev. C. M. Knighton, Havanna, Fla., writes: "For three months I suffered intense pain in kidneys and back, which at times laid me up entirely. I read of Foley Kidney Pills and after trying various remedies without result I decided to try the Foley treatment. I was relieved almost with the first dose and it is a fact that I used only 1½ bottles when all of the pains disappeared. I am 55 years of age and now feel like a young man again." Texas Bank Cashier Confesses Theft of Missing Cash.

Forth Worth, Tex., Oct. 5—Found locked in a bank vault and telling a story of an attack by two robbers which netted them $8,342, J. T. Adams, cashier of the State bank of Kellar, early today confessed, according to County Attorney Spoontz and Chief of Detectives Montgomery that he himself appropriated the sum missing from the vault, and $4,764 of the money was recovered. Adams is held under bond of $2,000 on a charge of embezzlement.

HERE TO GET POINTERS.

Representative of the United States Chamber of Commerce in City.

E. F. Fader, of Washington, D. C., representing the United States Chamber of Commerce, is spending a few days in Fort Wayne conferring with officials of the Commercial club. Mr. Fader is making a tour of the country for the national association, which co-operates with the department of commerce and labor on the extension of foreign trade, for the purpose of getting pointers on the handling of business projects.

REPAIRING STORM DAMAGE.

Thousands Work Day and Night in Pearl River Bottoms.

SALTS FINE FOR ACHING KIDNEYS

We eat too much meat which clogs Kidneys, then the Back hurts.

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have headache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless; inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everybody should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious complications.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.—Advertisement.

SPEAKER ONCE BEAT CRAVATH OUT OF JOB.

Tris Speaker, Red Sox, and Gavvy Cravath, Phil, were once rivals for the same outfield job. They were with the Red Sox in the spring of 1911, Speaker coming from the Southern league and Cravath from the White Sox, who got him from Texas.

Speaker beat Cravath out of the job. Cravath went to Minneapolis of the American association, led the league in batting, and returned to the majors, making good in the Phil outfield and with the stick immediately.

SON TO ATTACK THE A. G. SPALDING WILL

Undue Influence of Wife and Theosophcal Leader is Charged.

San Diego, Cal., Oct. 5.—Contest of the will of the late A. G. Spalding, baseball pioneer and millionaire sporting goods merchant, was to be entered today immediately after the filing of the will for probate, by Spalding's son Keith, who charges that the will was procured through the "undue influence of his wife, Elizabeth Churchill Spalding, and Mrs. Katherine Tingley," head of the Universal Brotherhood and Theosophical societ at Point Loma, Cal. Spalding died at his residence in Point Loma Sept. 9 last. The contest alleges that for several years before his death Spalding was not in his rightmind; that his mental and physical strength was impaired by advancing age, by sickness and by business worries. About $2,000,000 was accumulated by Spalding and his first wife, who died in 1899, according to the contest. This, says Keith Spalding, was the result of the joint industry of his father and mother and was accumulated before the second marriage which took place in 1900.

At the time of her marriage to Spalding, says the contest, Mrs. Elizabeth Churchill was the intimate friend of Katherine Tingley in "a Theosophical brotherhood" at Pont Loma and was held out by Mrs. Tingley to the public and to Elizabeth Churchill Spalding as her successor in the command of the work and institution.

Immediately after the marriage, the document continues, Mrs. Spalding persuaded her husband to take up his residence within the grounds of the Theosophical institution. The purpose of this, it is alleged, "upon information and belief," was to alienate Spalding from his son.

Mrs. Elizabeth Churchill Spalding, the widow, who filed the will for probate and who was named as executrix, estimated the estate to be worth $600,000. Keith Spalding was, under the terms of the will, to receive $100,000, of which amount he has already received $65,000; the adopted son, Albert Spalding, was also bequeathed $100,000, of which he had already received $10,000. The remainder of theh estate was left to Mrs. Spalding.

WHAT FALL FASHIONS ARE BRINGING FORTH.

The "Tipperary hat," with its high crown and its tight little brim is the hat of the moment. Bands of gros grain or faille ribbon finished in smart tailored bows or with a silver buckle is the only trimming that adorns the "Tipperary," or as some folks call them the "Chauncey Olcott" hat.

INDOOR LIFE MAKES FAT

TAKE OIL OF KOREIN TO KEEP WEIGHT DOWN OR TO REDUCE SUPERFLUOUS FAT.

People who are confined within doors and who are deprived of fresh, invigorating air and exercise must take precaution to guard against over-stoutness, as fat acquired by indoor life is unhealthy and a danger to the vital organs of the body. Lack of exercise in the fresh air weakens the oxygen-carrying power of the blood, so that it is unable to produce strong muscles and vitality and the formation of unsightly and unhealthy fat is the result.

If you are 15 or 20 pounds above normal weight you are daily drawing on your reserve strength and are constantly lowering your vitality by carrying this excess burden. Any person who is satisfied in their own mind that they are too stout should go to a good druggist and get a box of oil of korein capsules and take one after each meal and one just before retiring at night.

Even a few days' treatment should show a noticeable reduction in weight, digestion should improve, energy return, footsteps become lighter and the skin less flabby in appearance.

Oil of korein is inexpensive, cannot injure, helps the digestion and is designed to increase the oxygen-carrying power of the blood. Any person who wants to reduce their weight 15 or 20 pounds should give this treatment a trial. There is nothing better.

NOTHING SHRINKS, FADES, WRINKLES

Women here who have tried dry cleaning find it very easy and inexpensive to clean and freshen all the ribbons, silks, satins, laces, yokes, furs; silk shirtwaists, kid gloves and shoes, neckties, children's clothes, suits, caps, Swiss, lawn, organdie and chiffon dresses, woolen garments, fancy vests, draperies, rugs, in fact, any and everything that would be ruined with soap and water.

Get two ounces of solvite at any drug store and put it in two gallons of gasoline, where it instantly dissolves, then put in the goods to be cleaned, rub a little and out they come, looking as bright and fresh as new. You will find nothing fades, shrinks or wrinkles, requising no pressing.

You can do five dollars' worth of home dry cleaning in an hour at little cost. It is so easy and you can't make a mistake. Any grocery or garage will supply the gasoline and you can obtain two ounces of solvite at the drug store which is simply a gasoline soap, then a wash boiler or large dishpan completes your dry cleaning outfit.—Advertisement.

VALPARAISO HAS SHOOTING CASE

Barber Tries to Slay Dentist He Accuses as a Home-Wrecker.

Valparaiso, Ind., Oct. 5.—Dr. C. L. Bartholomew, a dentist, was shot in the back late yesterday by Louis Vitner, an Italian barber, who had accused Bartholomew of sustaining improper relations with Mrs. Vitner.

Just as he attempted to fire a second shot, Harry Salisbury wrested away the gun. Dr. Bartholomew was taken to a hospital.

Vitner gave himself up, with the assertion that he was satisfied, except that he was sorry he could not have made a clean job of it. It is believed the doctor will live.

In midsummer, trouble occurred between Vitner and his wife and Mrs. Vitner and her three children left the city for New York. At Sewickly, Pa., the woman kissed the children and then sprang through an open window of the swiftly moving train. The injuries she received were so serious that death seemed certain. A short time ago she returned here.

Was Denied a Warrant.

At the time of the attempted suicide, Vitner openly accused Dr. Bartholomew of being responsible for his wife's act and made threats openly. He made an effort to get a warrant for Dr. Bartholomew's arrest, but failed. Vitner has remained in town ever since and has been moody.

Friends of the doctor warned him that the Italian would attack him, but this Dr. Bartholomew ignored. Yesterday Dr. Bartholomew and Vitner both assisted the Salisbury Family orchestra to load some trunks for the season's concert tour. Vitner was seen to enter a restaurant near by in the same building with Bartholomew's office. Vitner appeared at the side door of the restaurant as Bartholomew passed and fired at the dentist. Dr. Bartholomew fell, and Vitner was taking another aim when Salisbury interfered.

Wound Pronounced Serious.

Dr. Bartholomew regained his feet and rode to the hospital in an automobile. He was anxious to keep the affair from his wife, but several doctors who were summoned pronounced the wound a serious one. The bullet had lodged in the back. Dr. G. H. Stoner stated that no effort would be made to remove it at present.

DIES UNDER ALLEGED ILLEGAL OPERATION

Valparaiso Girl Expires and Two Chicago Doctors Are Held.

Chicago, Oct. 5.—Death halted an alleged illegal operation on Miss Viola Wilscan, of Valparaiso, Ind., yesterday. It is asserted that before Dr. John B. Matheson could complete his work the patient, who was 22 years old, died while under an anesthetic in his office in his residence at 3526 Grand boulevard.

Her sweetheart, Morris Cautrill, an advertising solicitor, saw her die. So did Dr. W. G. French, of 4401 Jackson boulevard, who administered the ether. The two physicians were under arrest last night awaiting the verdict of the coroner's jury which will hear the evidence.

Cautrill, who saw the operation, but insists he was ignorant of its nature and asserts he had intended to marry the girl, is held as a witness.

Dr. Joseph Springer, coroner's physician, asserted the girl's death was due to the "bungling work of the operator."

Dr. Matheson said he treated Miss Wilscan five or six weeks ago in her room at 3331 South Park avenue. She then was suffering from an attempted illegal operation, he said.

DUMBA NOW ON HIS WAY HOME

more of the country and its people. That is all."

The ambassador and his wife had spent the previous evening in making their final calls upon Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, and in bidding good-bye to other officials and personal acquaintances.

Where Trouble Started.

The recall of Dr. Dumba was due to the seizure by agents of the British government of messages from the ambassador to his government which had been carried across the ocean by James F. J. Archibald, an American. This took place early last month. Copies of the dispatches were communicated by the British government to the United States and on September 9, the secretary of state announced that he had instructed the American ambassador at Vienna to deliver a note to Austria notifying that country that Dr. Dumba was no longer acceptable as an ambassador.

In the note to Austria Secretary Lansing stated that Dr. Dumba admitted that he proposed to his government plans to instigate strikes in American manufacturing plants engaged in the production of munitions of war and that he employed Archibald to deliver official dispatches to the American government. This later action was stigmatized by Mr. Lansing as a "flagrant violation" of diplomatic laws.

Dumba later denied that his employment of Archibald as a messenger was improper. At the request of the Austrian government the United States arranged with the British government for safe conduct for Dr. Dumba on his homeward voyage across the ocean.

IN THE CHURCHES

New Building Will Be Erected by Mt. Olive Congregation.

The congregation of Mt. Olive Baptist church, of which Rev. G. Jordan is pastor, has begun work on the erection of a new church edifice on the site of the old church building, on Holman street, between Lafayette and Clay streets. The preliminary work of excavation and the making of the foundation will all be volunteer work from the members of the church. The old building was moved to the rear of the lot.

The new church will be built and will cost approximately $10,000 without the fixtures. The present church building is entirely too small for the prosperous congregation and the pastor reports that every Sunday from 50 to 75 members cannot be accommodated in the present quarters. The new building will seat 750.

Rev. G. Jordan has a record that is exceptional, having built three fine church buildings since being minister of the gospel. Before coming to this city four months ago he was pastor at Lima for six years and built a church there. For eleven years he was pastor at Columbus and during his pastorate a new building was erected. While serving the congregation at Circleville, Ohio, a church edifice was erected there. Since being pastor of the local congregation, the membership has been doubled.

The regular monthly business and social meeting of the Christian Endeavor society of West Jefferson street Church of Christ will be held at the church parlors Tuesday evening.

In the city court Tuesday morning, the case against the woman was continued until Friday morning and she went to jail in default of $500. She was not thoroughly sober when she was in court and did not realize the seriousness of her plight.

Henson Not Dissipated Man.

Henson was 29 years old and unmarried. He came here about twelve years ago from Evansville, Ind., in which city he has relatives at 519 Garfield street. Bales and other men who knew him well say that he was not a man of dissipated habits and that if he was intoxicated Saturday night it was the first time they know of his ever being so.

When taken to headquarters little money was found in his pockets and nothing at all by which he could be identified.

Henson had worked at various pursuits in Fort Wayne, being employed last spring for a time at Brookside farm, the suburban residence of Hon. J. H. Bass. Later he went to work for the Furnas company.

Will Search for Poison.

Coroner E. H. Kruse will have a chemical analysis made of Henson's stomach and other organs and of the tablecloth on which the coffee was spilled at the restaurant to determine if there was any poison in the contents of the cup.

It is said by those about the restaurant at the time that Henson was not noticeably intoxicated when he came in there. He seemed to be all right when he got a dime changed to nickels in order to play a machine piano.

Mr. and Mrs. James H. Johnson, with whom Henson lived at 140 Baker street, say the man was quiet, well-behaved and sober.

hurled from the darkness on the first night the cars have been operated since the members of the newly organized union refused to go to work one week ago Monday. The cars thus damaged were: Nos. 177 and 194, on the Lewis street line; No. 219 on South Wayne line; No. 216 on the Pontiac line, and No. 192 on the West Main street line. No one was seriously injured. At 9:45 o'clock General Manager Greenland ordered the cars taken in, the last car pulling into the barns at 10:35 o'clock.

Car No. 177, on the Lewis street line, in charge of Motorman A. L. Thompson and Conductor C. Nelson, was attacked twice, the first brick crashing through a window as the car was going east on Lewis street, east of Ohio, and again on the return trip, near Winter street. Motorman Thompson was slightly cut about the hands by broken glass. The entire neighborhood was aroused by the noise and the flying squadron of police in an automobile under Lieutenant Harry Grimme made a hurried trip to the scene of the trouble, but the offenders had made good their escape.

A car on the South Wayne street line was attacked at Creighton and Fairfield avenues. Two suspicious characters were seen prowling around that section of the city for the greater part of the evening.

More Money Subscribed.

More unions voted subscriptions to the carmen Monday evening, the machinists, barbers, bricklayers and brewery workers each donating $100. More than $100 was realized Monday by the carmen from the sale of the remainder of the tickets for the benefit performances at the Lyric theater. Up to date the carmen have received financial aid from the unions, the theater benefit and other sources to the amount of about $1,100. Practically every local union has arranged for weekly donations while the strike continues.

A meeting of the Building Trades council was held Monday evening, at which time a motion was carried recommending that its affiliated organizations, which include the carpenters, painters, lathers, sheet metal workers, plumbers, plasterers and electricians, assist the carmen in a financial way. At a meeting of the newly organized union of grocery clerks the following resolution was adopted: "Resolved, That the Grocery Clerks' union, No. 288, do hereby pledge our moral support to the striking street railway employes and that we will do everything in our power to aid them."

Car Hits Boy.

George Weber, 2021 Washington boulevard east, reported to the police Monday night that city car No. 200 had hit his two-year-old son, carrying him for some little distance on the fender before stopping. The accident occurred on the East Main street line as the child and two small companions were crossing the roadway near the Berghoff switch, on Washington boulevard east. He said that the boy fell on the fender and was carried for half a block before the screams and calls of passers-by and neighbors attracted the attention of the crew to the child. After the car was stopped, the father declared, the youngster was removed from the fender and placed on the curb, the car going on without the members of the crew making any inquiry to ascertain how seriously the lad had been hurt. A physician examined the boy and found several cuts and bruises, but no serious injuries.

Saved Boy's Life.

A thorough investigation was made Tuesday morning by General Manager Greenland and he found that instead of the motorman being negligent, he in reality saved the boy's life. According to information secured by Mr. Greenland the motorman did not see the boy in time to stop his car, but did drop his fender, which prevented the youngster from rolling under the wheels. The motorman claims that he stopped his car within ten feet of the spot where the boy was hit.

COMPANY SUED FOR $145,000 OF STOCK

In the superior court the state of Indiana, on relation of Sigvald C. Amlie, has brought a suit in mandamus proceedings against the Cream of Rice company, a corporation with $500,000 capital, offices in Fort Wayne and a plant in New Haven, to compel the defendant to deliver Amlie $145,000 worth of stock in the concern. Amlie recites that he purchased 1,450 shares of stock in the Cream of Rice company August 25, 1914, and paid the consideration demanded, but that the company and its officers have since failed and refused to deliver to him the certificates of stock or to give him any evidence of his ownership. He wants the company mandated to make the delivery. Thomas & Townsend are attorneys for the plaintiff.

LAGRANGE MAN ARRESTED.

Lester H. Williams Is Charged With Stealing an Express Package.

Lester H. Williams, who was arrested Monday, charged with stealing an express package containing $59 in currency, was given a hearing Tuesday afternoon before United States Commissioner T. J. Logan. The money was being shipped from D. A. Holter, of Howard, Pa., to C. G. Conn, of Elkhart, and is said to have been taken from an express car.

ANNUAL SESSION TO BE HELD AT HUNTINGTON

Local Reformed Pastors to Attend Meeting of the Southwest Synod.

The annual session of the synod of the southwest of the Reformed churches will be held at Huntington, beginning Wednesday evening, October 6 and continuing until Sunday. The local pastors will be in attendance and includes Rev. J. H. Bosch, of St. John's Reformed church; Rev. F. W. Knatz, of Salem Reformed, and Rev. J. F. Winter, of the Reformed Orphans' home. Elder Henry Klebe and Elder Henry Feelig will also attend.

The Woman's Missionary society of the synod will also hold its annual meeting at the same place and same time. Mrs. John H. Bosch, delegate from the Zion's classis, will leave Wednesday noon to attend the meeting of the executive board at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. Mrs. E. J. Brand, delegate from the Woman's Missionary society of St. John Reformed church, leaves Thursday. The delegates from Salem Reformed church Missionary society, are Mrs. L. A. Strocbel, Mrs. William Rippe and Mrs. F. W. Knatz.

The opening address will be delivered by the president of the synod, Rev. C. F. Kriete, D. D., Wednesday evening at 7:45 o'clock. At the Thursday morning session, which opens at 8:30 o'clock, holy communion will be celebrated and in the evening several addresses will be given. Rev. J. H. Bosch appears on the program at this time. Rev. F. W. Knatz will speak at the Friday afternoon meeting and Rev. J. F. Winter will give an address Friday evening on "Our Orphanage."

CHICAGO STAGGERS UNDER HARD SHOCK

"Double-Crossed" Say Liquor Men Regarding Sunday Closing Order.

Chicago, Oct. 5.—Mayor Thompson's order to close Chicago saloons on Sundays in accordance with provisions of a state law which has been ignored locally for two score years, was the general topic of conversation today.

The mayor gave no warning except to his intimates of his intention. He dropped the bomb at the council meeting last night, rushed into a taxicab and was shortly on his way at the head of the Aldermanic commission headed for the exposition.

"Why did he do it?" was the question most commonly asked. The mayor himself said that it was because Corporation Counsel Folsom had instructed him plainly that it was the law. Others professed to see politics in it. Liquor men generally said that they had been "double crossed."

Chief of Police Healey said that it would require every man on the force to see that the law, which closes all bars, including those in hotels and clubs, at midnight Saturday until the following midnight is observed. The order that 7,152 saloons, cafes and gardens where liquor is sold shall obey the Illinois Sunday closing law will go into effect at 12 o'clock Saturday night, it was announced today.

As the city ordinance permits the sale of liquor until 1 o'clock in the morning, saloon interests pointed out today that they might open their places for business one hour between 12 and 1 o'clock Sunday night.

Wholesale arrest of saloonkeepers who violate the closing law was promised by Chief of Police Healey. Conviction carries with it a fine not to exceed $200. The mayor, it was pointed out, has power to revoke licenses for violation of law.

PYTHIANS OPEN CONVENTION.

Indiana Grand Lodge Begins Sessions at Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 5.—Members of the Grand Lodge, Knights of Pythias were present from all parts of Indiana today when the forty-seventh annual convention of the order opened. Reports of the officers were read. New officers were to be elected later in the day. Interest in this event centers around the contest for a successor to Harry Wade, keeper of records and seal. Mr. Wade held the place for twelve years and recently was elected president of the insurance department of the national lodge.

NOBLE SUIT WIPED OFF COURT DOCKET

Action That Held Up the Osage Street Opening Thing of Past.

After being on the docket of the circuit court since May, 1913, the suit of William K. Noble against the city of Fort Wayne for $24,000 damages in the proposed opening of Osage street has been dismissed at the cost of the plaintiff. This consummates an agreement made with Mr. Noble last spring in which he gave the city the land for a new route for the opening of Osage street and promised to bear all the costs incurred in the litigation. Upon that agreement the procedure for track elevation at Osage street and the Nickel Plate and Lake Shore railroads has been carried to the point of actual operations on the improvement. Mr. Noble appealed from the assessment of damages made by the board of works to the circuit court charging that his factory plant would be greatly damaged and after two years during which nothing was done, City Attorney Guy Colerick, Mayor Hosey and the board of works finally reached a settlement before the case could go actually to trial. Judge David E. Smith, of Decatur, had been appointed special judge to try the case. By agreement of the litigants, Monday afternoon, the case was transferred to Judge Eggeman, in the circuit court, and dismissed.

Eight Days of Honeymooning.

After eight days of honeymooning, which appears to have been mainly spent in Kilkenny cats fashion, Rilla May Roberts has begun action in the superior court for a divorce from William M. Roberts. In her complaint she says they were married Sept. 24 last, but the record shows it took place on the 25th. A day more or less makes no difference, however, for it's all off now, as she left him Oct. 2. She says that right at the outset her new spouse began to treat her cruelly, nagging her, accusing her of conduct unbecoming a woman, of which the plaintiff is not guilty, and calling her vile and profane names. She declares that life with him has become impossible, and asks for a divorce and the right to assume her maiden name of Armstrong. Charles B. Aldrich is her attorney.

Husband Gone for Eight Years.

Charlotte Chartier has begun suit in the superior court for divorce from Theophile Chartier, alleging that he abandoned her eight years ago, since which time she has not heard from him and has received no support from him. She asks the custody of three children now with their grandmother in Connecticut. Howard Hanthorn is her attorney.

Deserted Wife Sues.

Helen C. Clear has commenced suit in the superior court for divorce from Frank H. Clear, alleging she has had no support from him for more than two years. They sperated Oct. 4 and have no children. Colerick & Hogan are her attorneys.

Complaint Is Withdrawn.

Goldie Smith has begun suit in the superior court for divorce from Alvin O. Smith. The complaint has been withdrawn from the files. W. H. Shambaugh is her attorney.

Notes of the Courts.

The superior court has granted a divorce to Blanche Hamm from Arthur A. Hamm and restored her maiden name of Slater. The plaintiff is forbidden to remarry for two years.

The suit of Henry O. Miller vs. Howard and James Hamliton has been dismissed from the superior court.

In the suit of Edwin Junghaus vs. the Maumee Brick and Tile company, a receivership action, Derheimer & Co. have filed a petition for possession of personal property.

In the suit of Linnie Overholt for divorce from Earl L. Overholt the superior court has given the wife a decree and restored her maiden name of Bennett.

The German-American National bank has brought suit in the superior court against Meier-Wiese company to collect $875 on a note. Wl H. Shambaugh is the plaintiff's attorney.

Charles W. Halderman and Rose R. Watson have sued Frank Studebaker in the superior court to foreclose a lien on an automobile, demanding $175. Heaton & Heaton appear for the plaintiff.

The German-American National bank has received judgment in the superior court for $400 against Edward White.

An injunction has been issued by the superior court restraining Fred H. Myers from removing an electric motor attached to an elevator in the livery barn on West Washington street occupied by the defendant. The suit is brought by William Kaough, executor and trustee of Margaret Ryan, deceased. Breen & Morris are the attorneys.

CHARLOTTE UNDERWOOD AND HER MOTHER

Bloomington, Ill., Oct. 5.—Common sense?

What do you think of that for a baby food?

But it was just common sense that made roly-poly Charlotte Underwood the grand prize baby of Illinois. Her mother, Mrs. J. C. Underwood, declares that Charlotte scored 98 and won three cups and three medals because she was brought up in a "common sense way."

I never read a baby book and don't know a thing about scientific rules for baby raising. She says, "I kept my baby away from the bottle, never gave her artificial food until she was 10 months old and trained her to sleep."

Charlotte is three years and two months old.

Indianapolis, Oct. 5.—Limiting the questions at issue in the case of the Fidelity Trust company against J. C. Holden et al., "jitney" bus drivers in Terre Haute, Ind., solely to whether the franchise of the Terre Haute, Indianapolis and Eastern Traction company to operate a street car service in Terre Haute would make the business of the "jitney" bus drivers unlawful, Judge Anderson in federal court at the close of a day's hearing yesterday took the case under advisement, by which action it is understood that he would not grant the temporary injujnction asked by the company.

At the opening of the hearing in the morning the court overruled the motion of the defendants to dismiss the complaint on the grounds of insufficiency and that it was multifarious, and heard the evidence of affidavits and the arguments of the attorneys.

Declaring the evidence submitted insufficient to sustain the allegations of the complainant that there was a conspiracy among the "jitney" bus drivers to boycott the street car company, or that they interfered with street car passengers, Judge Anderson toward the close of the hearing disposed of all the issues ecept that concerning the franchise, although offering the plaintiffs an opportunity to introduce further testimony.

That it is insufficient in attempting to prove a boycott to show that a prejudice exists against the traction interests and thta on the basis of this prejudice there s an effort to withhold business from these interests was the sense of a statement by the court in discussing the evidence submitted b the plaintiff.

That the "jitney" bus drivers had blocked access to the street cars, or egress from them, by congregating in such numbers at street crossings in the busy hours as to prohibit persons getting to and from the cars, the court held was not proved by the plaintiffs.

Jduge Anderson pointed out, the case really had to rest finally on the question as to whether the "jitney" buses, by obtaining fares which the street car company otherwise would get, were liable to a restraining order. Counsel for the drivers argued on this point that buses in Indiana are not required to hold a franchise, and that the operation of them rests on exactly the same basis as the operation of cabs, express and delivery wagons and other vehicles for hire.

BAD FOR CHICKENS AS FOR CHILDREN

By Gilson Gardner.

Washington, Oct. 5.—That institutionalism is as bad for chickens as it has been shown to be for children is the latest discovery of the government's chicken experts. Chickens in large flocks and children in institutions, living by rule and under institutional discipline, do not thrive. The children do better in the individual home, and chickens do better in small sequestered groups. The multiplication of communities is the answer on the chicken farm, and mothers' pensions is the answer for dependent children. A hen and her family should be kept by herself and a small group of chickens—never over a dozen or so—should be kept together. If the chicken raiser has 300 chickens, the proper way to handle them is to have a large number of small houses and runs so that each group lives to itself and the excitement and devastating influences of the herd do not interfere with their orderly life.

The hen, Lady Eglantine, who eclipsed the world's record with 287 eggs in 300 days, was a member of a chicken colony built on this modern plan of multiplied units.

Secretary of Commerce Redfield has decided to exercise his personal and official discretion in the matter of enforcing the seamen's law. In a letter to the supervising inspector general of the steamboat inspection service relative to its enforcement on the Great Lakes, in speaking of compelling the literal compliance with the terms of the law, he says: "The question may in part resolve itself into one of good faith. The vessel owners have had ample notice and are obligated to do all possible to be ready to meet the law fully when it takes effect. Your inspectors should therefore, look for all to obey the law and, in cases where that obediance may not be complete, will report the facts which will be considered by the department on the particular merits of each case."

The biggest single shipment of lumber ever sent from the Pacific coast has just arrived in the Curtis Bay district of the Baltimore, Md., harbor, where it is to be used to put up a plant for the United States Industrial Alcohol company, an incident, by the way, of the war's demand for alcohol to make explosives. This lumber shipment consists of huge spruce logs which, if placed end to end, would reach from Baltimore to Chicago. It contains 3,000,000 feet of lumber and came over the B. & O. railroad in 17 days. The shipment moved in three solid trains, two of 43 cars and one of 32 cars. It comes from a Grays Harbor lumber company of Hoquiam, Washington.

In event of war the goverment would have to depend on private individuals to furnish automobiles for transportation of troops and supplies. Therefore, the department is in touch with the sources and has on file offers from private individuals and firms of cars to be so used. A man writing from Chicago, tenders 1,000 cars; a Detroit club informs the department that 5,000 cars can be had there. Individual amateur aviators have written the department, tendering their aeroplanes and services. The surgeon general's office has a record of 558 physicians or surgeons in private practice who have never been in the military service, who have volunteered in case of necessity. This is exclusive of the 400 officers of the medical reserve corps not on actual duty who would be available for service in the event of necessity.

A Home-Made Remedy that Will Do It Quickly. Cheap and Easily Made

If you have a bad cough or chest cold which refuses to yield to ordinary remedies, get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth), pour into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. Start taking a teaspoonful every hour or two. In 24 hours your cough will be conquered or very nearly so. Even whooping cough is greatly relieved in this way.

The above mixture makes a full pint—a family supply—of the finest cough syrup that money could buy—at a cost of only 54 cents. Easily prepared in 5 minutes. Full directions with Pinex.

This Pinex and Sugar Syrup preparation takes right hold of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the dry, hoarse or tight cough in a way that is really remarkable. Also quickly heals the inflamed membranes which accompany a painful cough, and stops the formation of phlegm in the throat and bronchial tubes, thus ending the persistent loose cough. Excellent for bronchitis, spasmodic croup and winter coughs. Keeps perfectly and tastes good—children like it.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, rich in guaiacol, which is so healing to the membranes.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex,"—do not accept anything else. A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded goes with this preparation The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago, Oct. 5.—Bullish cables led to a fresh upturn today in the wheat market here. Liverpool reported prices advancing and British millers anxious. Besides, estimates of the French crop shortage were raised to 100,000,000 bushels. The opening, which varied from unchanged figures to ½c higher, with December at 98⅝c to 99¼c, and May at 99⅛⅛@99¾c, was followed by a slight reaction and then a decided general advance.

The close was unsettled at 1⅛c advance with December at 99¾c and May at $1.00¼.

Reports of freezing temperature and crop damage in Nebraska and Iowa put strength into corn. There were also predictions of more frost tonight. After opening unchanged to ¼@⅜c higher, the market hesitated a little and then began to climb.

The close was steady, ¼@⅜c to ¾c above yesterday's close.

Oats sympathized with corn. Fluctuations, though, were narrow.

Provisions followed the hog market up grade. Packers were on the buying side and there was a further good cash demand for meats.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, Oct. 5.—For the first time in over a fortnight gains gave way to losses at the outset of today's trading. The heavy selling, which imparted an irregular tone to yesterday's late operations, was resumed though declines were more orderly than advances had been. American Car and Foundry was offered down to 84 on an initial sale of 4,000 shares, an overnight loss of 6¼ points on denial of some recent "war contract" rumors. Lackawanna Steel dropped four to 83 points, and Crucible Steel three to 100½. Others of this class yielded one to two points. Among the early features of strength were New York Central, Union Pacific, Reading, Baldwin Locomotive, Industrial Alcohol and Willys-Overland.

There was a rally from the early low level, the stronger tone of the railways being a helpful factor, but recoveries were only temporary, some prominent shares going lower. It was evident not only from the marked decline of business but some other signs, that the speculative element was exercising restraint, partly of an enforced character. Before midday, however, the market again became active, with general improvement in virtually all parts of the list. Bonds were irregular.

Some recoveries from the early afternoon's break were made, Bethlehem Steel scoring the new high price of 400½ but in the final hour a more impressive selling movement sent prices lower than before. The closing was heavy.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

The storm which was central over Lake Superior yesterday morning has moved eastward and is central this morning over the St. Lawrence valley, with a trough extending southwestward to the gulf coast. It has given general rains from the gulf coast northeastward to the St. Lawrence valley and middle New England and over the lake region. An extensive high pressure area is central this morning over the central Rocky mountain region and middle plains states and is giving cooler weather in districts to eastward of the Rocky mountains, with light to heavy frost in the central plains states and central Mississippi valley.

For Ten Young Men In Fort Wayne

A long established and successful Fort Wayne company, comprising in its officers, directors and management men than whom none stand higher in the financial and business circles of the city, had $10,000 of its stock to offer on a basis that means an exceptional investment opportunity.

$5,000 of the $10,000 offered was quickly taken by downtown business men to whom the matter was mentioned. The remaining $5,000 was reserved and it was decided to give ten young men in the city an opportunity to own $500 worth of this stock each. We will make the selection.

If you have $500 in cash you are invited to answer this advertisement and in doing so, kindly give your place of employment as well as your name and home address.

THE DEATHS

DeWITT.

Louis DeWitt, aged thirty-seven years, of 238 Masterson avenue, died at the family home Monday following a short illness due to bladder gangrenous. Mr. DeWitt was a Christian Scientist and no physician was summoned until an hour before he died. A post mortem was held by Deputy Coroner Dr. J. A. McArdle who found that the bladder was badly perforated and perotinitis had developed, hastening the end.

Mr. DeWitt was born in Lock, Ind., but had resided here for the past twenty-four years. He was united in marriage to Miss Amelia Morris in this city, December 24, 1910, who survives him, as do one daughter, Mildred; the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Martin DeWitt, of Peru; two sisters, Mrs. Rose Hanes, of this city, and Miss Mary Sunday, of Peru.

Funeral services Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the late residence. Services will be private. Interment will follow at Lindenwood.

ORR.

Mrs. Lavina J. Orr, aged 58 years, wife of Robert Orr, of 405 West Superior street, died at 4 o'clock Tuesday morning at the family residence, following an illness of several weeks. She had resided in Fort Wayne for twenty-five years and was a member of the United Brethren church.

Besides her husband she is survived by seven children: Bessie at home, Mrs. Hazel Sellers, Mrs. Irma Hamilton, Mrs. Ethel Kimball, of Indianapolis, and Charles L., John A. and Lawrence Orr, and one sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Kohler, of Canton, Ohio.

Funeral services Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the residence.

KRITZMAN.

Edward Kritzman, a son of Mr. and Mrs. aVlentine Kritzman, formerly of this city, died Monday at the Lutheran sanitarium at Denver, Col., according to word received here. He was well acquainted with many Fort Wayne people, being a member of Zion's Lutheran church.

FUNERAL NOTICES.

BLAME IS PLACED ON KILBUCK BAND

New Albany, Ind., Oct. 5.—Who was the instigator and who were the perpetrators of the Pigeon Roost massacre September 3, 1812?

The question has often been answered, but always the answer has in turn been questioned. Probably there never was as much assurance in the answers as there is in the answers made by the old settlers of Clark county, and their answers are questioned.

Soon after the battle of Tippecanoe, November 11, 1811, there drifted into Union township, in the northwestern part of Clark county, a band of fifty Indians with their squaws and children, headed by a chief, according to the word handed down by descendants of Clark county pioneers. He was tall, well built, strong and in the prime of manhood. His face was of the classical Roman type. He was a man of dignity, taciturnity and sternness. He had only one wife, to whom he was devoted, and besides her he had a beautiful daughter and 2 stalwart sons. It was whispered among the Indians that he had been at the battle of Fallen Timbers, where the Indians were defeated by Mad Anthony Wayne, and that he had joined Tecumseh and the prophet and fought at Tippecanoe. The Indians of his band—Delawares—asserted that he had been a chief, wise in council, great in war, splendid in oratory and second only to Tecumseh. However, he never spoke of himself to a white man. Indeed, he seldom spoke to the whites.

Whites Feared Kilbuck.

In Union township he and his followers squatted on a farm owned by the father of George Townsend, grandfather of Mrs. William H. Freeman, of Indianapolis. He was known as Chief Kilbuck. He was a great hunter and trapper and was often seen chasing game, but the whites were not familiar with him, for they feared him, although he had given them no cause for apprehension. It is told that he was strictly honorable in all his dealings and insisted on the same course from his men and he was careful to give no offense. It is quite certain that no neighbor suffered harm at his hands.

Trouble, however, was inevitable. The buffalo had disappeared, the deer and other game became scarce; the little patches of corn could not, in the nature of things, keep the Indian band alive. In addition the Delawares must have felt the soreness of defeat and the white man's injustice, which had deprived them of their lands and possessions. In the trading of pelts for meal and other necessities, they were often cheated.

Indian Lost in Hollow Tree.

During the winter after their coming an incident occurred which nearly fanned the smoldering ill feeling among the bucks into a flame. One day a young man, a runner, disappeared, and the Indians accused the whites of killing the boy. The whites, in fear and trembling, wished to prove their innocence, and took the trail with the Indians. The trail disappeared at a sycamore tree on the bank of Wolfe creek, where the town of Henryville now stands. Again an attempt was made to find some trace. Finally one of the settlers, who halted at the tree, heard feeble scratching in the tree. He obtained a hatchet and found the tree was hollow. The Indian, starved and exhausted, had climbed the tree after a coon and had fallen in.

Murder of the Huffmans.

Almost immediately after this incident, which frightened the settlers, a tragedy followed, five miles east of Kilbuck's camp, but evidently neither he nor his men were responsible for it. At the headwaters of Silver creek, near Henryville, an old man, Huffman, was standing in the door of his log house, one Sunday evening, when there was suddenly the crack of a rifle and he fell dead. His wife and daughter, trying to escape by a back door, were also killed. A young son was carried away captive. Another son hid in a hollow log and escaped. The case of the captured boy attracted national attention, and twelve years later Jonathan Jennings, then congressman, obtained $500 for his ransom, and the young man, by that time twenty-one years old, was brought back from Canada, where he had been sold to French traders. For a time he lived with Colonel Jesse B. Durham, at Vallonia, Jackson county, but he preferred the wild life and soon disappeared. Inquiry for him and descendants was made through local papers twenty years ago, but without result. Kilbuck and his people were at first suspected of these murders, but were evidently not guilty. They were more probably committed by a roving band from the north. But though Kilbuck held his followers under strict discipline, the tension was near the breaking point and if local tradition is right, it culminated in the Pigeon Roost massacre, in which twenty-four persons, three men, five woman, and sixteen children, lost their lives, near Vienna, Scott county.

Chief Angered in Trade.

Locally the story was that Kilbuck had bargained with William Collins for a peck of cornmeal, but when he came to his wigwam and emptied the sack, he found it half full of bran. Then he flew into a rage, denounced the whites as the robbers of the Indians' lands, requiring the red men to eat bran.

Thirty of his bucks are said to have disappeared from the camp on the evening before the massacre and they, it is believed, committed the slaughter in revenge for the insult to their chief. William Collins and Captain John Norris, however, defended themselves successfully in one of the houses of the settlement and escaped when darkness came to the home of Zebulon Collins. This version is vigorously denied by the descendants of Collins, who blame the Delawares from White river for the massacre. It is related that men under Captain Parker pursued the ravagers, but old settlers did not credit this, asserting that everybody was too badly frightened to go far from home and that most of the people had taken refuge in the stockades and forts that dotted the country.

The massacre of the garrison and the people of Ft. Dearborn (Chicago), occurred August 7, and the attack on Ft. Harrison (Terre Haute), occurred almost at the same hour as the Pigeon Roost outrage. Ft. Wayne was besieged about the same time.

Of course, in these latter affairs Kilbuck's band could have had no hand, if, indeed, they were the principals or had part in the murders at Pigeon Roost. Kilbuck was not disturbed, nor was ever any inquiry made whether his people had any share in the outrage at Pigeon Roost. The settlers were too much afraid of him. Six months after the massacre he and his band disappeared.

ACTION TAKEN IN U. S. COURT

Ft. Wayne Injunction Case Postponed When Both Sides Agree.

Little Change Seen in the Street Railway Tangle on Tuesday.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 5.—Hearing of the injunction proceedings growing out of the street car strike at Fort Wayne was postponed in federal court today until Oct. 27.

The postponement was the result of an agreement by attorneys representing both sides of the case.

Company Will Seek to Keep Full Schedule in Operation.

Cars will again be operated Tuesday night and every night hereafter, according to a statement made Tuesday by General Manager Sam W. Greenland, of the Fort Wayne and Northern Indiana Traction company, regardless of the bricks and stones that may be hurled.

The smashing of glass in five cars Monday night has not disturbed the officials of the company or deterred them from continuing the operation of cars after dark.

The strike situation remains unchanged, although members of the carmen's union are still optimistic and are firm in the belief that their cause will eventually be won. There has been no noticeable change, however, in the policy of the traction officials.

Leave for Indianapolis.

Joseph C. Colgan, member of the general executive board if the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employes, and C. B. Huston and J. E. Hooper, members of the grievance committee of the local union, the trio who have been cited for contempt of court before Judge A. B. Anderson, of the federal court at Indianapolis, left Monday night for the state capital, notwithstanding the announcement that the cases had been postponed to October 15. The three men received a message about 4 o'clock Monday afternoon from their attorney to be in the federal court at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning. No further information was given.

Two new men joined the street car men's union Tuesday morning, Charles Eby and Joseph Laisure, making four old employes of the company who have affiliated with the organization this week.

Schenectady, N. Y., Oct. 5.—With the producing end of the General Electric company's plant tied up by a strike of approximately 10,000 organized workers, union leaders today declared their intention of making a fight for a complete closed shop before returning to work. To this end they began organizing about 3,000 women workers.

Under no circumstances, the leaders said, would a settlement be discussed with company officials before Thursday. By that time it is expected most of the women workers would be allied either with the machinists or electrical workers' locals, and the metal trades alliance grievance committee will have formally endorsed the strike. This is the committee which agreed several days ago to accept a compromise plan offered by General Manager George Emmons, but this action displeased the members of the various crafts and the walk out yesterday occurred without the consent of the committee. Its members are said to be displeased with the action of the locals, but will endorse the strike probably Wednesday night.

Rumors of a probable compromise settlement continue strong. The general belief is that a nine-hour day eventually will be agreed upon. Heretofore a ten hour day has obtained. The company always has opposed the closed shop and many prominent union leaders are doubtful if they can induce the company to agree to it now. Not a sign of disorder has been noted since the first body of 1,500 machinists walked out yesterday. No special guards have been employed by the company and the city police still are working their regular beats. Union officials are repeatedly cautioning the strikers against violence.

HEADLIGHTS CAUSE ANOTHER ACCIDENT

Glaring headlights on an automobile have added another one to its long list of accidents. C. G. Kaiser, who resides in Bloomingdale, is confined to his home suffering from two broken ribs as a result. The accident occurred Monday night on the Lincoln highway when the buggy in which he was riding was struck in the rear by the Shryock truck driven by M. H. Smith, who reported the accident to the police.

Mr. Smith was driving on the highway with the truck at 6:30 o'clock when he met an automobile with blinding headlights, and although he slacked down the machine he bumped into the rear of the buggy occupied by Mr. Kaiser. He says the lights blinded him so that he did not see the rig in front of him.

THIRTY DELEGATES ATTEND C. E. MEET

Thirty delegates had arrived late this afternoon for the annual meeting of the Christian Endeavor societies of the Wells district of the St. Joseph conference of United Brethren churches, in session at the Calvary U. B. church of this city of which Rev. J. W. Borkert is pastor. Round table talks were given at the afternoon session and the departmental superintendents gave five-minute talks.

The evening session opens at 7:30 o'clock and R. A. Walker, state field secretary of the Indiana Christian Endeavor societies, will be the principal speaker. Mr. Walker is well known here and a large audience is expected to be present to hear him. Special music will be rendered.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 5.—Details of the "wrecking crew" on election day were described by William W. Pettit at the trial today of Mayor Joseph E. Bell, charged with election conspiracy. Pettit said he was made chief of the "wrecking crew" by William Clauer, a city employe and a co-defendant.

Pettit told of beating up a negro named Lancaster and driving two other colored men from the polls. Later he said he and his four companions went to a number of precincts in an automobile and voted as often as possible.

"Clauer told us we were to see that our men, when challenged, were permitted to vote," the witness testified. He said the police were with us and if we were arrested we would be released at once. I said, "Tom Taggart, Mayor Bell and Chief Perrott have enough money and power to get us out, I guess." He did not say anything to that.

Pettit said he and his four companions were supplied with blackjacks at democratic headquarters, from which place they started out on election morning.

The witness was given a severe grilling on cross examination by C. W. Miller, for the defense, who took him over election day and then went into the witness' police record.

Newport, R. I., Oct. 5.—An explosion followed by a fire took place today on board the torpedo boat destroyer Cummings while she was engaged in war maneuvers off the coast. The Cummins was immediately headed for this port.

The explosion occurred this forenoon in the forward compartment of the Cummins and two men were badly burned by oil flames. The fire was soon extinguished, but it was decided by her commander, Lieut. J. C. Fremont, to start back for Newport. The Cummins is expected here late today.

The Cummins left here yesterday as a member of the sixth division of destroyers attached to the fleet of the "Enemy" in the war game off the coast. It was believed that she had reached a point some 150 miles off the coast when the accident happened. The destroyer was in company with the destroyers Cassin and Alwyn.

A message from the division commander of the navy department giving a brief account of the accident was sent to Washington this afternoon.

INQUEST IS HELD OVER BODY OF BOY

Coroner Edward H. Kruse stated Tuesday that he expects to return a verdict finding that the accident resulting in the death of Raymond Graffe, son of F. C. Graffe, 1201 Swinney avenue, who was fatally injured when struck by an automobile in front of St. Patrick's church on Harrison street, Saturday night, was unavoidable. The inquest was held Monday afternoon when the following witnesses were examined: Ray D. Christian, who was driving the car, and M. F. Marhenke, both of Decatur; Mr. and Mrs. Graffe, parents of the child, and Mrs. Elizabeth Magers.

Mrs. Graffe declares that the car was going fully twenty miles an hour and also denies that Mrs. Magers, who was with her at the time, ever made the statement that the accident was unavoidable. Coroner Kruse expects to file his verdict with the county clerk in a few days.

GERMANY PROTESTS MOTOR BOAT SALES

Washington, Oct. 5.—Specific protest against shipment of six forty-foot motor boats from Boston to England has been made to the state department by the German embassy on the ground that they are war vessels designed to aid in the British campaign against submarines.

The protest has been referred to the neutrality board which has decided there is no reason to prevent the shipment. The boats as shipped carried neither guns, emplacements for guns nor armor. The board held that as in similar cases recently there was nothing to show that the boats were intended for war purposes or to place them in the class of war vessels.

BIG REALTY DEAL CLOSED

Wolf & Desauer Purchase Jewish Synagogue Property.

A deal was closed this week for the purchase of the property belonging to the Achduth Veshalom congregation at Harrison and Wayne streets by Wolf & Dessauer for a consideration of $53,250, which is another indication of the expansion of business west of Calhoun street and the rapid commercial development of Harrison street. The property was bid in for Wolf & Dessauer by Fisher Brothers.

The new owners are not to have possession until March 2, 1916, and in the meantime the congregation will look out for a site upon which to erect a new synagogue. Services will be held in the old synagogue, however, until that time.

Site is Valuable.

The property is one of the most valuable on Harrison street, extending south a half block to the alley. The Achduth Veshalom congregation before the erection of the present synagogue in 1874 occupied a small brick building which still stands on rear of the lot Harrison street. Since that time this building has been occupied by various denominations and for the last few

Cumming, Ga., Oct. 5.—When a party of automobilists, comprising the annual "seeing Georgia tour" of the Georgia chamber of commerce, yesterday drove into Forsyth county, into which no negro has been allowed to enter since four negroes criminally assaulted a young white woman near here two years ago, four of the tourist automobiles, driven by negro chauffeurs, were made targets for stones and sticks, thrown by a crowd of men and boys. An attempt was made to take one of the chauffeurs from his car. No one was injured.

The tourists speeded up their automobiles and hastened into Cumming, the county seat of Forsyth, where an entertainment planned in their honor was carried out.

Racial feeling ran high at the time of the assaults and two of the negroes were lynched. The other two were tried and convicted here chiefly upon the evidence of a sister of one of them. They later were hanged here. All negroes were ordered to leave Forsyth county at that time and all obeyed the order.

The man who died in a cell at police headquarters at 10 o'clock Sunday morning from what was then believed to be acute alcoholism, and in connection with whose death Delia Zell has been taken in custody, was identified Tuesday morning as William T. Henson, aged 29 years, rooming at 140 Baker street, and employed by the Furnas Ice Cream company, 513-15 Lafayette street, as driver.

The woman is held on a drunk charge pending the outcome of an autopsy to determine whether or not Henson came to his death by poison that may have been placed in coffee he drank with her at a restaurant on Harrison street Saturday night.

Henson had not been seen by either his employers or his boarding house mistress since early Saturday evening and his absence caused an inquiry that led to identification of the body at the Schune & Ankenbruck morgue as the remains of Henson. Earl Bates, 308 West Lewis street, who formerly roomed with Henson, declared the body at the morgue was that of Henson and employes of the Furnas company were equally positive.

Was With Zell Woman.

Henson picked up the Zell woman, who resides with her husband at 136 West Jefferson street, on the street. She was arrested about 10 o'clock Monday night at Harrison and Pearl streets by Detective Sergeant Walter H. Immel, who had been detailed for investigation of the case. She was with a well-dressed traveling man she had met in a moving picture theater on Main street. Her companion was given a severe shock when Detective Immel placed her under arrest, turned her over to a uniformed officer and said to the man:

"This woman may be wanted for murder."

The man said the woman was taking him to a room on the north side. She had another man with her when they came out of the theater, but she had got rid of him, seeming to prefer the traveling man's company.

Collapsed in Restaurant.

Detective Immel learned Monday that the man who died at headquarters Sunday morning had been with a woman in W. M. Fryberger's "Queen" restaurant, 613 Harrison street, about 9 o'clock Saturday night, where the two were served with coffee at a table. The woman drank her coffee hurriedly and as the man took a deep draught from his cup he spewed it over the table, exclaiming, "My God, somebody's drugged this coffee." At the same time he upset his cup and the contents were spilled on the table.

Soon after that the man collapsed in his chair, became helpless and apparently unconscious. Fryberger, the proprietor, came in at that time and the man was carried outdoors and the police notified. When the patrol wagon with officers arrived the woman had disappeared.

The unconscious man was believed to have been overcome by liquor and was taken to a cell at headquarters, where he died Sunday morning.

Delia Zell Was the Woman.

Detective Immel got a description of the woman that was in the restaurant and after having questioned two females of the street without result, went after Delia Zell. She was very drunk when arrested, but admitted her companionship on Saturday evening with the man who had collapsed at the "Queen" restaurant. Her condition Monday evening was such that not much that was satisfactory in the way of evidence could be obtained from her, but her story that the man with whom she was in the restaurant was a stranger to her was believed. She was locked up on a charge of drunkenness.

ALLIES FAIL, SAYS BERLIN

Today's War News Given in Summary.

Artillery firing along a wide front has succeeded the exhausting infantry operations of the past week or more on the front in France, the French war office statement today shows. No exchanges of territory are reported. Communication routes behind the German lines continue to be heavily shelled by the French artillery and their air craft.

A dispatch from Berlin declares that the German steamer Svionia, reported sunk in the Baltic sea yesterday by a British submarine was attacked with shell fire without warning.

A German official statement on the general offensive movement of the entente allies on the eastern front declares in effect that it is shown to have been a do or die effort to end the war, which failed.

The Berlin war office asserts that both British and French army orders prove that the movement was started with the intention of driving the Germans from French soil.

The allies, the statement declares, expected to break through the German lines and gain the open field, thus turning out the Teutons, the expulsion of which would influence hitherto neutral nations to join the entente powers.

Notwithstanding what is declared to have been a seven-fold numerical superiority and possession of vast stores of war material, the German lines were not broken, but merely pushed back in to comparatively small sectors to the second, and by no means the last German line. It is asserted that virtually no German troops which were intended for service on other fronts were diverted from their destination by the allied attack.

Up to noon today in Petrograd no answer had been received to the ultimatum sent by Russia to Bulgaria. Contrary to first reports, the ultimatum was not delivered until 4 p. m. Monday and the time limit was not due to expire until 4 p. m. today or 9:30 a. m., New York time.

Berlin, Oct. 5.—The British attack on the German fortification north of Loos has again been repulsed. The war office announced today that the efforts of the British were fruitless and that they sustained considerable losses.

A dispatch from Sofia dated Oct. 4 to the Zeitung Am Mittag says: "Premier Radoslavoff of Bulgaria today made the following declaration to representatives of the government parties:

"'We confront war and must defend our national interests. We must wrest from our enemies everything they took from us two years ago and get satisfaction for every insult.'"

BULGARIA GETS MORE TIME.

London, Oct. 5.—Whether by delay in telegraphic communications or by some unexplained cause, Bulgaria obtained an additional 24 hours in which to decide her course. The time limit of the Russian ultimatum demanding that King Ferdinand break with the central powers did not expire yesterday afternoon as had been reported, and the Bulgarian government had the opportunity of delaying its decision until mid-afternoon today.

No official report has been issued concerning the landing of allied troops at Saloniki. According to Athens three-fifths of the Bulgarian forces are to go to the Serbian frontier and the remainder will hold the Greek line.

Loss of the Hohenzollern redoubt near Labasse as announced yesterday by Field Marshal French was a keen disappointment to England. It is assumed the British troops after their rush forward over a comparatively wide front, did not have sufficient time to consolidate this difficult position. The British commander's admission of the loss was tempered with the statement that German counter attacks had been beaten off along the remainder of the British front.

Military writers profess to see already the effects of the offensive in the west on operations over the eastern front. The Russians are holding the Germans before Dvinsk and apparently are giving little ground elsewhere.

Washington, Oct. 5.—Satisfactory settlement of the issues between Germany and the United States growing out of the sinking of the steamship Arabic was forecast today in official quarters after a conference between President Wilson and Secretary Lansing.

Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, in a brief conversation earlier in the day, gave Secretary Lansing oral assurances that his communication, submitted last Saturday would be changed to conform to the wishes of the United States and an hour later a messenger from the German embassy brought the document to the state department. Immediately afterward Secretary Lansing took it to the white house and after a brief talk with President Wilson said there would be an announcement shortly on the status of the negotiations.

In all quarters it was indicated that the wishes of the United States had been met to the extent that an arrangement had been made for the settlement of points in dispute.

The map shows in greater detail the great gain along a 20-mile front on the battleline northeast of Verdun. At this point the French have succeeded in piercing the German's second line, and are seriously threatening the army of the German crown prince.

DELAY IN DELIVERY OF RUSSIAN DEMAND

Petrograd, Oct. 5.—Russia's ultimatum to Bulgaria was not delivered to Premier Radoslavoff until 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. This statement was made officially here today.

The foreign office at noon today stated that no answer had been received from Bulgaria to the ultimatum.

It is not expected by the foreign office that ultimatum will be presented by Russia's allies. Russia did not insist upon demobilization by Bulgaria, but it is expected that if this is not done at once Bulgaria will gradually reduce her army to a peace footing, in case her reply is favorable to Russia.

The Russian minister at Sofia may remain there indefinitely as a private citizen owing to illness even should diplomatic relations be severed.

Previous advices from Petrograd were that the Russian ultimatum had been delivered on Sunday and that the twenty-four hours limit within which reply was requested expired yesterday. This period did not begin until the time of the actual delivery of the ultimatum to the Bulgarian government, therefore the Bulgarian government has until 4 o'clock this afternoon in which to decide whether to adopt a policy of strict neutrality or to side openly with Germany, Austria and Turkey.

DEEP IMPRESSION IN BERLIN.

Germany Believes Ultimatum Will Clarify Diplomatic Air.

Berlin, Oct. 4.—(Via London, Oct. 5.)—Russia's ultimatum to Bulgaria has made a deep impression here, but has resulted in a feeling of relief because of the conviction that the moment has arrived when the diplomatic situation in the Balkans must be clarified within a few hours. The general opinion is that Bulgaria cannot yield to Russia's demands and that the ultimatum may even cause the pro-Russian element to rally to the support of the government. Germans consider that the entente powers elected an unpromising moment to make their voice heard at Sofia. Discussing the consequences which are likely to follow a breach in the diplomatic relations between Russia and Bulgaria, the newspapers profess to expect an immediate declaration of war by the entente allies, with a blockade of Bulgarian ports on the Black sea and on the Aegean, as well as the landing of an Anglo-French army at Salonika. The papers contend a blockade would have no practical effect since Bulgaria now places little dependency upon foreign maritime trade.

SIGNED SOME TIME AGO.

Milan, Italy, Oct. 4.—(Via Paris, Oct. 5.)—A military convention was signed between Bulgaria, Germany and Austria some time ago, according to a Sofia dispatch to the Corrier Della Sera.

By the terms of this treaty the Bulgarian army is bound to attack Serbia with six divisions in the Nish-Pirot section and to send Macedonian troops to Vardar to destroy railroad communication with Salonika, thus delaying the allies in their efforts to aid Serbia.

The opposition Bulgarian leaders, M. Ghenadieff, Malinoff and Guechoff, after having gone so far as to threaten King Ferdinand because of his stand in favor of Germany and Austria, are reported to have changed front completely and now proclaim that the nation is united. Students parade the streets of Sofia singing alternately the Bulgarian, German and Austrian national anthems.

DECLARED LEGAL MARRIAGES.

Union of Slaves In Ante-Bellum Days Upheld by Arkansas Court.

Little Rock, Ark., Oct. 5.—The Arkansas supreme court has declared the unions of negroe slaves in the ante-bellum days legal marriages, even though no marriage ceremony was performed. The decision was given in a case where a negro had inherited property from a grandfather who was a slave. The title was attacked on the ground that his father was an illicit child.

LITTLE CHILD BREAKS BONE.

Bluffton, Ind., Oct. 5.—The little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mettler fell out of the back door at her home and sustained a fracture of the collar bone and also the dislocation of a shoulder.

TURKEY WILL GET WARNING

U. S. Insists That Frightful Massacres of Armenians Must Cease.

Washington, Oct. 5.—The Turkish government will be formally notified that unless the massacres of Armenians ceases, friendly relations between the American people and the people of Turkey will be threatened.

Instructions to that effect had gone today to Ambassador Morganthau. Officials here made it plain that the message did not threaten a rupture in the diplomatic relations between the two countries.

The ambassador's instructions are to immediately inform Turkey that the American people already are so stirred by the reported massacres that a continuance of the atrocities might result in a break in the friendly relations between the two people.

WAR OF EXTERMINATION.

New York, Oct. 5.—The Turks and Kurds are waging a holy war of extermination on the Armenians according to sixteen members of the American board of foreign missions, who arrived from Van, Turkey, on the Swedish steamer Hellig Olav today.

Ernest Yarrow, one of the missionaries, told how the Armenian population of Van, numbering 1,500, held out against 5,000 Kurds and a Turkish company commanded by a German officer, from April 20 to May 17, when Russians arrived and relieved the ton.

"We had six American and two Red Cross flags," said Mr. Yarrow, "and we flew these over the mission, but they were not respected by either of the combatants. The Turkish company arrived three or four days before the Russian relief came, and the shrapnel from the Turkish guns tore down all of our flags.

"We sheltered large numbers of Armenian women and children, but as soon as the Turks and Kurds had been driven away from the town, virtually all of the Armenians turned out to loot the Turkish houses and duplicate the atrocities that had previously been practiced upon the Armenians. It was with great difficulty that they were restrained.

"The Turks and Kurds have declared a holy war against the Armenians and vowed to exterminate them. The population of Van was poorly armed and were forced to use brass and copper trinkets to make bullets. Three small cannon were made of scrap metal. The supplies of ammunition were running short and the Russians arrived just in time to save the Armenians from being wiped out."

Mr. Yarrow said many Armenians were suffering from typhus and other diseases and when he left conditions almost everywhere in Armenia were terrible.

According to Mr. Yarrow many of the atrocities practiced by the Kurds were indescribable. He confirmed all of the reports of outrages which have reached the United States and said only a portion of the real story had been told.

SEEKS TO DEFEND ALL PORTS IN "WAR GAME"

Washington, Oct. 5.—Admiral Fletcher's Atlantic fleet of battleships was engaged today in defending the coast from Maine to Florida against a hostile force under Vice-Admiral Mayo. This was the beginning of a ten days' war game which had been planned on a more extensive scale than ever before attempted by the United States navy. Practically every available vessel of the active list was participating.

The hostile fleet, designated as the "Red," put to sea from Newport, R. I., and the other, the "Blue," steamed from Hampton Roads yesterday. Admiral Fletcher's objective was to prevent the "Red" fleet from effecting an entrance to any port.

In the defending fleet were eight dreadnoughts and four pre-dreadnoughts. Admiral Fletcher's flag flew from the Wyoming and the other ships of the fleet were the New York, Florida, Texas, Arkansas, Utah, Michigan, South Carolina, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, New Jersey, Virginia and Louisiana.

Vice-Admiral Mayo's fleet was composed of swift cruisers and vessels of similar type.

MAYOR TO APPEAL AS COUNCIL OUSTS HIM

Terre Haute, Ind., Oct. 5.—The city council last night declared the charges against Mayor James M. Gossom in a bill of impeachment sustained by a vote of six to three. By the same vote the council declared the office of mayor vacant. Attorneys for Mayor Gossom filed notice of appeal to the circuit court and contended that the vote did not carry a sufficient majority to impeach. President Harry Skean was absent. The defense contended that the law required a two-thirds majority of the members-elect.

All members of the council made lengthy explanations before recording their votes. Voting for the impeachment were Councilmen Brannin, Reide, Ohm, Monninger, Cronin and Daugherty. Votes recorded against the impeachment were Deasee, Hanley and Savoree.

ESCAPES FROM STATE MINES.

Montgomery, Ala., Oct. 5.—Erwin Pope, a negro, six times sentenced to death and each time saved from the gallows by the supreme court or by executive clemency, has escaped from the state mines in Shelby county.

Two hours before he was due to mount the gallows the last time, Gov. O'Neal granted a stay of execution and later commuted his sentence to life imprisonment. Pope was arrested six years ago on a charge of killing James McLurkin, a farmer. He always maintained his innocence.

Rotarians Put Ban on "Mr." and Enjoy Feast and a Frolic.

The Fort Wayne Rotary club put the ban on "Mr." at its initial feast of the fall season, held at the Anthony hotel Monday evening. There were no "Misters" about the banquet table, and in their places were merely Jim, and Jack, and Joe and Bill, with the remainder of the assortment of familiar given names which friends are privileged to use in addressing their intimates. To that extent formality was cast to the winds, and the membership enjoyed a feast, a frolic and an entertainment that was thoroughly enjoyable. Music was supplied by the Simon orchestra, and by "Dick" Hartzler, who was given vociferous applause for his vocal numbers. "Fred" Church played the accompaniments.

Rotarians found their places labeled by large oval cards on which were printed their names in large black type, and the preliminaries included the introduction of some half a dozen new members and the reading of a telegram from Aviator Art Smith, at New York, regretting his inability to be present at the first meeting of the club since his adoption into the Rotarian family.

With feast and routine business out of the way, and the one-minute reign of a number of temporary sergeants-at-arms at an end, the diners were turned over to Jesse A. Green, who, as toastmaster, directed the post prandial program. The initial contribution to the speech making was by S. E. Mulholland, who, speaking as a "hyphenated" resident of Fort Wayne, because he did not chance to have the good fortune to be born in this city, pleased for the closer friendships and intimacies that dispense with the formality of "Mister," and enable men to know each other as they really are.

State Treasurer George A. Bittler was presented by the toastmaster as the man who, like Grover Cleveland, had coined a political slogan, but it was not "a public office is a public trust." Instead it was "Let George do it." Mr. Bittler explained amid applause that during his official career he had in fact been attempting to have George do it in a manner that would meet public approbation. "Bob" Hanna exploded a bombshell in the camp when, after cleverly leading the diners up to the expectation of a formal announcement of his candidacy for congress, confided to them instead the momentous information that he was a candidate for membership in the Rotary club.

Each of the addresses was a delight, and the evening was topped off with an entertainment by Henry Roethig, a Chicago magician.

MANY BRANCH CLUBS WILL BE ORGANIZED

An enthusiastic meeting of the Lincoln Republican club was held Monday evening in the lodge room over the Star theater on Calhoun street, when it was decided to organize a branch in each of the townships and towns in the county with delegates to the Fort Wayne club as the central body.

Among the speakers of the evening were: Dr. J. E. Stults, county chairman; Fred Todd, C. R. Lane, W. H. LeTourette, George H. Loesch, D. H. Hogg, Dr. Noah Zehr, Dr. George W. Gillie, W. E. Clapham, Noah Egley, Christian Piepenbrink and others. Plans were discussed for a meeting to be held in the near future at which time Horace Stidwell and Ed C. Toner, both of Anderson, who were among the leading progressives in the state, will probably be the principal speakers.

Chicago, Oct. 5.—Mayor Thompson in a message last night to the city council, announced that the owners of all saloons in Chicago hereafter would be forced to obey the state law, which provides that they remain closed on Sunday. The mayor ordered the city collector to notify in writing all persons holding licenses for saloons that they must comply with the requirements of the state law. There are more than 4,000 saloons in Chicago.

Mayor Thompson was attended in the council chamber by three detectives. In the recent municipal election Thompson's opponent was openly supported by the liquor interests, but Mr. Thompson was elected by the largest majority ever recorded in a Chicago mayoralty election.

Mayor Thompson set forth in his message that Corporation Counsel Folsom had advised him that the state law provided a fine of not exceeding $200 for any place where liquor was sold which remained open on Sunday. The mayor said the opinion of the corporation counsel was that existing city ordinances permitting, under restrictions, saloons to remain open on Sunday could not nullify the state law.

"This being the law," the message read, "as I am advised, and it being my duty as mayor to take care, so far as it lies within my power, that the law is faithfully executed in the city, I hereby direct that saloons or dramshops shall comply with the law and close on Sunday."

MINNEAPOLIS DRYS, BEATEN, TO TRY AGAIN

Minneapolis, Oct. 5.—The county option election in this (Hennepin) county, was won by the "wets" yesterday by a majority of about 9,000, according to virtually complete returns today.

At the headquarters of the "Drys" it was said the struggle to oust the 433 saloons in Minneapolis had not been given up—only deferred.

According to the local option law passed by the last state legislature, the prohibitionists can petition for another election in three years.

DOCTOR ACCUSED OF STEALING POST CARD

Hammond, Ind., Oct. 5.—Dr. George F. Bicknell, of East Chicago, is under arrest for stealing a postal card. Dr. Bicknell has a pretty office girl, whose name is Anna Gregovovich. She wrote a postal to Susie Kostenbanich and signed it Anna Bicknell.

Susie called up the doctor and inquired as to the identity of the signature. He jumped in his auto and, calling on Susie, demanded the postal which had informed her that if she didn't look out she would spend her days in jail.

The allegation is that Bicknell snatched the card from Susie as she was placing it back in her waist and turned it over to the postal authorities. Divorce proceedings are pending between the doctor and his wife, Ada Bicknell.

Don't scold your fretful, peevish child. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with sour waste.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomach-ache, indigestion, diarrhœa, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul waste, the sour bile and fermenting food passes out of the bowels and you have a well and playful child again. Children love this harmless "fruit laxative," and mothers can rest easy after giving it, because it never fails to make their little "insides" clean and sweet.

Keep it handy, Mother! A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Remember there are counterfeits sold here, so surely look and see that yours is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup. —Advertisement.

Until the New York constitution-making job at Albany started a leak in the gas bag, no presidential boom was more beautifully inflated than that of Root. But this business of presiding over a reactionary convention is all to the bad for presidential ambitions.

"Grandpa" Root is a clever man. This fact was discovered when he was a young and comparatively unknown lawyer, and led to his retention as counsel to "Boss" Tweed when the latter was prosecuted for looting the city of New York. It will be remembered that Tweed died in jail, a poor man, but Historian Myers relates in the first volume of his "Great American Fortunes" that real estate was deeded by Tweed to Root in lieu of fees.

Root is a lawyer. His profession would be his answer to any criticism of his profiting by the "Tweed Ring" loot. He has had many clients—some good and some bad. At times he has appeared as counsel for "the people," as when he arose and spoke most eloquently against the seating of William Lorimer of Illinois, who had bribed his way into the United States senate.

And so it was for a good many years, whenever the city of New York got a spasm of reaction against the iniquity of vulgar political misrule, among the "prominent" and respectable citizens who would be named as a "reform" committee, was Elihu Root. Generally, his name appeared not far below that of Seth Low. As an exponent of respectable reform, Root is habitually there in his best silk hat.

only by the constitution (unamended) of the nation's fathers.

As a member of Col. Roosevelt's cabinet, Root served in his familiar role as lawyer. Roosevelt has sometimes said in more truth than jest that he found Root useful as the producer of excellent reasons for doing what he, Roosevelt, had decided to do.

As secretary of war, Root showed himself an excellent administrative officer. He reorganized the war department and left the army in much better shape when he went than when he came.

He was a very competent secretary of state—with very little to try his real abilities. The time was peaceful and diplomacy at a low ebb when he was there.

Grandpa Root's age has proved a handicap in his race for the republican presidential nomination. He was born in Clinton, Oneida county, N. Y., Feb. 15, 1845. He would be 72 years of age when inaugurated, if elected president, and 76 when he finished his first term.

The stress of being president—just the physical strain of people to be seen and current work to be done, is a task for youth and strength. The ability to hold the party power for a second term is also a serious consideration in the minds of president makers. To be obliged to discard a man at the end of four years on account of age and groom a successor is an uninviting task.

President Arthur gave Root his first boost into public life by appointing him, in 1883, at United States district attorney for the southern district of New York. He began making constitutions in 1894 when he was delegate at large to the state constitutional convention and he has served the country in other ways—as by membership on the Alaskan commission in 1903, the North Atlantic Fisheries arbitration at the Hague in 1910, and on the permanent board of arbitration at the Hague.

Grandpa Root is familiar with the job of presiding over republican conventions. He did it at Chicago in 1904, and again at Chicago in 1912, when Taft received his second nomination—that nomination which brought him the electoral votes of Vermont and Utah. On the second occasion the convention was kept in order with difficulty by 400 city policemen, and some firemen, and at Grandpa Root's right hand during all his presiding times, stood John Maynard Harlan, six foot six in his sox, and weighing many pounds of firm muscle for the purpose of seeing that Grandpa Root was not torn limb from limb.

But so potent were the tones of Grandpa's voice, and so commanding the glance of his eye, or so gentle were the assembled progressive delegates that John never had to strike a blow. The nomination of the beloved Taft was triumphantly put through—and enthusiastically—by Grandpa Root.

IN FIVE MINUTES NO SICK STOMACH, INDIGESTION, GAS

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, refusing to digest, or you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food, or have a feeling of dizziness, heartburn, fullness, nausea, bad taste in mouth and stomach headache, you can surely get relief in five minutes.

Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula, plainly printed on these fifty-cent cases of Pape's Diapepsin, then you will understand why dyspeptic troubles of all kinds must go, and why it relieves, sour, out-of-order stomachs or indigestion in five minutes. "Pape's Diapepsin" is harmless; tastes like candy, though each dose will digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you eat; besides, it makes you go to the table with a healthly appetite; but what will please you most, is that you will feel that your stomach and intestines are clean and fresh, and you will not need to resort to laxatives or liver pills for biliousness or constipation.

This city will have many "Pape's Diapepsin" cranks, as some people will call them, but you will be enthusiastic about this splendid stomach preparation, too, if you ever take it for indigestion, gases, heartburn, sourness, dyspepsia, or any stomach misery.

London, Sept. 25.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press)—Details of the siege of Van and the massacre of Armenians by the Turks are given in the current issue of the "Near East," which fixes the responsibility for the crime on Jevded Pasha. It was on Jevded Pasha also that the refugee American missionaries, in the story of their sufferings recounted to the Associated Press correspondent at Petrograd this week, laid the guilt. Jevded is the supreme commander of the Turkish army operating in this province.

Van, the ancient capital of the Armenian Ardzuni dynasty, was occupied by the Russian army in its advance in the Caucasus during the first week of last May. The Russian commander, General Oganesov, who is an Armenian, was assisted by six Armenian volunteer regiments under the Armenian revolutionary, Andranig, who had fought with the Bulgarians against the Turks in the first Balkan war. But long before Van fell to the Russians, Jevded Pasha started the work of massacring the Armenian population.

The massacre began at Shadokh, a large and isolated village, where not a man was spared except those over sixty years of age. Of the women, the more comely were carried away by Jevded's soldiers and Kurd tribesmen. The massacre was carried out systematically in the entire province of Van, beginning with the outlying village. Great care was taken to prevent rumors of this from reaching the capital.

There was living in Van city at that time Prince Ishkham, an Armenian, who had formerly been useful to the government in settling troubles between the Turks and the Armenians. He was asked by Jevded to go to the villages and try to reconcile the contending parties. Jevded addressed the prince in a letter as his "dear friend." The prince, unaware of the plot, started out with a number of advisers. The entire party was slaughtered by a party of Jevded's horsemen while taking lunch at a coffee house.

At this time also there was in Van an Armenian member of the Turkish parliament by the name of Vramian, who was invited by Jevded to call on him at headquarters. On arrival at headquarters Vramian was arrested, a large stone was tied to his feet and he was thrown into a lake and drowned.

The Russians were now reported on the advance. Talaat Bey published a warning against the Armenians participating on a penalty of dire punishment. But the story of the massacre in the isolated parts was carried by survivors, and the Armenians prepared to sell themselves as dearly as possible, the peaceful element as well as the revolutionaries. Jevded then called on the Armenian bishop to visit him. The bishop refused. Thereupon Jevded descended upon the "rebellious" city of Van with an army of 8,000 Turks and Kurds and called on the people to lay down their arms, surrender without conditions and trust to the clemency of the sultan. This offer was made through the Italian consul.

Of the 50,000 Armenians in Van, only 450 were armed—250 with rifles and the rest with revolvers. For 29 days this handful defended the city. On the 30th day, General Oganesov arrived with his Armenian volunteers and Russian regulars and the Turks retreated.

Conditions were at that time frightful, as the only doctor in the city to look after the sick and wounded had been Dr. Allen, an American missionary. But with the Russians came help, and doctors and nurses soon arrived from Tiflis. Committees were appointed to aid the sufferers, and the peasants started in to till the fields and rebuild their homes.

THE SENTINEL'S DAILY SCRIPTURE READING.

Exodus 11:1-10.

1 And the Lord said unto Moses, Yet will I bring one plague more upon Pharoah, and upon Egypt; afterwards he will let you go hence, when he shall let you go, he shall surely thrust you out hence altogether.

2 Speak now in the ears of the people, and let every man borrow of his neighbour, and every woman of her neighbour, jewels of silver, and jewels of gold.

3 And the Lord gave the people favour in the sight of the Egyptians. Moreover the man Moses was very great in the land of Egypt, in the sight of Pharaoh's servants, and in the sight of the people.

4 And Moses said, Thus saith the Lord, About midnight will I go out into the midst of Egypt:

5 And all the firstborn in the land of Egypt shall die, from the firstborn of Pharoah that sitteth upon his throne, even unto the firstborn of the maidservant that is behind the mill; and all the firstborn of beasts.

6 And there shall be a great cry throughout all the land of Egypt, such as there was none like it, nor shall be like it any more.

7 But against any of the children of Israel shall not a dog move his tongue, against man or beast; that ye may know how that the Lord doth put a difference between the Egyptians and Israel.

8 And all these thy servants shall come down unto me, and bow down themselves unto me, saying, Get thee out, and all the people that follow thee: and after that I will go out. And he went out from Pharaoh in a great anger.

9 And the Lord said unto Moses, Pharaoh shall not hearken unto you; that my wonders may be multiplied in the land of Egypt.

10 And Moses and Aaron did all these wonders before Pharaoh: and the Lord hardened Pharoah's heart, so that he would not let the children of Israel go out of his land.

The Riley Birthday Celebration.

To few men has been given the experience that will be James Whitcomb Riley's on Thursday when the Hoosier poet will see a celebration of his birth anniversary that will be practically nation-wide. We observe the birthdays of many who have achieved greatness in one form or another, but we usually wait until they are dead and pay tardy honor to their memory rather than acknowledgment at a time while they are still among us and able to appreciate the roses of good-will and affection scattered before them.

There is something unusually fine in the Riley birthday celebration idea. It started a few years ago when school children at Mr. Riley's home city, Indianapolis, marched en masse to the poet's home in Lockerbie street to place before him the wreath of their unmeasured love and affection for the singer who knows the childish heart as no other poet of this or any other age has known it. Year by year since that time the celebration of the poet's anniversary has taken on new and added momentum until there is scarcely a city or town in all America in which on Thursday there will not be some recognition of the anniversary of this poet of childhood and of age as well. At Indianapolis there will be an elaborate banquet at which the most distinguished sons of Indiana will pay tribute to his genius and his tenderness. Other states have taken it up, and Secretary Lane has taken occasion to suggest that the observance be universal.

The schools will have a very large part in doing this honor to Mr. Riley, and we think this is precisely as the poet would wish it—for the children are his friends, true and unwavering in their love and their devotion. It will be gratifying to Mr. Riley to have the gifted and the great pay him distinguished honor, but his real joy will come from the part the children will play in the occasion. Indiana is proud to claim Mr. Riley, but he belongs no less to the entire American people, and the celebration of his sixty-second birthday on Thursday will be the expression not merely of a city or of a state, but of a nation which has been thoughtful enough to attest its regard while the recipient of so notable a tribute is yet here to receive it.

Recent arrests in connection with illegal purchases of narcotic drugs in Fort Wayne should make it apparent that the good results achieved by the new federal law in its effort to stamp out the drug habit are not to be lost by permitting a lapse into former looseness in the traffic in "dope." In the present instance the charge is not against either druggist or physician, but against a man who is charged with having forged a physician's prescription in order to obtain the drug. The penalty for violation is quite as severe in one case as in the other, and no form of violation of it is entitled to any leniency whatever.

The real menace in the Mexican situation appears to have leaked out at last. The telegraph wires are now bringing the momentous news that disorder below the Rio Grande is liable to strike a death blow at the chewing gum industry because it is cutting off the supply of something or other that forms the basis of chewing gum. After this no doubt even the most vehement opponents of armed intervention will be constrained to withdraw their objection to quick and decisive action. In the face of a peril like this there is no time for mollycoddling.

Colonel Roosevelt, now on a hunting expedition in Canada, has made affidavit at Quebec that he was forced to break the game laws by killing a moose in order to have his own life. In the absence of specific details we may assume that perhaps the moose demanded that the colonel accept the progressive nomination for the presidency again next year. In any event like that we think an unbiased jury would at once declare the colonel's action justifiable self-defense.

The United States treasury deficit for the fiscal year is reported at $31,593,180, but it will be observed that your Uncle Samuel is doing no worrying over so little a thing as that. So many other burdens have been cast upon his shoulders by the European war that a treasury deficit has come to possess only relative importance. Uncle Sam always manages to find the money when he needs it, somehow.

Wheat grown by William Tritch, a DeKalb county farmer, entered in the competition at the San Francisco exposition, has just been awarded the gold medal as the best grain shown from Indiana. Northeastern Indiana has never done a great deal of boasting along the line of grain-raising, but Mr. Tritch has gone quietly about demonstrating what she can do in a practical way when she sets herself at the task.

FEMININE "DAVID HARUM" GETS RICH BY SWAPPING.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 5.—"David Harum" has been outdone by a woman, Mrs. F. E. Woodbury, of this city.

She has made a game of trading a fascinating, profitable game, that has netted her $22,000 worth of real estate and merchandise in a short time.

Starting with 18 beautiful imported gowns. Then came a dentist's kit, rare Woodbury started to barter "for the fun of it." Fine clothes, she discovered, will always find a market. The game grew more interesting with each exchange, and more profitable.

A piano was secured for one of the gowns. Then came a dentist's kit, rare specimens of birds, collections of wonderful baskets, and wonderful paintings for others. Finally real estate and more substantial possessions.

According to Mrs. Woodbury, every one likes a "swap," which accounts for the amount of property gained by her in many shrewd transactions.

THE CORSET DE LUXE REDFERN

"Through the courtesy of the manufacturers of Redfern Corsets, we announce the visit of one of their designing staff, Miss Ida Lewis, who will spend a few days in our Corset Department, beginning Thursday, Oct. 7. This associate designer will be pleased to discuss your corset problems and give you personal attention in fitting the new Redfern models best adapted to your figure. You are cordially invited to call at any hour or make definite appointment by mail or telephone."

OUR CORSET SERVICE

Corset service is not merely careful fitting. This, to be sure, is an important part, but equally important is the selection of styles that are strictly in accord with Fashion's dictates.

There are many makes to choose from. Our selection must be done with infinite care—and we are justly proud of what we have.

This season, busts and skirts are practically as they were in the Spring, but there are minor changes in shape and lines that we are pleased to show.

The details are too many to tell you here, but we will be pleased to show them by careful fittings with the new Redfern styles for Fall.

May we expect a visit and explain our corset service?

(Indianapolis News).

The Indiana State Federation of Labor adopted certain resolutions and rejected others at its recent meeting in Gary. It is more to be congratulated on its refusals than on its acceptances, and the Indiana public will be glad to note that leaders in the labor meeting expressed a conservative judgment, which well reflects the temper of the whole body. For this, however, the committee on resolutions was primarily responsible. It declined to indorse resolutions protesting against war preparedness; denouncing the exportation of war munitions; condemning the Indiana National guard; attacking Judge Anderson, of the federal district court in Indianapolis, and calling for the prosecution of one of the Rockefellers in connection with alleged perjured testimony given before the commission on industrial relations.

These resolutions struck at persons and institutions. Criticism of Judge Anderson was based partly on the court's actions in the dynamite trial. Rejection of this resolution is noteworthy. Equally conspicuous is the failure to attack Mr. Rockefeller. The federation did well not to condemn the national guard, for the guard, as an institution, is a valuable and much-needed part of the state government. The opinion on preparedness and on the exportation of war materials were properly excluded from the federation's official records. The Indiana federation had in this respect the help offered by the American Federation of Labor's attitude. American labor, union and unorganized, is a unit when the matter of patriotism is at stake. Often much trouble is avoided by refraining from too free expression.

The judicious attitude of the Indiana federation affords an illustration of the trend of all American labor bodies. The era of emotionalism is passing. Those organizations have the most weight—and command the most respect—which study their official words well, refusing to be stampeded into unjust denunciation on the one hand or flattered into unmerited approval on the other. The action of the resolutions committee was entirely acceptable to the convention, as was shown by the rising vote of thanks.

IS THE SUBMARINE BEATEN?

(Pittsburgh Dispatch).

British reports of the destruction of between 50 and 75 German undersea boats, accomplished by the aid of submarine telephony electric signaling systems, under-water nets and a horde of swift patrol boats and aeroplanes, are regarded by Washington naval experts as proof that the submarine has been vastly overestimated. The popular notion of the value of the submarines has not been echoed by the naval authorities, Secretary Daniels notwithstanding. Daniels, or any other civilian secretary, is little better qualified to judge professional and technical questions than the man in the street who has assumed rather hastily that the submarine has rendered the super-dreadnaught obsolete. The popular fancy is caught by the spectacular, whereas the professional is expected to study a subject in all its phases.

Accepting the British reports at their face, it would be just as foolish to jump to the conclusion that the submarine has been beaten. They mean only that its possibilities have been restricted. It still remains a most valuable weapon, but not the only one. The dreadnoughts have not been tested. Possibly the experts may discover that their dependence on them has been excessive. The need for battle cruisers, long ignored at Washington, is now admitted. The value of the hastily improvised mosquito fleet of motor boats, yachts and other small craft by England to meet the submarine peril shows that however impressive the super-dreadnoughts may be, an effective navy must include provision for every available type.

The matter of the annual home-coming of all luminl to be held on October 16 will be discussed.

AUTO STRIKES BOY.

Lawrence Kramer is Knocked From His Bicycle and Painfully Hurt.

Lawrence Kramer, 11 years old, residing at 715 Lavina street, was struck by an automobile owned and driven by George J. Schott, 1320 Washington boulevard west, Monday afternoon, and knocked from his bicycle. The lad sustained a gashed chin, with other cuts and bruises and injuries about his head and shoulders. He was removed to St. Joseph hospital. The accident occurred at College street and Washington boulevard.

Louis S. C. Schroeder, superintendent of the Fort Wayne office of the Indiana Free Employment bureau, has gone to Indianapolis to attend the grand lodge meeting of the Knights of Pythias.

A MERCILESS JUDGE

One Who Shows No Favor.

A merciless judge is Father Time. Before him the weak and the wanting go to the wall. Only the truth can stand. For years the following statement from a Fort Wayne resident has withstood this sternest of all tests.

Mrs. Louisa Elbert, 1236 Summit St., Ft. Wayne, says: "My back pained me and there was weakness across my loins. Knowing how greatly Doan's Kidney Pills had helped another of my family, I got a supply. They soon removed the trouble and I have had no sign of it since. I do not think Doan's Kidney Pills have an equal." (Statement given April 19, 1906.)

After a Lapse of Over Six Years

Mrs. Elbert said: "I have had no return of kidney trouble since Doan's Kidney Pills cure me."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Elbert has twice publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.—Advertisement.

PSYCHOLOGIST WILL ADDRESS QUEST CLUB

The first meeting of the Quest club for the season will be held Friday evening at the Anthony hotel, at which time Professor Walter Dill Scott, dean of psychology at the University of Chicago, will be the principal speaker. The lecture will follow a sumptuous banquet. Professor Scott is known throughout the country as both a psychologist and a lecturer. Members of the Quest club are looking forward to a most profitable winter.

NEW CONSOLIDATED SCHOOLS.

Buildings May Be Erected in Three Townships Within Near Future.

Three new consolidated school buildings are contemplated in Allen county in St. Joseph, Aboite and Lake townships. Aboite township has gone so far as to have had plans drawn, but no work will be done on the proposed new structure before next year.

W. B. Merrill, member of the board of directors of the Indiana Poster Advertising association, has returned from Indianapolis, where he attended a meeting of the officials of the organization.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

What the Sentinel Had to Say About Persons and Events Twenty-Five Years Ago.

William Goodfellow, of Calhoun street, has returned from a visit to Kendallville.

Rev. M. J. Byrne, of the Cathedral clerical staff, has gone to Cincinnati.

Miss Josie Page, of East Jefferson street, entertained the Cooking club yesterday.

Isador Lehman, the shoe merchant, has returned from a business trip to Chicago.

Ground was broken this week for an addition to the parish rooms of Trinity Episcopal church.

The members of the congregation of Simpson M. E. church gave a surprise party on their pastor, Rev. J. Meritte Driver, and presented him with a purse of $75.

Benjamin Rothschild has returned from Louisville, Ky., where he looked after the land interests of a Fort Wayne syndicate of which he is a party.

The venerable Peter Kiser, one of the earliest pioneers and business men of Fort Wayne and one of the most widely known citizens who ever resided here, dropped dead yesterday afternoon and his body was found in the rear of a building on East Columbia street, where evidently he had sat down to rest. He had been living for several years with ex-Justice John Dolan, southwest of the city, and had come to the city yesterday with Mr. Dolan, spending some time visiting friends about town. He was born in Montgomery county, Ohio, in August, 1805, and at his death was the oldest pioneer citizen of the city. In 1825 Mr. Kiser was employed by Gen. John Tipton, then Indian agent at Fort Wayne, to furnish the meat rations for the Indians during treaties and other councils with them. He erected the first market house here in 1835 and was then the only butcher in the town. Later he engaged in general mercantile business, from which he retired several years ago. He was initiated a member of Wayne lodge of Masons in 1828. Twice he represented Allen county in the state legislature.

Johnny Haas, Aged 98 Years, is Buried at Columbia City.

Columbia City, Ind., Oct. 5.—Funeral services will be held here this afternoon over the remains of Johnny Haas, who at the time of his death was the oldest resident of Whtley county, having reached the age of 98 years and 9 months. Death was the outcome of a fall he sustained two weeks ago, from the back porch at the residence of his son-in-law, Silas Deardorf, with whom he made his home. His health, for one of his years, had been good up to that time. Mr. Haas was born in Berne, Switzerland, December 24, 1816, and grew to manhood there, where he married and became the father of three children. In 1853 the family came to America and five other children were born in this country. Mrs. Haas died in 1882. After living in Ohio and in Chicago Mr. and Mrs. Haas came to Whitley county.

WARSAW MAN ARRESTED.

RED SWEATER INFLAMES BULL.

Bluffton, Ind., Oct. 5.—A grandson of J. E. Haecker, residing southeast of Bluffton, had an unpleasant experience when he was chased by an angry bull and had to take refuge under a wagon until he could call Mr. Haecker, who chased the animal away with a pitchfork. The boy angered the bull by venturing too close to him while wearing a bright red sweater. He escaped without any injuries.

LAD BREAKS LEG IN FALL.

TAKING DOWN EXPOSITION TENT.

Auburn, Ind., Oct. 5.—The work of lowering the tent for the industrial exhibit was begun on Monday morning by employes of the Wolf Tent and Awning company of Fort Wayne, who own the tents. Men were also at work tearing down the booths in which the exhibits were housed. Decorations were also removed on Monday morning and by afternoon the city again resumed its normal appearance.

MENTONE MAN STRICKEN.

Warsaw, Ind., Oct. 5.—While en route home from Warsaw, where he had been attending the fair, A. G. Wertenberger, of Mentone, died suddenly as a result of a stroke of apoplexy which he suffered while driving an automobile. Death occurred at the home of Merl Tinkey, three miles west of this city, where he was taken when his illness was noticed. The deceased was about 55 years of age and was a prominent retired hardware merchant of Mentone. In his immediate family he is survived only by his wife.

LIFTS TOO MUCH; BREAKS ARM.

Bluffton, Ind., Oct. 5.—Dan Gilliom, of the firm of Gilliom Brothers, seriously injured his left arm Sunday evening while handling some heavy machinery. He knew at the time that he had hurt the member but gave it no consideration and found yesterday that he could not use it. A doctor discovered a fracture of the forearm and placed the member in splints. It will keep him from working for several weeks.

ANGOLA FAIR IS OPEN.

Angola, Ind., Oct. 5.—The annual district fair at Angola opened today and will continue daily through the remainder of the week. It is being advertised as "bigger and better than ever!" Purses of $2,800 will be distributed in the horse races, and $5,000 will be awarded in purses and premiums. The feature free attraction will be Miss Ruth Bancroft Law, the noted lady aviator, who will make daily flights in the morning and afternoon.

AGED COUPLE REUNITED.

Auburn, Ind., Oct. 5.—Alexander Flint, aged 79, and his former wife, Emaline Flint, aged 71, after a separation of sixteen years, procured a marriage license here and were remarried. They separated after a quarrel in 1899. The husband went west and the wife procured a divorce. Recently he returned and the old love was rekindled. The marriage resulted. The couple will reside near Butler.

Lawrence, Kas., Oct. 5.—Mrs. Amy Winship, 84 years old, registered at the University of Kansas last week. She is the oldest college student in the United States. Mrs. Winship will take regular class work in psychology, sociology and history at the university.

Mrs. Winship has made going to college her hobby because she likes to be among college students and to get new ideas, she says. She became interested in advance study six years ago, while visiting an acquaintance who was attending Ohio State University. She attended classes one day and found the lectures so interesting that she stayed until the end of the term.

When she went back to her home in Wisconsin she enrolled at the University of Wisconsin and took a regular 4-year course in the college of liberal arts and sciences.

Leaving the University of Wisconsin, she started on a tour, stopping a week or two at large schools and hearing lectures. She has attended Johns Hopkins university, the University of Texas, the University of Missouri, Iowa State university and the University of Illinois.

TRAIN BANDIT IDENTIFIED.

Edward Loftus Is Man Who Held Up Messenger at Arcadia.

Columbus, O., Oct. 5.—Edward Loftus, who gave himself up to the police here last Saturday, was identified yesterday by Ralph Williams, the express messenger, as the bandit who held up and robbed the express car of a Lake Erie & Western passenger train of $2,500 near Indianapolis on the night of September 15, according to an announcement by the police.

The police said Loftus confessed to the robbery of the epress car. Indianapolis officers are expected here today to take him back to Indiana.

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and abundant with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair fell out or took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle for about 50 cents. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and is splendid for dandruff, dry, itchy scalp and falling hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and abundant.—Advertisement.

Not a Reformer is This Woman's Slogan

Dr Lillian C. Irwin

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 5.—Dr. Lillian C. Irwin, first woman candidate for the school board here, is making her campaign on the announcement that she is not a "reformer."

"I don't believe," she declares, "in too much reform." In this regard Mrs. Irwin differs radically from nearly all women who are entering the field of politics and social service.

She was urged to run by the Women's Good Government league of Seattle.

"It seems," she said, "the most logical step in our civic life to have a woman on the board of education."

Dr. Lillian Irwin has practiced medicine in Oregon, Alaska and Seattle, following her graduation from Stanford university, Cal., and was prior to that a school teacher in New York and Oregon.

PUT INDIANA MAN ON THRIFT BOARD

Appointment of Milo H. Stuart Announced by President Aley.

Chicago, Oct. 5.—Indiana, the ancient home of thrift in America, is to take a prominent part in the nation-wide campaign now in progress to bring Americans back to those sturdy habits of thrift and frugality which characterized our New England ancestors.

Announcement was made today of the appointment of Milo H. Stuart, superintendent of the Manual Training high school, Indianapolis, Ind., as a member of the thrift board of the National Education association. The appointment was made by President R. J. Aley, of the University of Maine, who was delegated at the recent national meeting of the educators held in Oakland, Cal., to select the nine persons in America best suited to canvass the whole thrift problem with a view of making recommendations within a period of two years, respecting methods to be employed in teaching thrift in the public schools of America.

This committee also will supervise the essay contest to be conducted by the National Education association. A series of prizes ranging from $10 to $75 each are to be awarded through the committee for the best essays on the subject of "Thrift." Some of these prizes are for school children only, and others are for adults only. S. W. Straus, president of the American Society for Thrift, and a member of the National Education association's thrift committee, has agreed to finance the entire cost of this work in the interest of thrift in America.

Superintendent Stuart was placed on the National Thrift board because of his national recognition as a manual training authority.

TWO CHILDREN HAD CROUP.

The two children of J. W. Nix, merchant of Cleveland, Ga., had croup last winter. One was a boy of 6, the other a girl of 8 years. Mr. Nix writes: "Both got so choked up they could hardly breathe and couldn't talk. I gave them Foley's Honey and Tar and nothing else and it entirely cured them." This reliable medicine should be in every home for it gives immediate relief from colds, coughs and croup, heals raw, inflamed throat and loosens phlegm. Dreier Drug Co.—Advertisement.

TOUCHED BY MOTHER'S PLEA.

Sheriff of Vanderburg County Obtains Release of Prisoner.

Evansville, Ind., Oct. 5.—Touched by the plea of a mother, who has no other support and the story of five children at home with no means of procuring food, William Habbe, sheriff of Vanderburg county, obtained the release of Curtis Smith, charged with forgery. Smith was indicted a few days ago by the grand jury.

About a year ago Smith was arrested here on the charge of having held up and robbed a grocer, and he was sentenced in the state reformatory. After he had served about six months a negro was arrested and confessed the crime of which Smith was convicted. Smith obtained his freedom and the negro was sent to prison in Smith's place.

Edison has constructed a little voice-mill which will work at the bidding of the voice. If a mother fixes one to a cradle, the cradle will rock as the baby cries, and continue to do so in proportion to the outcry.

Modern Atalanta in Pose that Will Develop Health, Beauty, Grace

Kay Laurell, Famous beauty of "Ziegfeld Follies"

Atalanta, goddess of Greek mythology, was the embodiment of womanly grace and strength. In the Louvre, Paris, Atalanta still lives in imperishable marble.

America's famous 1915 beauty, Kay Laurell of Ziegfeld's Follies, in the accompanying illustration has posed as a modern Atalanta and urges all women who desire health, grace and beauty to practice it as an exercise.

Here's one good way to do it: Inhale deeply for seven counts and on the last count swing the weight forward on the right foot, just as if starting to run, throwing the right arm up and the left arm back, as shown in the illustration. Hold this position and breathe for three counts; return to normal position as you exhale, in seven counts.

AT THE TEMPLE.

FORT WAYNE GIRL IN CAST.

Miss Estelle Greek Appearing in "Third Party" at Temple.

Miss Estelle Greek, a Fort Wayne girl, who is home on a brief vacation, after having appeared continuously for several seasons with the United Plays company's productions, is a member of the cast of the farce comedy, "The Third Party," in which the Temple players last night opened a week's run. Fort Wayne's talented daughter was given an enthusiastic reception last night. "The Third Party" is quite the biggest laugh of the season. It is an amazing series of ludicrous situations that shift naturally from Cafe Royale to the country home of the Maxwells. A young man-about-town has succeeded in getting himself selected as male chaperon for a member of parliament and his dining companion, a pretty dancing girl. When friend wife appears, the chaperon introduces the dancer as his wife and the entire party adjourns to the home of the errant husband's uncle and aunt. Complications pile up with amazing rapidity and each is met with an excuse more ludicrous and absurd than its predecessor. .

LOIE DACRE AMUSES MANY.

Champagne Girls Intoxicate Empress Audiences With Pleasure.

The Champagne Girls, who are appearing at the Empress this week are very intoxicating—but kind reader, do not misconstrue the meaning, for they will not make you feel quite as boistress as the champagne with its percentage of alcohol would. But at the same time will make you just as happy. Gussie White, the clever little soubrette, is fast becoming a Fort Wayne favorite. She is a Broadway soubrette with Broadway ideas, and is without a doubt one of the very best. Bert Saunders and Lew Golden are two top notch comedians. Loie Dacre, who has made more people laugh in the world than a score of other comediennes put together, will appear at each performance. You positively will never hear any of these songs Loie Dacre sings unless you see her at the Empress this week, for each of her numbers are restricted and anyone using them would be dealt with accordingly.

Switches will be unknown among women when they give as much care and attention to the hair as they do to the face and hands. Women troubled with dandruff and falling hair, thin, scraggly hair will do well to shampoo at least twice a month with a teaspoonful of eggol dissolved in a cup of hot water. This will remove all excess oil, dirt and dandruff. A simple and delightful hair tonic to be used in connection can be made very easily by mixing half a pint of water with half a pint of alcohol and adding one ounce of beta-quinol, massaging this simple tonic into the scalp nightly will soon stop the hair from falling, kill all the dandruff germs and soon produce a fine, gossy and luxuriant growth.

Not so much the big wrinkles, but the little ones are what rob the face of its youthful appearance. No matter how faithfully and vigorously you massage the face, there will be no perceptible result unless the proper article is used. If you will get from your druggist about two ounces of powdered eptol, dissolve it in half a pint of hot water, you will have a remarkable wrinkle remover that will in a short time produce a startling change, making the face plump and youthful to a marked degree.

Fashions decree that arms and neck should be entirely devoid of those ugly hairs. Using pastes, powders and razors only strengthens the roots so the hairs grow thicker and stronger than before. Next to the electric needle, the only safe, sure and painless way is to dissolve the hairs. Get from your druggist one ounce of simple sulfo solution; apply freely to the hairs and in about three minutes they will be dissolved away entirely, leaving the skin soft and white without any irritation whatever.

Society

Miss Mary Sibray, of West Wayne street, is in New York City for a few days' stay.

Mrs. T. B. Jenkinson, of Boston, Ind., is here on a visit to Mrs. John Anderson, of South Calhoun street.

Mrs. Olive Green, of Lake avenue, has come home from Saginaw, Mich., where she visited her brother, Dr. R. L. Dixon.

The Dywyki club will be entertained on Wednesday afternoon by Mrs. Arney, of Taylor street.

Miss Hillis Draver left Tuesday for Scarsdale, N. Y., to resume her studies at Ingleside school.

The Neighborly club will be entertained by Mrs. Chester I. Hall on Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Mary C. Ewing has returned from a visit with relatives in Baltimore, Md.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Taylor are expected home on Wednesday from Mackinac Island, Mich.

Mrs. Norah Bash Hughes has arrived to remain during the winter with her son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hughes, of 716 Rockhill street.

Mr. and Mrs. John Ferguson, of West Berry street, are visiting their son and family and daughter and her family in Paducah, Ky.

Misses Adelaide and Henrietta Lovenberger of East Creighton avenue, have returned from a two weeks' visit in Cleveland.

Rev. Samuel Wagenhals is in Chicago attending a directors' meeting of the Theological seminary but will return home on Thursday.

Miss Clelia Voirol, of 602 Putnam street, left Tuesday for visits with relatives in Cleveland and other Ohio towns.

Mrs. Neil McLachlan has returned to Minneapolis, Minn., after making a few days' visit here with Mr. and Mrs. James McKay, of Lakeside.

Mrs. Oscar Fox, of West Wayne street, has gone to Chicago for a visit with relatives for a few days. Mrs. Fox has but recently returned from a summer outing in Bethlehem, N. H.

Mrs. A. Korn, of Swinney avenue, left on Monday for Detroit, Mich., to attend the wedding of her nephew, Walter Huser. Mr. Huser is a native of this city, but has lived in Detroit the greater part of his life.

Mrs. Carrie S. Geseman has returned to Louisville, Ky., after a six weeks' holiday, part of which she spent with her father and sisters, H. C. Schrader and the Misses Schrader, of Rockhill street.

Miss Irene Bowman gave a dinner party on Monday evening in honor of her aunt, Mrs. Barcus, of Albion. Music was furnished during the evening by Miss Marguerite Wirth, soloist, and Miss Georgia Wirth and the hostess who sang a duet.

Little Mildred Krudop was fortunate in having her birthday anniversary come on such a warm and beautiful day as Saturday was and in the afternoon there was a gathering at the Krudop home in Madison street to enjoy Mildred's party. A merry time out of doors was followed by refreshments of a birthday cake and other sweets in the house. Red candles were burning on the birthday cake, a tiny red taper stood at each place and a basket of candies for each guest, all signified a birthday party.

Their tenth wedding anniversary was the cause of a merry company of friends gathering at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Kress, of Saturday evening, at their home, 811 Harmar street. The guests were members of a Moose degree team and there was fun enough for twice as many people as were present. Those who had part in the celebration were Messrs. and Mesdames W. F. Meyers, A. J. Fanz, J. F. Fachnrich, C. F. Ploor, L. C. Horstmeyer, J. A. Majors, E. J. Poinsette, J. E. Webber, A. W. Weisenberger, J. J. Horstman, E. A. Magee, J. B. Horstman, E. H. Reed, C. J. Whiting, O. A. Schaphorst, O. A. Eble, J. H. Dailey, H. H. Heuer, W. F. Albrecht, C. B. Getty, O. W. Bitner, J. W. Meyers, C. C. Bolde, R. J. Stetter, Frank Edgell.

Members of the Grotto Tennis club gave Mr. and Mrs. Charles Griffith, of Cass street, a pleasant surprise on Saturday evening by calling at their home to play bunco and otherwise have a good time. A handsome but very practical gift was presented to Mr. and Mrs. Griffith by the club and a supper altogether appetizing was served and disposed of. Everybody had a splendid time and Mr. and Mrs. Griffith headed the list. Those who had part in this jolly affair were: Dr. and Mrs. C. L. Baird, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gaskill, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Palmer, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Kintz, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Fox, Mr. and Mrs. Aller, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rhodes, Mr. and Mrs. Jess Hostler, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Keller, James G. Carmen, Miss Gertrude Miller, Miss Beatrice Fox, Wayne Bell, George Blakesley and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Dunten, of Huntertown.

A pretty home wedding to take place Tuesday evening was that of Miss Gertrude Seeley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Almon W. Seeley, and Mr. Ray W. Fish, older son of R. R. Fish, of West DeWald street. The wedding will take place at the home of the bride in Andrew street, at 6 o'clock in the evening. The ceremony is to be performed by Rev. Frank Hickman, of Greencastle, a relative of the bride. There will be no attendants to the bridal couple A musical program is to be given preceding the ceremony by Miss Irene Frances Rohyans, pianist, and Abraham Jones, violinist. A wedding dinner will be served to fifty people. The bride and groom are to go to Chicago on their wedding trip and are to go to housekeeping in this city as soon as their new home is finished. The groom is the Indiana representative of the Sandusky, Courtland Cement company. Many beautiful parties and showers of gifts have been given for the bride, who is very popular among her many friends.

Will Give Annual Recital.

Miss Helene Spindler will give her annual piano recital in Elks' hall on Friday evening with the famous Scotch basso, David Baxter, assisting. Miss Spindler's progress has been marked and her attainment is such that she affords keen pleasure to all her hearers, whether they be hypercritical or merely lovers of good music. Mr. Baxter has been heard in Fort Wayne and his voice and methods were received with much enthusiasm then so his name on a concert program means something worth while artistically and as a matter of real delight.

A Country Party.

Mr. and Mrs. William Monk and family, of Batesville, this state, were honored on Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kahn, in the country. Mr. and Mrs. Monk are visiting their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. John Kroemer, and a dinner was given in their honor on Friday by Mrs. Kroemer. Guests at one of these delightful parties were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cook and family, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kahn, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Crissinger and son, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Kroemer, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Klotz and family and Mr. and Mrs. George Kahn.

Huth-Wagemann.

A quiet wedding of recent date was that of Miss Irene Wagemann and Mr. Leonard Huth, which took place on Sept. 30 at the parsonage of St. Andrew's church. Rev. Father Horstman officiated at the ceremony. Miss Ella Tivenan, of Upper Sandusky, O., and Mr. Charles Hock, of this city, were attendants. Following the ceremony a wedding supper was served at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Wagemann, 1709 Fletcher avenue. The bride and groom will make their home for the present with the bride's parents.

GENERAL CULTURE CLUB.

Work Begins This Week—Outline of Year Portends Deep Study.

The General Culture club opens its season's work on Thursday with a meeting at the home of Mrs. F. A. Emrick. There will be a reading of "Alibi Jim" and a discussion of current events. Mrs. Archibald has the program. The club has a miscellaneous program outlined for the year, but the topics selected are of importance and much out of the ordinary. The constitution of Indiana and why a new one is desired is one study subject. "Educating for Citizzenship," "The Double Standard," "Alaska," "The Age of Mother Power," "Famous Living Americans," "The Negroes and Indians as Citizens," "Servia," "Belgium," "Immigration," "Socialism," "Industrial Warfare" and "The Temperance Reform" and the big subjects with many minor ones easier to elaborate upon and always current events for casual conversation. Officers of the club are: President, Mrs. C. H. Brown; vice-president, Mrs. Lou Kelsey; second vice-president, Mrs. H. E. Frank; secretary, Mrs. G. W. Fitzsimmons; treasurer, Mrs. B. F. Sarver.

AT THE MAJESTIC.

"Don't Lie to Your Wife" at the Majestic Wednesday.

If Campbell B. Casad, the author of "Don't Lie to Your Wife," which will be seen at the Majestic tomorrow matinee and night, hadn't been arrested for speeding his automobile, that merry semi-musical farce would never have been written; like all newspaper men when cornered in some complication, he has made the most of the opportunity as rapidly as the complications of a humorous nature occurred to him. The author, while waiting for a bondsman, jotted them down, weaving them ultimately into one of the best farces that has been offered to the theater-going public in a long time.

The scenery is the same model as used in the four months' run at the Whitney opera house, Chicago, and is rich and showy.

This Girl Literally Dances Through Dreamland.

The frivolous Fort Wayne youths who dance away all their waking hours finally have been outdone. Here is a dance inventor who actually dances in her sleep.

Miss Beatrice Allen, leading lady of Joseph Santley's "All Over Town," a rollicking musical revue, which comes to the Majestic theater Saturday for Matinee and evening performances, bears the peculiar distinction of working out her most intricate dances while in dreamland.

Miss Allen asserts that her subconscious mind begins work as soon as she touches the feathered mattress at night. It is in these strange adventures in dreamland that she has found most of her original steps.

QUAINT WING-LIKE DRAPERIES FLUTTER ON NEW DANCING FROCKS.

By Betty Brown.

Panniers that look like gay colored wings adorn many of the new evening gowns and they are especially pretty when the panniered frock is worn for dancing as the fluttering drapery gives an airy butterfly effect to the costume.

This wing-like drapery is emphasized in a model recently designed by Mme. Alla Ripley of the Fashion Art league of America. The panniered skirt which is elaborately draped in cascade effect at the back is made of taffeta in the new mulberry red shade, and the under skirt is formed of two flounces of embroidered white chiffon. The mulberry color is repeated in the tiny rose buds embroidered on the edge of each flounce, and again in the band of velvet at the bottom of the skirt. The bodice is a filmy thing of embroidered net cut square in front but fashioned surplice style in the back so as to form a deep V.

The girdle of fitch edged with fluted silk gives the inevitable "touch of fur" seen this season on everything from overcoats to evening frocks.

"The Fatal Card," by C. Maddon Chambers and B. C. Stephenson, is recorded in theatrical annals as one of the most forceful dramas ever produced on the American stage. The elaborate manner in which the photoplay has been constructed and the perfect and effectively harmonious characterizations of John Mason and Hazel Dawn make the subject one of the most dramatically absorbing screen creations of the day.

The usual installment of the Pathe News in addition. Thursday Pathe Gold Rooster Play, "Simon the Jester."

The screen version of "The Fatal Card" presents a series of dramatic thrills and shocks such as have rarely been crowded into a five-part motion picture. This breath-stealing feature will remain at the Jefferson again tomorrow.

AT THE JEFFERSON.

The five-part photo-adaption of "The Fatal Card," the latest Paramount picture at the Jefferson, aside from being a faithful screen version of one of the most notable American dramatic successes ever presented in film, is further distinguished by the fact that for the first time in the history of feature motion pictures, it jointly presents two artists of such individual importance as John Mason and Hazel Dawn.

Mrs. Sam Salmon, residing on Harrison street, is confined to her home as the result of injuries sustained last Thursday when she fell while walking down Calhoun street.

The C. B. L. of L. will give a pedro and dance in the hall on East Main street Wednesday evening. A novel dance for Hallowe'en night has also been planned for the evening of Oct. 27.

By Betty Brown.

The three-piece suit—the tailored frock with fancy blouse—is one of the practical costumes fashion has brought forth again this fall and quite the smartest model I've seen was a design in navy blue imperial crepe made by Mme. Bailey, of the Fashion Art League of America.

The jacket which is a trifle long, is made with the graceful ripple that is so modish this season, and pipings of black patent leather add to its smart severity. The skirt is box pleated with tucked panels on either side and there's a short yoke in front.

The blouse is blue chiffon and fillet lace and the chiffon set on in reveres give the airy-fairy waist a pretty tailored effect.

Injunction Suit Prepared Against County Auditor Johnson.

The city of Fort Wayne will resist the attempt to assess a tax of 2 cents on the $100 valuation against city property by the Wayne township advisory board for general township purposes and City Attorney Guy Colerick has prepared a complaint for an injunction to restrain County Auditor Will Johnson from including this levy in the annual tax rate when it is published. The suit will be filed in the superior court where it is expected that Judge Yaple will decide as two other Indiana judges have already held, that the law is unconstitutional. Judge Denney, of Jay county, held last week that the law was invalid in a suit brought by Mayor C. A. Paddock, of Portland. If the law is so held it will save the taxpayers of Fort Wayne about $8,000. This law, which was passed by the last legislature, gives township advisory boards the right to levy a tax against cities or towns situated wholly within the township. The state accounting board has held that the law applies only as regards the township fund proper, but instead of reading fund the law reads "funds." Since the rearrangement of the township boundaries to make Wayne township include all those portions of Washington, St. Joe and Adams townships into which the city extended, Fort Wayne is brought within the law's scope. The Jay circuit court has held that only the poor fund levy of 5 cents as made by the township advisory board can be applied against Portland.

WILL TRY TO INTEREST BIDDERS.

Park Board Will Seek New Proposals for Paving Rudisill.

The park board, after having rejected the Bid of the Moellering Construction company to pave Rudisill avenue from Calhoun street to Broadway with asphalt macadam for $25,776.48 because it exceeded the estimate of the engineer, will readvertise for new proposals and will undertake to interest other bidders, perhaps some from the outside, in the work. The Moellering bid was the only one submitted Monday for grading and paving Rudisill. The board awarded contracts for boulevard improvements as follows: Constructing curb and gutter on Rudisill from Calhoun to Broadway and on north side from Calhoun to Fairfield and grading park strip on south side from South Wayne to Broadway, J. B. Grosjean, $5,321.25; grading Rudisill from Bowser avenue to Anthony and grading Anthony from Rudisill to Pontiac, Moellering Construction company, $4,841.28; sidewalks and combined curb and gutter on both sides of Rudisill from Calhoun to Piqua, J. B. Grosjean, $1,940. The board approved the estimates for constructing sidewalks on the north side of Rudisill from South Wayne avenue to Broadway and for curb and gutter on the same side from Fairfield to Broadway.

PLAN FOR PAYING LIGHT BILLS.

Secretary-Manager John Wessel and Auditor John Ault, of the city light and power works, plan a redistricting of the city for convenience of patrons in paying light bills. The dates of payment will be the 10th and 25th of each month. The city will be redistricted, the business district to be bounded by the Pennsylvania and Nickel Plate railroads on south and north and Harrison and Clinton streets on west and east. The residence districts will be divided by Calhoun street and each district will be subdivided into sixteen sections.

EFFICIENCY CLUB MEETING.

The officials and employes of the city will assemble in the council chamber Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock to take further steps for the organization of a municipal efficiency club for the promotion of better public service in the city government of Fort Wayne.

The Friars practice Tuesday night at League park. Captain Byroade has stayed awake nights figuring out new things to drill into his huskies, and the team that climbs into the Maxwell-Brisoes next Sunday will be a still better working organization than the one that shamed South Bend this week.

SOX PENNANT IS NO. 13 FOR BOSTONTOWN.

Harry Wright led the Boston Nationals to flags in 1877 and 1878, Meritt in 1883, Selee in 1891, 1892, 1893, 1897 and 1898, and Stallings in 1914.

The American league won in 1903 and 1904 with Jimmy Collins as manager; in 1912 with Jake Stahl and this year with Bill Carrigan.

The flag for the Philadelphia Nationals is their first in thirty-two years they have been in the league.

CENTRAL LEAGUERS IN SUNDAY GAME

Peru and Kokomo Independents pulled off a game Sunday that looked for all the world like a Central league affair. Red Hart hurled for Kokomo, Jake Holderman and Paul Beyers were in the Peru lineup, and Kelly, Deflaven, Wetzel and several other Central leaguers of seasons past were there.

All theaters in Chile must have fireproof curtains.

No More Half Century Grinds at Indianapolis Track, Says Fisher.

Indianapolis, Oct. 5.—Carl Fisher, president of the Indianapolis motor speedway, announced while en route from New York that the next speedway race slated for the Indianapolis speedway would be at 300 miles instead of 500, as has been the custom heretofore.

"I am convinced that the shorter race will be more popular with racegoing public for experience has taught us that 500 miles is a little too long to be enjoyed fully by the spectators," said Fisher.

Mr. Fisher said that he believed that all contests next year would be at 300 miles and that purses would be reduced accordingly to $30,000 instead of $50,000. When asked if the race May 30 would be for $30,000 instead of $50,000, Mr. Fisher said that he would be in a position later to make a statement on this angle of the race. He left the impression, however, with his auditors that the purse would be $30,000.

While in New York Fisher also took a healthy slam at those individuals who have been throwing mud at the speedways for purchasing race cars and campaigning them. In part Mr. Fisher said: "This talk of speedways commercializing the game is all rot. When we purchased the Peugeots and Maxwells we did so with the idea of strengthening the racing industry. American manufacturers have much to learn from their European brothers. We have purchased the best race cars in Europe so that our own manufacturers may study them and build cars along the same lines and perfect their own products. And we choose this time because if there ever was a time for the American manufacturers to gain on their competitors across the water this is the day and age when all of Europe is wrapped in a mighty conflict, making the manufacturing of automobiles practically impossible.

OILY TONGUES GREASE WAY TO PENNANTS

(By Brown Holmes, Special Report Writer, who spent several weeks with the world series contenders of the American and National leagues to get "inside dope").

A new type of manager will be seen in the world series this season, a type of manager who does not crack the big whip over the heads of his men and make them hustle through fear, but who rules by kindness.

Victory for Bill Carrigan, of the Boston Red Sox, or Pat Moran, of the Philadelphia Nationals, or both, in the American and National league pennant races, will mean victory for the "pat-on-the-back" brand of management.

The managers who have been in the big series in late years have been for the most part drivers. They were men who ruled mostly by the iron hand and dominated the play of their men in every department.

Connie Mack cannot be called a driver, but Carrigan and Moran are different even from the tail tactician of the Athletics.

I asked a player who had joined the Red Sox, after playing with several other teams, how he liked his new manager.

"I like him fine," said the player, "but if I didn't I wouldn't dare say so; there would be twenty ball players on the club ready to knock me down."

That shows how Carrigan stands with the men he is working with.

Carrigan was always just a ball player and when he became manager he remained a ball player. Most ball players who suddenly rise to authority forget they have been players themselves and become aloof and domineering.

Carrigan handles his men just as he wanted to be handled when he was in the ranks. He is boss, but he lets his players use their own judgment in a lot of cases, giving them credit for having brains.

Another thing players like about Carrigan is that there is no "second guess" with him. If he gets a hunch to make a play a certain way he makes it. If the play fails, he takes it as a matter of baseball. He does not alibi for himself or try to throw the blame on the players.

When it became evident early in the season that the Phils had a chance to land, Manager Pat Moran called the players together and said:

"I think you fellows can win the pennant this season if you want to. But you've got to get out there and hustle. Now, I'm not going to tell you what time to turn in at night and what time to get up in the morning or anything like that. If you fellows want to win you'll take care of those things yourself.

"I'm not going to set a lot of rules and stand around with a club to enforce them. I'm going to put this whole thing right up to you. If you want to win, be out there every day with the best you've got."

CINCINNATI REDS PLAY AT PAULDING

Next Thursday is going to be one of them there long to be remembered days down in Paulding. For the Cincinnati Reds are to invade that burg Thursday afternoon, there to do battle with the doughty Paulding independents.

It will be a gala day in Paulding. The poster proclaims as much. Whitie Miller, whose wife calls him John, will umpire, assisted by 500 fans. The business houses are to close at 2 o'clock. Automobiles will be admitted free to the grounds. The Cincinnati Northern train will be held till after the game. The flag will wave from the balcony of the Palace hotel. And you, each and all (so reads the poster), will be welcome. You will be as welcome as an office seeker with a campaign fund at a church fair.

"BILL" CARRIGAN

"PAT" MORAN

By Brown Holmes.

The managers who will meet in the world series, Bill Carrigan, of the Boston Red Sox, and Pat Moran, of the Phils, give a big boost to the catcher-manager proposition. Their success and the success of other managers who were catchers leads to the idea that men who see things from the backstop's viewpoint make good men to lead teams.

Nine managers who have been successful in recent years were catchers. Besides Carrigan and Moran, there are Connie Mack, Wilbert Robinson, Roger Bresnahan, Branch Rickey, Frank Chance, Clarence Rowland and Lee Fohl.

All of these managers have not won pennants, but they have shown the goods.

Carrigan and Moran represent two types of leaders—the playing manager and the bench manager.

Carrigan has been one of the real good catchers of the American league for years, and since he became manager, succeeding Jake Stahl, he has taken his regular turn with the windpad.

Moran, after he went to the Phils from the Cubs, became coach, then succeeded Red Dooin as manager. He is always in uniform and on the base lines and his baseball knowledge has been one of the club's big assets.

San Francisco player who recently won the national singles championship in the east, expects to retire fro mthe game for the remainder of the season, according to announcement today. Johnston returned home yesterday, accompanied by Clarence J. Griffin, also of San Francisco, who was Johnston's partner in their successful contest for the national doubles championship.

Nelson was one of eleven children.

PHILS PAID $500 FOR PENNANT.

Grover Alexander, world's greatest pitcher, who put the Phils in the world's series, cost the Phils $500.

GETTING LINED UP FOR WORLD SERIES

Philadelphia, Oct. 5.—The National league champions closed their regular schedule today by meeting Brooklyn in two contests and the next two days will be employed in getting the grounds and players in readiness for the opening of the world's series on Friday. There has been little or no betting here on the result.

Officials of the club and Philadelphia fans alike feel highly elated over the fact that President Wilson will be present at the second game of the series on Saturday. This is the first time the chief executive of the nation will have attended a world's series contest. The president and his party will view the game from a box near the center of the grandstand.

BAT NELSON SAYS SENTIMENT PROMPTS BIG CALL ON WELSH.

Pay to the Order of FREDDIE WELSH, IMMEDIATELY AFTER $10,000.00 FIGHTING ME A FINISH OR 45 ROUND BOUT—

Battling Nelson

Battling Nelson

(By Ringsider).

He wants to fight him so badly that he drew a check on his bank for $10,000, made payable to the order of the lightweight champion immediately after fighting Nelson to a finish or a forty-five round bout. The check was deposited with Promoter J. W. Coffroth and the latter given permission to secure telegraphic certification of the check.

"This is no bunk or press work," said Nelson, after signing the check. "The money goes as it lays. It is my guarantee that Welsh will be paid for his services if he agrees to meet me: if he accepts and a promoter is found, and I am sure quite a number of them will be only too anxious to handle the match.

"Welsh can make any other arrangements he pleases with the promoter. If I were not absolutely sure that I could beat Welsh I would not be foolish enough to give him $10,000 to fight me. I want that title to come back to America and it will if Welsh will agree to meet me on the terms named in the check.

"After the champion ran out on me in Havana and a Denver club tried to match us, I made exactly the same offer that I am making now, but Welsh paid no attention to it. He's afraid of me. He is afraid to risk the title, preferring to trot over the ten round no-decision route.

"As I have frequently stated, if there is one lightweight in the world that I can beat, and I know I cannot beat all of them, that man is Freddie Welsh. Let him accept this offer and I'll guarantee to find a battle ground. Havana or Juarez would welcome the match, and at either place we would draw big money."

Sincere or not, Nelson's offer affords room for plenty of speculation as to what might be were the match made and Nelson returned the winnert. It would be the first time in the history of the ring that a one time champion, six years after losing his title, came back and rewon his lost laurels.

Add to this the fact that Nelson is supposed to be past the fighting age, having turned his thirty-third year last June, and the recapture of the lightweight championship of the world would be even more remarkable.

Champion for the second time would mean hundreds of thousands of dollars to Nelson and he would unquestionably be the most popular fighter the world ever knew, even more so than John L. Sullivan was when he was knocking 'em kicking at the rate of one a night.

The interest in such a bout would be as great, if not greater, than that aroused by the Jeffries-Johnson affair.

Nelson has been doing a theatrical turn in San Francisco, but he avers that that had nothing to do with his challenge.

"I made this offer long before I had even thought of coming to San Francisco," he said. "It is the one big thought that I have had since Welsh took the title to England. They may think the old Dane has no feeling of sentiment, but he has and he is willing to risk his $10,000 to prove it."

¶ The whole store is in gala attire. The opening hours are from 7:30 to 10, and positively no merchandise will be sold during that time.

Smarter, more varied than any Hats of recent seasons—taking for inspiration the modes which dominate Wraps, Suits and Costumes. Despite this variety, Fashion issues certain well-defined mandates which every carefully gowned woman will wish to observe.

For Morning and Street Wear—Hats are presented in the accepted suit colorings—characterized in shape and trimming by a marked simplicity. These Hats gain distinction by the elegance of materials used—silk beaver, Lyons velvet or velours.

For Afternoons—There comes the need for millinery more elaborate than the Hats designed for wear with tailored costumes. These afternoon Hats this season often assume generous proportions—and are made picturesque by the addition of richly colored flowers, plumes or delicate feathers.

For Theater and Evening Wear—Another division in millinery modes is created. Hats made of gold or silver laces are designed with graceful, pliant brims and ornamented richly but sparingly with flowers, or brilliantly colored spangled ornaments.

Early in the summer the band composed of the Fort Wayne Electric works commenced giving one noon-day concert in McCulloch's park each week. Another possibly, the last of the season, will be given next Thursday, providing the weather remains favorable. These concerts were directed by Prof. John Verweire and each consisted of six numbers, all of high grade and popular character. They were most popular with the employes of the works, many of whom had their wives and children bring a lunch to the park on that day and enjoy a family basket dinner while they listened to the music. As an appreciation of the concerts, which were given by the company, a communication of thanks, signed by nearly every employe of the big works, the signatures covering many sheets of paper, was delivered to General Manager F. S. Hunting yesterday. It read as follows:

"We, the undersigned employes of the Fort Wayne Electric works, take this method of expressing our appreciation for the splendid music you have provided us the past season during the noon hour. That success has attended these concerts has been abundantly demonstrated by the continued interest shown, not only by the large attendance, but by the hearty applause the excellent programs have called forth. A sense of genuine satisfaction is felt throughout the works that you have shown toward the employes a feeling of good will as well as a spirit of co-operation. We only wish more employes would show the same attitude toward their employes, then our labors would become more a pleasure than a vexation. It is this spirit we appreciate; may the scope of its manifestation be widened."

GREATEST CLASS IN HISTORY.

Friendship Lodge, No. 70, I. A. M., Has 234 Applicants.

By far the greatest number of applicants to be initiated into a labor union at one time in Fort Wayne will be the admission to membership in Friendship lodge, No. 70, International Association of Machinists, of 234 applicants Thursday night, October 8. A smoker will follow the initiations, but on account of the inadequacy of the hall the big dinner planned for the occasion has been postponed and will be given at the Elks temple Monday night, October 18. On that occasion some of the general officers, included being General Organizer Fred Griffith and A. E. Holder, members of the legislative committee of the A. F. of L., will be the speakers.

TAKING ON NEW LABORERS.

The Bass foundry and boiler shop have been taking on some new laborers lately, business having improved and created a necessity for bigger force. Labor conditions throughout the city are better than they were some months ago and for the first time in many months advertisements for laborers have appeared in the city papers.

SLASHED HIS THUMB.

While in the effort to manipulate a caseknife as a screwdriver, Conductor C. G. Dragoo, of the Pennsylvania, badly cut one of his thumbs. He was taking his ticket punch apart to adjust and oil it, when the head of the screw he was endeavoring to turn broke and the end of the knife ripped open the thumb.

MEMBERSHIP CAMPAIGN OPENS TOMORROW.

The three days' membership campaign in the interest of the Railroad Y. M. C. A. will commence at 7 o'clock tomorrow morning. The soliciting will be under the direction of E. B. Hughes, chairman of the membership committee, and a force of fifteen to twenty solicitors will be employed.

WILL BECOME WAITER.

H. L. Stevenson resigned a position in the Pennsylvania toolroom this morning and tomorrow he will become a waiter in the Fredericks' restaurant. He worked at that business once before, it is said.

SHIPPING MANY DYNAMOS.

The shipping department of the Fort Wayne Electric works is having a busy week packing and sending out dynamos and electrical apparatus of all kinds. Much of the output is for export.

COMPLETES FIRST TRIP.

I. Fred Walters, member of the advisory board of the Pennsylvania relief department, resumed charge of the Clinton street entrance to the Pennsylvania shops this morning. He was out on the quarterly trip over his territory.

FIREMEN ARE FURLOUGHED.

A. F. Bolinger, P. J. Koch, P. J. Murphy and F. Doty, firemen on the extra list of the G. R. & I., have been furloughed, subject to recall at any time when business of the road will justify such action.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES

Division Operator J. F. Betts, of the G. R. & I., is in Richmond today on business for the company.

C. W. Potts, who had a finger crushed last week, resumed work at the Pennsylvania shops this morning.

J. P. Ryan, a helper in the Pennsylvania boiler shop, is off duty as the result of an injured elbow.

Boilermaker F. W. Morris, of the Pennsylvania shops, is off duty on account of the death of a relative.

E. L. Ensel, division storekeeper of the Wabash railroad, went to Decatur, Ill., yesterday on company business.

E. F. Needham, superintendent of motive power on the Wabash railroad, with headquarters at Decatur, Ill., was in Fort Wayne yesterday on company business.

New men at the Pennsylvania freight house yesterday were C. L. Knotts, R. H. Miller, O. E. Bogner, R. Scott and R. G. Welch.

Next Saturday, Machinist John Offner, of the Pennsylvania vise room, will go to East Liverpool, O., to visit his sister, Mrs. John Michael.

James A. Haslup, of the Pennsylvania planing mills, who was taken sick three months ago, is recovering and this morning resumed his work at the shop.

Andrew Stinger, of the punch department of the Fort Wayne Electric works, is at Indianapolis attending a lodge meeting which will consume the greater portion of the week.

Harry J. Sullivan, assistant ticket agent in charge of the Nickel Plate office at nights, has gone to Indianapolis and Cincinnati to spend four or five days of his two weeks' vacation.

Mr. Whitehead, of Altoona, is here inspecting three car loads of car and locomotive castings at the Bass Foundry and Machine works for the Pennsylvania railroad.

E. F. Stephan, assistant chief clerk in the office of Superintendent Otto Schroll, of the Pennsylvania, was in Pittsburg yesterday on company business.

H. Levin has taken employment as an electric welder at the Pennsylvania boiler shop. He was employed in another department of the shops up to two weeks ago.

Operator O. W. French, of the New York Central ticket office, has gone on a three months' vacation and his work, the second trick, has fallen to Operator J. L. Sayles, of North Adams, Mich.

Miss Helen Gruber, instructor in the small motor department where there are many girls employed, has obtained a leave of absence and will go to Cannonball, N. D., in a few days to visit friends and relatives.

H. W. Rente, who last week completed his apprenticeship as a machinist in the Pennsy shops, was sent to Lima, O., yesterday to assist Machinist George Stoll in the inspection of engines being built there.

Work of construction on the new additions to the plant of the Wayne Oil Tank and Pump company is slightly handicapped by a scarcity of laborers. Lennon & Tapp, the contractors, are said to need twenty men at once.

Machinist W. C. Bergman, of the Fort Wayne Electric works, was able to report for duty this morning. Last Thursday he sustained some painful burns on his legs when an electric motor exploded.

The Wabash will convert forty locomotives of the 2400 class into superheaters this winter, as rapidly as they can be sent through the shops. Fifteen have already been converted and are giving good satisfaction.

Foreman Art Williams, of the Pennsylvania toolroom, did not show up for duty this morning, as he intended, probably on account of bad weather. Mr. Williams has been quite sick several weeks.

The announcement that the election of the Railroad Y. M. C. A. and its auxiliary would be held yesterday afternoon and last night were erroneous. The Y. M. C. A. election does not take place until next Monday night and the election of the auxiliary takes place some day this week.

J. T. Fox, a machinist at the Pennsylvania erecting shop, had his lip badly cut yesterday when he ran against some projection while at work on a locomotive. He continues at work, however, notwithstanding the painful character of the wound.

W. C. Kolb has an injured nose, the result of being struck by a piece of steel; F. P. Gable has a lacerated finger and N. E. Work has a sprained back. Kolb and Gagle are Pennsylvania machinists and Work is a crane operator at the same shops.

Pennsylvania Machinist H. A. Jerome, who lost a portion of the third and fourth fingers of his left hand two months ago, has recovered sufficiently to resume work and will report tomorrow. At least this was his intention when he called at the shops this morning.

"Ha, Fred, I'll not show up at the shop today. Just presented with a son," was the story heard when Clerk Fred Schaphorst, of the Pennsylvania machine shop, placed the receiver to his ear. "Who's talking?" inquired Mr. Schaphorst. "C. V. Sebold, of course," was the reply.

By Fred V. Williams.

San Francisco, Oct. 5.—Gen. C. Rhys Pryce has been killed fighting with the Canadians in France.

The famous soldier of fortune who commanded a foreign legion in Mexico, during the Madero revolution, fell in a fierce bayonet charge at Neuve Chappelle. He was stabbed in the stomach and shoulder, dying in agony hours later. When his comrades found him his jaws were set on his rifle butt, where they had clamped in the death agony.

He had announced a premonition that he would die thus.

I first saw Pryce in Mexico. He was then in command of a revolutionary army comprised of his foreign legion, a Mexican and an Indian regiment.

It was 2 o'clock in the morning early in May, 1911, in a squat adobe building on the main street of Tia Juana, a town he had taken by assault a few days before.

He sat at a table, in the dim light of a candle, erect and a soldier every inch of him. At his feet sprawled a giant half breed, drunk and snoring loudly. Pryce was using him for a footstool.

Around him grouped his staff, soldiers of fortune from every nation, hardy veterans of wars in every part of the globe. Opposite the general sat hunched a rat-faced little Mexican draped in a blood red sash of the revolution. He was the Robespierre of that two-by-four bit of hell in that particular part of Mexico and he, as representative of the Zapatista faction, was giving Pryce orders.

One crook of that little Mexican's finger and Pryce would have died for "the good of the revolution." Yet Pryce refused to take his orders, and laughed down his suggestion to make a "clean sweep of it to Ensenada."

Ensenada, the capital of Lower Mexico, was rich with plunder and loot. Yet Pryce refused to reach out for the prize. Refused until the red-sashed Robespierre should supply his men with more ammunition.

"I will not attempt to perform any more miracles, First Chief," said Pryce, evenly. "I have laid a hundred miles of territory at the feet of your junta. Now the junta must do its part by the army. We must have cartridges. We must have artillery. Otherwise I am sending my boys into another Alamo.

A snarl shot across the table at Pryce from between the teeth of the Zapatista agent, but the fingers of the little demon in red did not crook, and Pryce did not die "from behind." He was spared for another day, outside of Mexico.

That night I slept within a few feet of Pryce as a member of his staff while the gunmen of his bodyguard, deep in their cups, snored and moaned loudly about me, and Pryce, wrapped in a sheep's skin, slept as peacefully as a child, an Indian, rifle across his knee, squatting at his feet.

Whether the bullets hummed about him on the battlefield or in camp—for duelling in his army was of daily, almost hourly, occurrance at times—Pryce was cool and calm, gentlemanly and soldierly.

At times I found him the scholar, with thoughts far from war and bloodshed.

His life in Mexico was one of peril and adventure. Finally he fled the country to escape assassination at the hands of Mexicans in his own command. For he loathed massacre and only killed in fair fight, a trait that made him unpopular with the revolutionary powers.

Pryce was the son of a British army officer. He was born in India. In a native rebellion in which his father lost his life Pryce received his first baptism under fire. He served throughout the Boer war and was decorated for bravery. In Canada he joined the famous Northwest Mounted Police. In Mexico he clinched victory for Madero by taking from Diaz a wide strip of territory in lower California.

Later Pryce was prosecuted vigorously in the federal courts at Los Angeles for his part in the Mexican revolution. Smarting under the sting of their defeats, that part of officialdom in the southern republic which was loyal to the memory of Diaz, tried to extradite him. But they failed, and Pryce was lured into the "movies"—which he never liked.

The great war called him, and in Canada the man who had commanded an army, enlisted as a private. In France a few months after he had predicted to friends that he would never come out alive, Pryce died on the bayonet of a German.

He was a gentleman and a soldier, and those of us who shared his fortunes in Mexico give him a soldier's valediction!

General C. R hs Pryce.

BIG DAMAGES ASKED BY RAILROAD MAN

Suit for $25,000 damages as a result of injuries received while acting as a freight conductor, was filed in the federal court Tuesday by Albert M. Croy against the New York, Chicago and St. Louis Railroad company. Croy alleges that on the evening of January 28, 1914, he fell into an excavation at the side of the company's tracks at Bellevue, O., sustaining four broken ribs, fractured parts of which were driven into his lungs, resulting in hemorrhages and serious inflammation. He also alleges that he was injured about the spine, besides innumerable cuts and bruises.

Other City Court Cases.

John Varner, who was arrested Monday on an affidavit filed by his wife, Alice Varner, 205 East Third street, charging drunkenness, was continued until Wednesday with his bond at $200. He went back to jail. His wife says he abused her.

Harry Hawkins, with a quart bottle of alcohol which he had consumed to the point of his own physical collapse, was fined $1 and costs. He was found helpless on the Wabash tracks near the end of Grand street.

London, Sept. 25.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press).—Sir Charles Cheers Wakefield, Kt., who has been elected lord mayor of London, and who will take oath of office on November 8, is the third native of Lancashire in succession to be lord mayor, and he will be succeeded next year by another Lancastrian in the person of Sir William Dunn. With rare exceptions the post is never held but one year and there has been no exception for 30 years.

Sir Charles is a self-made man, as the term is used in the United States, has built up a large business in lubricants and is known to have considerable wealth. Indeed that is almost a necessary adjunct for although the salary of lord mayor is $50,000 a year, the term in the mansion house calls for an outlay said to be much larger than that.

He was born in Liverpool, 52 years ago, and his whole business life has been devoted to the oil business. His company has recently erected on Cheapside an imposing business building, Wakefield House, where his office is located, a block above St. Mary-le-Bow's, whose bells, according to tradition, were said to call Dick Whittington to be thrice lord mayor of London, and only a few minutes' walk from the mansion house and the Guildhall, the centers of the functions in which the lord mayor participates and to and fro rides in his celebrated coach which is still one of the sights of the city.

His home is at Hythe, in Kent, where he has collected a notable gallery of famous paintings and prints, and where he spends all his leisure time with Lady Wakefield and his adopted daughter of sixteen. He has made several trips to different parts of the United States and has traveled all over the world.

He was chosen sheriff in 1907, an alderman in 1908, and is a devoted supporter of guildry, which plays such an important part in the civic life of the city. He is a member of no less than nine of the wealthy companies and on the court of four of them. His parent guild is the Haberdashers and he is the master of the Cordwainers, a company that never before gave a lord mayor to the city.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 5.—"One of the finest coin collections in the world is housed in the home of a private collector in Pskof, a city midway between Dvinsk and Petrograd, upon the Warsaw-Petrograd railroad, along which the Germans are endeavoring to advance, and the collection is one of the most valuable things to be found in the country around this city-gateway to the immemorial lands of the Slav," according to a bulletin issued today by the National Geographic society. "M. Plushkin, the proprietor of Pskof's principal drygoods store, is the owner and gatherer of the collection which has made him known in many foreign lands and which is easily the most interesting thing in the hoary city, once a republic and the rival of Novgorod the Great.

"M. Plushkin lives above his store, surrounded by his wonderful collection of coins and many other curios and antiquities which he has gathered during twenty years. The other treasures of this strange collector are of a chaotic variety, and fill several of the rooms of his home. The coin collection is the only part of his museum which contains a wide assortment of valuable articles that M. Plushkin has attempted to classify. Numismatologists everywhere know this collection, and consider it one of the best and most complete in the world, better than a similar collection to be found in the Hermitage.

"There are any number of Russian coins in the cabinet. Among these are examples of the earliest coins of Russia, the oldest of which do not date further back than 980. There are bars and half bars of silver, valued at two roubles and one rouble. There are ancient coins of Pskof, Novgorod the Great, Kief, Kazan, Tver and other towns, each with its distinctive stamp. One of the old roubles is a coin eight inches square, a formidable piece of wealth. There is another rouble in the collection, made of bronze, which weighs seven pounds. In this old money, forty roubles, worth today about $20, would weigh their happy possessor down like a sack of potatoes. Papal, Mohammedan and Jewish coins, the latter bearing the stamp of Solomon's temple are represented, together with concave coins of old Byzantium, square Swedish coins of brass, remarkable coins used by the republic of Pskof, and some Chinese coins of the year 2000 B. C. Rare specimens of the coinage of almost every nation of Europe are found in the collection. One of the oldest was started upon its career 2300 B. C., and has seen more than 4,000 years of existence, or has become quite old as most things go.

"The collection also contains numerous specimens of the paper money of various nations. The examples of Russian paper money was particularly complete, some of the early specimens being unusually interesting. Among the early bills are a few as large as the ordinary diploma or legal document. Upon them are preserved the signatures of all the emperors and empresses who have ruled in Russia. Collectors, and curious visitors, from many lands have journeyed to the forsaken, decayed little town of Pskof and braved the inadequacies of its hotels in order to inspect M. Plushkin's renowned cabinet of coins."

Saws were first fashioned in imitation of the jawbone of a snake.

The following editorial is probably the strongest appeal ever written for the care and preservation of the eyes of children. That it should be read by every parent in Fort Wayne is certain. It is really a duty.

I Am the Eyes of a Child

I am the EYES of a CHILD!

I am brown, or blue, or green, or black, or grey.

I have faith in every One and every Thing. I trust the the world.

I look out upon the business of Life and wonder what it is all about.

I still possess the crystal clearness of Innocence. I see nothing sordid or unlovely. The pictures I throw on the baby brain are magical.

I am not for sale or exchange, nor can I be bought. I am Priceless.

I am the windows of the Soul. I am MORE than that, I am almost Life.

I am sensitive. I require Care and Thought on which I thrive.

I never return when once I go. I go reluctantly if go I must.

I grow weak with Overwork, or Ill Health, or Strain. I resent Indifference or Neglect. When I am not as Strong as I was Intended to be I protest against Over-Exertion in the School Room. I rebel against long hours of Study or Reading at Home where the Lights are so Dim that I cannot see.

I sound my Warnings daily. I cause Misery to the Brain, and a throbbing Head. I produce a countless score of ills that are blamed on Everything but Me. My punishment is Relentless.

I MUST be heard. I punish myself. I worry myself into aching, twitching, burning coals of fire. I cannot Work. I Weep. I will not Sleep. I will not stop until my Cry is Heeded.

The Parents of the Baby Body in which I Dwell blame Fretfullness, Illness, Apathy, Dullness and a Stumbling Gait on a score of things.

But I AM THE CAUSE.

I Live on Love, for Love Protects. Oh! how great is the Reward I give.

I Fairly Sing and Dance and Thrill with Light and Joy and Gladness when I am Healthy, and Strong and Rested.

I Thrive on CARE.

The Brain, my Sister, takes Joy in my Joy, and Hand in Hand we are Wonder Workers. We perform Herculean tasks and are Glad.

I flutter into Being often More Weak than my new born Owner. I try not to be Harsh on the Cause of my weakness. I like Life and will Live with Care.

If I need Aid from the Skilled Hands of Men who Know Me, who study my needs, who Know what I Must Have, then I respond in sheer gratitude.

If I have Behaved Badly and caused Pain it is only because I have needed Help. With Assistance these Learned Men Can give Me I Live until I am no longer Wanted.

I speak that ALL Parents may hear! It is my Prayer that you do not Shrug with Indifference or get Angry at the seeming Implication that YOU of all people, could Possibly be So Careless or Lacking in Love as to permit YOUR child's EYES to be Neglected.

Will YOU believe and Understand that I mean just YOU, the very Owners of the Grown-up Eyes who are Reading this?

Are YOU SO sure that I do not NEED HELP RIGHT NOW?

REMEMBER I am the EYES of a Child.

I MAY be the Eyes of YOUR Child.

STOP RUINING YOUR LIFE

Why continue to commit slow suicide when you can live morally contented life, if you only get your body and nerves right? It is unsafe and torturing to attempt to rid oneself of tobacco by suddenly stopping with "will-power"—don't do it. The correct way is to eliminate nicotine poison from the system, and positively overcome the craving.

Tobacco is poisonous and seriously injures health in several ways, causing such disorders as nervous dyspepsia, sleeplessness, gas belching, gnawing, or other uncomfortable sensation in stomach; constipation, headaches, weak eyes, loss of vigor, rolling spots on skin, throat irritation, catarrh, asthma, bronchitis, heart failure, melancholy, lung trouble, impure (poisoned) blood, heartburn, torpid liver, loss of appetite, bad teeth, foul breath, lassitude, lack of ambition, weakening and falling out of hair and many other disorders.

Overcome that peculiar nervousness and craving for cigarettes, cigars, pipe, chewing tobacco, or snuff.

Here is an opportunity to receive FREE a carefully compiled treatise on the subject, containing interesting and valuable information that you should be glad to learn about. This book tells all about the renowned THREE DAYS' METHOD by which thousands and thousands saved themselves from the life-wrecking tobacco habit. Full particulars, including the book on tobacco and snuff habit, will be mailed FREE TO YOU, in plain wrapper, postpaid. All you need do is merely REQUEST IT. A postcard will do. Address:

HELD AS A GERMAN SPY.

Chicago Newspaper Photographer Under Arrest in London.

Chicago, Oct. 5.—Irving G. Reese, a newspaper photographer of Chicago, who went to Europe to get war pictures, is a prisoner in London, charged with being a German spy, according to word received here today. Federal authorities in Chicago and Washington are conducting an inquiry into the case. It was said. A man said to have been the "double" of Reese landed in Plymouth, Eng., in June, exhibited his passports and disappeared. Soon afterward the Chicago photographer landed in England and when the duplication in passports was discovered he was arrested.

RESERVOIR WALL GIVES WAY.

Torrent of Water Released by Mishap at Portsmouth, Ohio.

Portsmouth, O., Oct. 5.—Three frame dwellings were destroyed and one side of a hill washed away yesterday when the east concrete wall of the huge reservoir of the storage of Portsmouth's water supply collapsed, precipitating 7,000,000 gallons of water down the hillside. Occupants of the houses fled to safety before the torrent of water reached their homes.

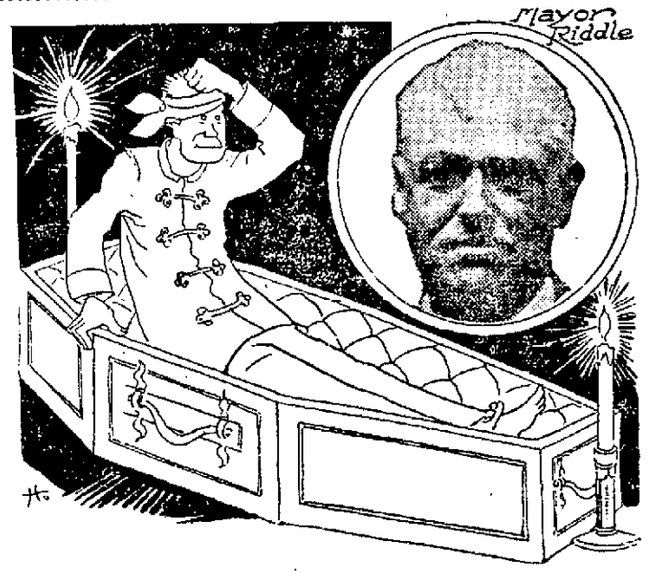
MAYOR WILL SLEEP IN COFFIN TO PUNISH SELF FOR "NIGHT WITH BOYS."



Atlantic City, N. J. Oct. 5—"No I'm not joking; not a bit of it," exclaimed Mayor Riddle as he inspected the new plush lined coffin which he has had made to order and which he will install in his home. "When a fellow gets out with the boys and kind of gets by his limit, he should have something to remind him, aside from a headache and a flannel torque the next morning. I've had this coffin made so that when I get home after one o'clock in the morning from some banquet or the like it will be my sleeping place. Guess that'll make me think!"

EVERY REAL ESTATE DEALER IS INVITED

Every real estate dealer in Indiana is invited to attend the annual convention of the Indiana Real Estate association in Ft. Wayne October 20 and 21, regardless of whether or not they are members of the association. Special attention has been given the program and the addresses have been planned to appeal to every realty dealer in the state.

For the dealer in farm lands, the address of C. F. S. Neal, of Lebanon, holds special interest, real estate men say. Mr. Neal is recognized by real estate men as one of the best authorities on farm land in the state. He is president of the first rural savings and loan association organized in Indiana.

For the city subdivider, the addresses by John J. Watson, of Toledo, O., and Frederick C. Shipman, of Detroit, are pointed to. Mr. Watson formerly was in charge of the Roland Park addition in Baltimore, and now has charge of the Ottawa Hills addition at Toledo. Mr. Shipman is known as one of the leading subdividers in Detroit.

Chalmers Headliner.

Probably the address which will make the greatest appeal to every dealer will be that of Hugh Chalmers, president of the Chalmers Motor company of Detroit. His subject will be "Advertising and Salesmanship." An address on the same subject was given by Mr. Chalmers before real estate men in Pittsburgh in 1914.

The complete program follows:

October 20. Morning, reading of reports and address by C. F. S. Neal on "Rural Credits"; luncheon from 12 to 2 o'clock, with officers of the national association as guests. The afternoon addresses will be by John J. Watson, on "Ottawa Hills"; Frederick C. Shipman, John R. Mitchell, of Evansville, on "Auction Sales of Subdivisions"; Emerson W. Chaille, of Indianapolis, on "Subdivisions in Indianapolis," and W. E. Doud, of Ft. Wayne, on "Subdivisions and Home Building." A reception will be held in the evening.

Thursday's Program.

Thursday morning, 9 o'clock.—Address, "Needed Tax Reforms in Indiana," by Eben H. Wolcott, of the Indiana tax commission. report of tax committee, discussion and address by Mr. Chalmers. The afternoon will be devoted to the reading of reports, election of officers and the selection of the place for the 1916 meeting. At 5 o'clock, the guests will go for an automobile ride about the city and at 7 o'clock the annual banquet will be held, the following addresses being scheduled for that occasion:

"Indiana," by Charles W. Fairbanks; "The Dayton Plan," by George B. Smith, vice president of the Greater Dayton association, of Dayton, O.; "The Real Estate Man," by John L. Rupe, of Richmond; "The National Association of Real Estate Exchanges," by Walter Collins Piper, president, of Detroit, Mich.; "Ft. Wayne, With Might and Main," by Walton H. Ingham, of Ft. Wayne.

MINISTER GIVES TESTIMONY.

The Rev. C. M. Knighton, Havanna, Fla., writes: "For three months I suffered intense pain in kidneys and back, which at times laid me up entirely. I read of Foley Kidney Pills and after trying various remedies without result I decided to try the Foley treatment. I was relieved almost with the first dose and it is a fact that I used only 1½ bottles when all of the pains disappeared. I am 55 years of age and now feel like a young man again." ADMITS ROBBERY TALE FAKE.

Texas Bank Cashier Confesses Theft of Missing Cash.

Forth Worth, Tex., Oct. 5—Found locked in a bank vault and telling a story of an attack by two robbers which netted them $8,312, J. T. Adams, cashier of the State bank of Kellar, early today confessed, according to County Attorney Spoontz and Chief of Detectives Montgomery that he himself appropriated the sum missing from the vault, and $4,784 of the money was recovered. Adams is held under bond of $2,000 on a charge of embezzlement.

HERE TO GET POINTERS.

Representative of the United States Chamber of Commerce in City.

E. F. Fader, of Washington, D. C., representing the United States Chamber of Commerce, is spending a few days in Fort Wayne conferring with officials of the Commercial club. Mr. Fader is making a tour of the country for the national association, which co-operates with the department of commerce and labor on the extension of foreign trade, for the purpose of getting pointers on the handling of business projects.

REPAIRING STORM DAMAGE.

SALTS FINE FOR ACHING KIDNEYS

We eat too much meat which clogs Kidneys, then the Back hurts.

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have headache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless; inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everybody should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious complications.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.—Advertisement.

SPEAKER ONCE BEAT CRAVATH OUT OF JOB.

Tris Speaker, Red Sox, and Gavvy Cravath, Phil, were once rivals for the same outfield job. They were with the Red Sox in the spring of 1911, Speaker coming from the Southern league and Cravath from the White Sox, who got him from Texas.

Speaker beat Cravath out of the job. Cravath went to Minneapolis of the American association, led the league in batting, and returned to the majors, making good in the Phil outfield and with the stick immediately.

SON TO ATTACK THE A. G. SPALDING WILL

San Diego, Cal., Oct. 5.—Contest of the will of the late A. G. Spalding, baseball pioneer and millionaire sporting goods merchant, was to be entered today immediately after the filing of the will for probate, by Spalding's son Keith, who charges that the will was procured through the "undue influence of his wife, Elizabeth Churchill Spalding, and Mrs. Katherine Tingley," head of the Universal Brotherhood and Theosophical societ at Point Loma, Cal. Spalding died at his residence in Point Loma Sept. 9 last. The contest alleges that for several years before his death Spalding was not in his rightmind; that his mental and physical strength was impaired by advancing age, by sickness and by business worries. About $2,000,000 was accumulated by Spalding and his first wife, who died in 1899, according to the contest. This, says Keith Spalding, was the result of the joint industry of his father and mother and was accumulated before the second marriage which took place in 1900.

At the time of her marriage to Spalding, says the contest, Mrs. Elizabeth Churchill was the intimate friend of Katherine Tingley in "a Theosophical brotherhood" at Pont Loma and was held out by Mrs. Tingley to the public and to Elizabeth Churchill Spalding as her successor in the command of the work and institution.

Immediately after the marriage, the document continues, Mrs. Spalding persuaded her husband to take up his residence within the grounds of the Theosophical institution. The purpose of this, it is alleged, "upon information and belief," was to alienate Spalding from his son.

Mrs. Elizabeth Churchill Spalding, the widow, who filed the will for probate and who was named as executrix, estimated the estate to be worth $600,000. Keith Spalding was, under the terms of the will, to receive $100,000, of which amount he has already received $65,000; the adopted son, Albert Spalding, was also bequeathed $100,000, of which he had already received $10,000. The remainder of theh estate was left to Mrs. Spalding.

Resinol

eczema

In our file of reports, covering a period of twenty years, literally thousands of physicians tell how successful the Resinol treatment is for eczema and similar skin troubles. The first use of Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap usually stops the itching and burning, and they soon clear away all trace of the eruption. No other treatment for the skin now before the public can show such a record of professional approval.

Sold by all druggists. For trial free, write to Dept. 10-S, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.

WHAT FALL FASHIONS ARE BRINGING FORTH.

The "Tipperary hat," with its high crown and its tight little brim is the hat of the moment. Bands of gros grain or faille ribbon finished in smart tailored bows or with a silver buckle is the only trimming that adorns the "Tipperary," or as some folks call them the "Chauncey Olcott" hat.

INDOOR LIFE MAKES FAT

People who are confined within doors and who are deprived of fresh, invigorating air and exercise must take precaution to guard against over-stoutness, as fat acquired by indoor life is unhealthy and a danger to the vital organs of the body. Lack of exercise in the fresh air weakens the oxygen-carrying power of the blood, so that it is unable to produce strong muscles and vitality and the formation of unsightly and unhealthy fat is the result.

If you are 15 or 20 pounds above normal weight you are daily drawing on your reserve strength and are constantly lowering your vitality by carrying this excess burden. Any person who is satisfied in their own mind that they are too stout should go to a good druggist and get a box of oil of korein capsules and take one after each meal and one just before retiring at night.

Even a few days' treatment should show a noticeable reduction in weight, digestion should improve, energy return, footsteps become lighter and the skin less flabby in appearance.

Oil of Korein is inexpensive, cannot injure, helps the digestion and is designed to increase the oxygen-carrying power of the blood. Any person who wants to reduce their weight 15 or 20 pounds should give this treatment a trial. There is nothing better.

NOTHING SHRINKS, FADES, WRINKLES

Women here who have tried dry cleaning find it very easy and inexpensive to clean and freshen all the ribbons, silks, satins, laces, yokes, furs, silk shirtwaists, kid gloves and shoes, neckties, children's clothes, suits, caps, Swiss, lawn, organdie and chiffon dresses, woolen garments, fancy vests, draperies, rugs, in fact, any and everything that would be ruined with soap and water.

Get two ounces of solvite at any drug store and put it in two gallons of gasoline, where it instantly dissolves, then put in the goods to be cleaned, rub a little and out they come, looking as bright and fresh as new. You will find nothing fades, shrinks or wrinkles, requising no pressing.

You can do five dollars' worth of home dry cleaning in an hour at little cost. It is so easy and you can't make a mistake. Any grocery or garage will supply the gasoline and you can obtain two ounces of solvite at the drug store which is simply a gasoline soap, then a wash boiler or large dishpan completes your dry cleaning outfit.—Advertisement.

Barber Tries to Slay Dentist He Accuses as a Home-Wrecker.

Valparaiso, Ind., Oct. 5.—Dr. C. L. Bartholomew, a dentist, was shot in the back late yesterday by Louis Vitner, an Italian barber, who had accused Bartholomew of sustaining improper relations with Mrs. Vitner.

Just as he attempted to fire a second shot, Harry Salisbury wrested away the gun. Dr. Bartholomew was taken to a hospital.

Vitner gave himself up, with the assertion that he was satisfied, except that he was sorry he could not have made a clean job of it. It is believed the doctor will live.

In midsummer, trouble occurred between Vitner and his wife and Mrs. Vitner and her three children left the city for New York. At Sewickly, Pa., the woman kissed the children and then sprang through an open window of the swiftly moving train. The injuries she received were so serious that death seemed certain. A short time ago she returned here.

Was Denied a Warrant.

At the time of the attempted suicide, Vitner openly accused Dr. Bartholomew of being responsible for his wife's act and made threats openly. He made an effort to get a warrant for Dr. Bartholomew's arrest, but failed. Vitner has remained in town ever since and has been moody.

Friends of the doctor warned him that the Italian would attack him, but this Dr. Bartholomew ignored. Yesterday Dr. Bartholomew and Vitner both assisted the Salisbury Family orchestra to load some trunks for the season's concert tour. Vitner was seen to enter a restaurant near by in the same building with Bartholomew's office. Vitner appeared at the side door of the restaurant as Bartholomew passed and fired at the dentist. Dr. Bartholomew fell, and Vitner was taking another aim when Salisbury interfered.

Wound Pronounced Serious.

Dr. Bartholomew regained his feet and rode to the hospital in an automobile. He was anxious to keep the affair from his wife, but several doctors who were summoned pronounced the wound a serious one. The bullet had lodged in the back. Dr. G. H. Stoner stated that no effort would be made to remove it at present.

DIES UNDER ALLEGED ILLEGAL OPERATION

Chicago, Oct. 5.—Death halted an alleged illegal operation on Miss Viola Wilscan, of Valparaiso, Ind., yesterday. It is asserted that before Dr. John B. Matheson could complete his work the patient, who was 22 years old, died while under an anesthetic in his office in his residence at 3520 Grand boulevard.

Her sweetheart, Morris Cantrill, an advertising solicitor, saw her die. So did Dr. W. G. French, of 4401 Jackson boulevard, who administered the ether. The two physicians were under arrest last night awaiting the verdict of the coroner's jury which will hear the evidence.

Cantrill, who saw the operation, but insists he was ignorant of its nature and asserts he had intended to marry the girl, is held as a witness.

Dr. Joseph Springer, coroner's physician, asserted the girl's death was due to the "bungling work of the operator."

Dr. Matheson said he treated Miss Wilscan five or six weeks ago in her room at 3331 South Park avenue. She then was suffering from an attempted illegal operation, he said.

more of the country and its people. That is all."

The ambassador and his wife had spent the previous evening in making their final calls upon Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, and in bidding good-bye to other officials and personal acquaintances.

Where Trouble Started.

The recall of Dr. Dumba was due to the seizure by agents of the British government of messages from the ambassador to his government which had been carried across the ocean by James F. J. Archibald, an American. This took place early last month. Copies of the dispatches were communicated by the British government to the United States and on September 9, the secretary of state announced that he had instructed the American ambassador at Vienna to deliver a note to Austria notifying that country that Dr. Dumba was no longer acceptable as an ambassador.

In the note to Austria Secretary Lansing stated that Dr. Dumba admitted that he proposed to his government plans to instigate strikes in American manufacturing plants engaged in the production of munitions of war and that he employed Archibald to deliver official dispatches to the American government. This later action was stigmatized by Mr. Lansing as a "flagrant violation" of diplomatic laws.

Dumba later denied that his employment of Archibald as a messenger was improper. At the request of the Austrian government the United States arranged with the British government for safe conduct for Dr. Dumba on his homeward voyage across the ocean.

IN THE CHURCHES

New Building Will Be Erected by Mt. Olive Congregation.

The congregation of Mt. Olive Baptist church, of which Rev. G. Jordan is pastor, has begun work on the erection of a new church edifice on the site of the old church building, on Holman street, between Lafayette and Clay streets. The preliminary work of excavation and the making of the foundation will all be volunteer work from the members of the church. The old building was moved to the rear of the lot.

The new church will be built and will cost approximately $10,000 without the fixtures. The present church building is entirely too small for the prosperous congregation and the pastor reports that every Sunday from 50 to 75 members cannot be accommodated in the present quarters. The new building will seat 750.

Rev. G. Jordan has a record that is exceptional, having built three fine church buildings since being minister of the gospel. Before coming to this city four months ago he was pastor at Lima for six years and built a church there. For eleven years he was pastor at Columbus and during his pastorate a new building was erected. While serving the congregation at Circleville, Ohio, a church edifice was erected there. Since being pastor of the local congregation, the membership has been doubled.

In the city court Tuesday morning, the case against the woman was continued until Friday morning and she went to jail in default of $500. She was not thoroughly sober when she was in court and did not realize the seriousness of her plight.

Henson Not Dissipated Man.

Henson was 29 years old and unmarried. He came here about twelve years ago from Evansville, Ind., in which city he has relatives at 519 Garfield street. Bales and other men who knew him well say that he was not a man of dissipated habits and that if he was intoxicated Saturday night it was the first time they know of his ever being so.

When taken to headquarters little money was found in his pockets and nothing at all by which he could be identified.

Henson had worked at various pursuits in Fort Wayne, being employed last spring for a time at Brookside farm, the suburban residence of Hon. J. H. Bass. Later he went to work for the Furnas company.

Will Search for Poison.

Coroner E. H. Kruse will have a chemical analysis made of Henson's stomach and other organs and of the tablecloth on which the coffee was spilled at the restaurant to determine if there was any poison in the contents of the cup.

It is said by those about the restaurant at the time that Henson was not noticeably intoxicated when he came in there. He seemed to be all right when he got a dime changed to nickels in order to play a machine piano.

years has been used for manufacturing purposes.

The firm of Wolf & Dessauer was established in 1896 in the Certia building on Calhoun street now occupied by the Lehman Clothing company. In 1904 the store was moved to the Barnes building it now occupies on West Berry street. While no announcement is made for what purpose the property at Harrison and Wayne streets was acquired it is generally believed it was purchased with a view of some time erecting a modern store building of their own.

hurled from the darkness on the first night the cars have been operated since the members of the newly organized union refused to go to work one week ago Monday. The cars thus damaged were: Nos. 177 and 194, on the Lewis street line; No. 219 on South Wayne line; No. 216 on the Pontiac line, and No. 192 on the West Main street line. No one was seriously injured. At 9:45 o'clock General Manager Greenland ordered the cars taken in, the last car pulling into the barns at 10:35 o'clock.

Car No. 177, on the Lewis street line, in charge of Motorman A. L. Thompson and Conductor C. Nelson, was attacked twice, the first brick crashing through a window as the car was going east on Lewis street, east of Ohio, and again on the return trip, near Winter street. Motorman Thompson was slightly cut about the hands by broken glass. The entire neighborhood was aroused by the noise and the flying squadron of police in an automobile under Lieutenant Harry Grimme made a hurried trip to the scene of the trouble, but the offenders had made good their escape.

A car on the South Wayne street line was attacked at Creighton and Fairfield avenues. Two suspicious characters were seen prowling around that section of the city for the greater part of the evening.

More Money Subscribed.

More unions voted subscriptions to the carmen Monday evening, the machinists, barbers, bricklayers and brewery workers each donating $100. More than $100 was realized Monday by the carmen from the sale of the remainder of the tickets for the benefit performances at the Lyric theater. Up to date the carmen have received financial aid from the unions, the theater benefit and other sources to the amount of about $1,100. Practically every local union has arranged for weekly donations while the strike continues.

A meeting of the Building Trades council was held Monday evening, at which time a motion was carried recommending that its affiliated organizations, which include the carpenters, painters, lathers, sheet metal workers, plumbers, plasterers and electricians, assist the carmen in a financial way. At a meeting of the newly organized union of grocery clerks the following resolution was adopted: "Resolved, That the Grocery Clerks' union, No. 288, do hereby pledge our moral support to the striking street railway employes and that we will do everything in our power to aid them."

Car Hits Boy.

George Weber, 2021 Washington boulevard east, reported to the police Monday night that city car No. 200 had hit his two-year-old son, carrying him for some little distance on the fender before stopping. The accident occurred on the East Main street line as the child and two small companions were crossing the roadway near the Berghoff switch, on Washington boulevard east. He said that the boy fell on the fender and was carried for half a block before the screams and calls of passers-by and neighbors attracted the attention of the crew to the child. After the car was stopped, the father declared, the youngster was removed from the fender and placed on the curb, the car going on without the members of the crew making any inquiry to ascertain how seriously the lad had been hurt. A physician examined the boy and found several cuts and bruises, but no serious injuries.

Saved Boy's Life.

A thorough investigation was made Tuesday morning by General Manager Greenland and he found that instead of the motorman being negligent, he in reality saved the boy's life. According to information secured by Mr. Greenland the motorman did not see the boy in time to stop his car, but did drop his fender, which prevented the youngster from rolling under the wheels. The motorman claims that he stopped his car within ten feet of the spot where the boy was hit.

In the superior court the state of Indiana, on relation of Sigvald C. Amlie, has brought a suit in mandamus proceedings against the Cream of Rice company, a corporation with $500,000 capital, offices in Fort Wayne and a plant in New Haven, to compel the defendant to deliver Amlie $145,000 worth of stock in the concern. Amlie recites that he purchased 1,450 shares of stock in the Cream of Rice company August 25, 1914, and paid the consideration demanded, but that the company and its officers have since failed and refused to deliver to him the certificates of stock or to give him any evidence of his ownership. He wants the company mandated to make the delivery. Thomas & Townsend are attorneys for the plaintiff.

The annual session of the synod of the southwest of the Reformed churches will be held at Huntington, beginning Wednesday evening, October 6 and continuing until Sunday. The local pastors will be in attendance and includes Rev. J. H. Bosch, of St. John's Reformed church; Rev. F. W. Knatz, of Salem Reformed, and Rev. J. F. Winter, of the Reformed Orphans' home. Elder Henry Klebe and Elder Henry Feelig will also attend.

The Woman's Missionary society of the synod will also hold its annual meeting at the same place and same time. Mrs. John H. Bosch, delegate from the Zion's classis, will leave Wednesday noon to attend the meeting of the executive board at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. Mrs. E. J. Brand, delegate from the Woman's Missionary society of St. John Reformed church, leaves Thursday. The delegates from Salem Reformed church Missionary society, are Mrs. L. A. Stroebel, Mrs. William Rippe and Mrs. F. W. Knatz.

The opening address will be delivered by the president of the synod, Rev. C. F. Kriete, D. D., Wednesday evening at 7:45 o'clock. At the Thursday morning session, which opens at 8:30 o'clock, holy communion will be celebrated and in the evening several addresses will be given. Rev. J. H. Bosch appears on the program at this time. Rev. F. W. Knatz will speak at the Friday afternoon meeting and Rev. J. F. Winter will give an address Friday evening on "Our Orphanage."

CHICAGO STAGGERS UNDER HARD SHOCK

Chicago, Oct. 5.—Mayor Thompson's order to close Chicago saloons on Sundays in accordance with provisions of a state law which has been ignored locally for two score years, was the general topic of conversation today.

The mayor gave no warning except to his intimates of his intention. He dropped the bomb at the council meeting last night, rushed into a taxicab and was shortly on his way at the head of the Aldermanic commission headed for the exposition.

"Why did he do it?" was the question most commonly asked. The mayor himself said that it was because Corporation Counsel Foisom had instructed him plainly that it was the law. Others professed to see politics in it. Liquor men generally said that they had been "double crossed."

Chief of Police Healey said that it would require every man on the force to see that the law, which closes all bars, including those in hotels and clubs, at midnight Saturday until the following midnight is observed. The order that 7,152 saloons, cafes and gardens where liquor is sold shall obey the Illinois Sunday closing law will go into effect at 12 o'clock Saturday night, it was announced today.

As the city ordinance permits the sale of liquor until 1 o'clock in the morning, saloon interests pointed out today that they might open their places for business one hour between 12 and 1 o'clock Sunday night.

Wholesale arrest of saloonkeepers who violate the closing law was promised by Chief of Police Healey. Conviction carries with it a fine not to exceed $200. The mayor, it was pointed out, has power to revoke licenses for violation of law.

PYTHIANS OPEN CONVENTION.

Indiana Grand Lodge Begins Sessions at Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 5.—Members of the Grand Lodge, Knights of Pythias were present from all parts of Indiana today when the forty-seventh annual convention of the order opened. Reports of the officers were read. New officers were to be elected later in the day. Interest in this event centers around the contest for a successor to Harry Wade, keeper of records and seal. Mr. Wade held the place for twelve years and recently was elected president of the insurance department of the national lodge.

NOBLE SUIT WIPED OFF COURT DOCKET

After being on the docket of the circuit court since May, 1913, the suit of William K. Noble against the city of Fort Wayne for $24,000 damages in the proposed opening of Osage street has been dismissed at the cost of the plaintiff. This consummates an agreement made with Mr. Noble last spring in which he gave the city the land for a new route for the opening of Osage street and promised to bear all the costs incurred in the litigation. Upon that agreement the procedure for tracks elevation at Osage street and the Nickel Plate and Lake Shore railroads has been carried to the point of actual operations on the improvement. Mr. Noble appealed from the assessment of damages made by the board of works to the circuit court charging that his factory plant would be greatly damaged and after two years during which nothing was done, City Attorney Guy Colerick, Mayor Hosey and the board of works finally reached a settlement before the case could go actually to trial. Judge David E. Smith, of Decatur, had been appointed special judge to try the case. By agreement of the litigants, Monday afternoon, the case was transferred to Judge Eggeman, in the circuit court, and dismissed.

Eight Days of Honeymooning.

After eight days of honeymooning, which appears to have been mainly spent in Kilkenny cats fashion, Rilla May Roberts has begun action in the superior court for a divorce from William M. Roberts. In her complaint she says they were married Sept. 24 last, but the record shows it took place on the 25th. A day more or less makes no difference, however, for it's all off now, as she left him Oct. 2. She says that right at the outset her new spouse began to treat her cruelly, nagging her, accusing her of conduct unbecoming a woman, of which the plaintiff is not guilty, and calling her vile and profane names. She declares that life with him has become impossible, and asks for a divorce and the right to assume her maiden name of Armstrong. Charles R. Aldrich is her attorney.

Husband Gone for Eight Years.

Charlotte Chartier has begun suit in the superior court for divorce from Theophile Chartier, alleging that he abandoned her eight years ago, since which time she has not heard from him and had received no support from him. She asks the custody of three children now with their grandmother in Connecticut. Howard Hanthorn is her attorney.

Deserted Wife Sues.

Helen C. Clear has commenced suit in the superior court for divorce from Frank H. Clear, alleging she has had no support from him for more than two years. They sperated Oct. 4 and have no children. Colerick & Hogan are her attorneys.

Complaint Is Withdrawn.

Notes of the Courts.

The superior court has granted a divorce to Blanche Hamm from Arthur A. Hamm and restored her maiden name of Slater. The plaintiff is forbidden to remarry for two years.

The suit of Henry O. Miller vs. Howard and James Hamilton has been dismissed from the superior court.

In the suit of Edwin Junghaus vs. the Maumee Brick and Tile company, a receivership action, Derheimer & Co. have filed a petition for possession of personal property.

In the suit of Linnie Overholt for divorce from Earl L. Overholt the superior court has given the wife a decree and restored her maiden name of Bennett.

The German-American National bank has brought suit in the superior court against Meier-Wiese company to collect $875 on a note. W. H. Shambaugh is the plaintiff's attorney.

Charles W. Halderman and Rose R. Watson have sued Frank Studebaker in the superior court to foreclose a lien on an automobile, demanding $175. Heaton & Heaton appear for the plaintiff.

The German-American National bank has received judgment in the superior court for $400 against Edward White.

An injunction has been issued by the superior court restraining Fred H. Myers from removing an electric motor attached to an elevator in the livery barn on West Washington street occupied by the defendant. The suit is brought by William Kaough, executor and trustee of Margaret Ryan, deceased. Breen & Morris are the attorneys.

MR. NIPPER MAKES CORRECTION.

In filing amended remonstrace as requested by Poirson in recent remonstrance case, the name of —— Robinson was used, and she was described as formerly running a lewd place in the Riverside hotel.

We find that the woman intended in the remonstrance was named Robinson, but that she was never connected in any way with the Riverside hotel, and was not Mrs. Robinson, formerly known as Mrs. Hollder, and that anything said in said remonstrance reflecting in any way on the character of Mrs. Hollder is regretted.

CHARLOTTE UNDERWOOD AND HER MOTHER

Bloomington, Ill., Oct. 5.—Common sense?

What do you think of that for a baby food?

But it was just common sense that made roly-poly Charlotte Underwood the grand prize baby of Illinois. Her mother, Mrs. J. C. Underwood, declares that Charlotte scored 98 and won three cups and three medals because she was brought up in a "common sense way."

I never read a baby book and don't know a thing about scientific rules for baby raising. She says, "I kept my baby away from the bottle, never gave her artificial food until she was 10 months old and trained her to sleep."

Charlotte is three years and two months old.

By Gilson Gardner.

Washington, Oct. 5.—That institutionalism is as bad for chickens as it has been shown to be for children is the latest discovery of the government's chicken experts. Chickens in large flocks and children in institutions, living by rule and under institutional discipline, do not thrive. The children do better in the individual home, and chickens do better in small sequestered groups. The multiplication of communities is the answer on the chicken farm, and mothers' pensions is the answer for dependent children. A hen and her family should be kept by herself and a small group of chickens—never over a dozen or so—should be kept together. If the chicken raiser has 300 chickens, the proper way to handle them is to have a large number of small houses and runs so that each group lives to itself and the excitement and devastating influences of the herd do not interfere with their orderly life.

The hen, Lady Eglantine, who eclipsed the world's record with 287 eggs in 300 days, was a member of a chicken colony built on this modern plan of multiplied units.

Secretary of Commerce Redfield has decided to exercise his personal and official discretion in the matter of enforcing the seamen's law. In a letter to the supervising inspector general of the steamboat inspection service relative to its enforcement on the Great Lakes, in speaking of compelling the literal compliance with the terms of the law, he says: "The question may in part resolve itself into one of good faith. The vessel owners have had ample notice and are obligated to do all possible to be ready to meet the law fully when it takes effect. Your inspectors should therefore, look for all to obey the law and, in cases where that obedience may not be complete, will report the facts which will be considered by the department on the particular merits of each case."

The biggest single shipment of lumber ever sent from the Pacific coast has just arrived in the Curtis Bay district of the Baltimore, Md., harbor, where it is to be used to put up a plant for the United States Industrial Alcohol company, an incident, by the way, of the war's demand for alcohol to make explosives. This lumber shipment consists of huge spruce logs which, if placed end to end, would reach from Baltimore to Chicago. It contains 3,000,000 feet of lumber and came over the B. & O. railroad in 17 days. The shipment moved in three solid trains, two of 42 cars and one of 32 cars. It comes from a Grays Harbor lumber company of Hoquiam, Washington.

In event of war the goverment would have to depend on private individuals to furnish automobiles for transportation of troops and supplies. Therefore, the department is in touch with the sources and has on file offers from private individuals and firms of cars to be so used. A man writing from Chicago, tenders 1,000 cars; a Detroit club informs the department that 5,000 cars can be had there. Individual amateur aviators have written the department, tendering their aeroplanes and services. The surgeon general's office has a record of 558 physicians or surgeons in private practice who have never been in the military service, who have volunteered in case of necessity. This is exclusive of the 400 officers of the medical reserve corps not on actual duty who would be available for service in the event of necessity.

ANTWERP NEWS.

If you have a bad cough or chest cold which refuses to yield to ordinary remedies, get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth), pour into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. Start taking a teaspoonful every hour or two. In 24 hours your cough will be conquered or very nearly so. Even whooping cough is greatly relieved in this way.

The above mixture makes a full pint—a family supply—of the finest cough syrup that money could buy—at a cost of only 54 cents. Easily prepared in 5 minutes. Full directions with Pinex.

This Pinex and Sugar Syrup preparation takes right hold of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the dry, hoarse or tight cough in a way that is really remarkable. Also quickly heals the inflamed membranes which accompany a painful cough, and stops the formation of phlegm in the throat and bronchial tubes, thus ending the persistent loose cough. Excellent for bronchitis, spasmodic croup and winter coughs. Keeps perfectly and tastes good—children like it.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, rich in guaiacol, which is so healing to the membranes.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex,"—d not accept anything else. A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded goes with this preparation. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

JITNEY CASE TAKEN UNDER ADVISEMENT

Indianapolis, Oct. 5.—Limiting the questions at issue in the case of the Fidelity Trust company against J. C. Holden et al., "jitney" bus drivers in Terre Haute, Ind., solely to whether the franchise of the Terre Haute, Indianapolis and Eastern Traction company to operate a street car service in Terre Haute would make the business of the "jitney" bus drivers unlawful, Judge Anderson in federal court at the close of a day's hearing yesterday took the case under advisement, by which action it is understood that he would not grant the temporary injujnction asked by the company.

At the opening of the hearing in the morning the court overruled the motion of the defendants to dismiss the complaint on the grounds of insufficiency and that it was multifarious, and heard the evidence of affidavits and the arguments of the attorneys.

Declaring the evidence submitted insufficient to sustain the allegations of the complainant that there was a conspiracy among the "jitney" bus drivers to boycott the street car company, or that they interfered with street car passengers, Judge Anderson toward the close of the hearing disposed of all the issues except that concerning the franchise, although offering the plaintiffs an opportunity to introduce further testimony.

That it is insufficient in attempting to prove a boycott to show that a prejudice exists against the traction interests and that on the basis of this prejudice there is an effort to withhold business from these interests was the sense of a statement by the court in discussing the evidence submitted b the plaintiff.

That the "jitney" bus drivers had blocked access to the street cars, or egress from them, by congregating in such numbers at street crossings in the busy hours as to prohibit persons getting to and from the cars, the court held was not proved by the plaintiffs.

Judge Anderson pointed out, the case really had to rest finally on the question as to whether the "jitney" buses, by obtaining fares which the street car company otherwise would get, were liable to a restraining order. Counsel for the drivers argued on this point that buses in Indiana are not required to hold a franchise, and that the operation of them rests on exactly the same basis as the operation of cabs, express and delivery wagons and other vehicles for hire.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.
Chicago, Oct. 5.—Bullish cables led to a fresh upturn today in the wheat market here. Liverpool reported prices advancing and British millers anxious. Besides, estimates of the French crop shortage were raised to 100,000,000 bushels. The opening, which varied from unchanged figures to ½c higher, with December at 98⅜c to 99⅛c, and May at 99⅛@99⅜c, was followed by a slight reaction and then a decided general advance.
The close was unsettled at 1⅞c advance with December at 99⅜c and May at $1.00¼.
Reports of freezing temperature and crop damage in Nebraska and Iowa put strength into corn. There were also predictions of more frost tonight. After opening unchanged to ¼@⅜c higher, the market hesitated a little and then began to climb.
The close was steady, ¼@⅜c to ⅝c above yesterday's close.
Oats sympathized with corn. Fluctuations, though, were narrow.
Provisions followed the hog market up grade. Packers were on the buying side and there was a further good cash demand for meats.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.
New York, Oct. 5.—For the first time in over a fortnight gains gave way to losses at the outset of today's trading. The heavy selling, which imparted an irregular tone to yesterday's late operations, was resumed though declines were more orderly than advances had been. American Car and Foundry was offered down to 84 on an initial sale of 4,000 shares, an overnight loss of 6¼ points on denial of some recent "war contract" rumors. Lackawanna Steel dropped four to 88 points, and Crucible Steel three to 100½. Others of this class yielded one to two points. Among the early features of strength were New York Central, Union Pacific, Reading, Baldwin Locomotive, Industrial Alcohol and Willys-Overland.
There was a rally from the early low level, the stronger tone of the railways being a helpful factor, but recoveries were only temporary, some prominent shares going lower. It was evident not only from the marked decline of business but some other signs, that the speculative element was exercising restraint, partly of an enforced character. Before midday, however, the market again became active, with general improvement in virtually all parts of the list. Bonds were irregular.
Some recoveries from the early afternoon's break were made, Bethlehem Steel scoring the new high price of 400½ but in the final hour a more impressive selling movement sent prices lower than before. The closing was heavy.

For Ten Young Men In Fort Wayne

A long established and successful Fort Wayne company, comprising in its officers, directors and management men than whom none stand higher in the financial and business circles of the city, had $10,000 of its stock to offer on a basis that means an exceptional investment opportunity.
$5,000 of the $10,000 offered was quickly taken by downtown business men to whom the matter was mentioned. The remaining $5,000 was reserved and it was decided to give ten young men in the city an opportunity to own $500 worth of this stock each. We will make the selection.
If you have $500 in cash you are invited to answer this advertisement and in doing so, kindly give your place of employment as well as your name and home address.

THE DEATHS

DeWITT.

Louis DeWitt, aged thirty-seven years, of 238 Masterson avenue, died the family home Monday following a short illness due to bladder gangrenous. Mr. DeWitt was a Christian Scientist and no physician was summoned until an hour before he died. A post mortem was held by Deputy Coroner Dr. J. A. McArdle who found that the bladder was badly perforated and perotinitis had developed, hastening the end.

Mr. DeWitt was born in Lock, Ind., but had resided here for the past twenty-four years. He was united in marriage to Miss Amelia Morris in this city, December 24, 1910, who survives him, as do one daughter, Mildred; the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Martin DeWitt, of Peru; two sisters, Mrs. Rose Hanes, of this city, and Miss Mary Sunday, of Peru.

Funeral services Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the late residence. Services will be private. Interment will follow at Lindenwood.

ORR.

Mrs. Lavina J. Orr, aged 58 years, wife of Robert Orr, of 405 West Superior street, died at 4 o'clock Tuesday morning at the family residence, following an illness of several weeks. She had resided in Fort Wayne for twenty-five years and was a member of the United Brethren church.

Besides her husband she is survived by seven children: Bessie at home, Mrs. Hazel Sellers, Mrs. Irma Hamilton, Mrs. Ethel Kimball, of Indianapolis, and Charles L., John A. and Lawrence Orr, and one sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Kohler, of Canton, Ohio.

Funeral services Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the residence.

KRITZMAN.

Edward Kritzman, a son of Mr. and Mrs. aVlentine Kritzman, formerly of this city, died Monday at the Lutheran sanitarium at Denver, Col., according to word received here. He was well acquainted with many Fort Wayne people, being a member of Zion's Lutheran church.

FUNERAL NOTICES.

Koch.—Funeral services for John B. Koch will be held Wednesday morning at 8:30 o'clock at the residence and at 9 o'clock at St. Mary's Catholic church.

Gallemeyer.—Funeral services for Henry Gallemeyer will be held Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the residence in Adams county and at 2 o'clock at St. John's Lutheran church at Bingen.

Metcalf.—Funeral services for Mrs. Elizabeth Metcalf will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Klaehn & Melching chapel. Rev. F. H. Cremean and Rev. C. E. Boyer officiating. Kindly omit flowers.

Schafer.—Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Schafer will be held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the residence, 621 Clay street, Rev. Jacob Miller officiating. Interment at Concordia. Kindly omit flowers.

BLAME IS PLACED ON KILBUCK BAND

New Albany, Ind., Oct. 5.—Who was the instigator and who were the perpetrators of the Pigeon Roost massacre September 3, 1812?

The question has often been answered, but always the answer has in turn been questioned. Probably there never was as much assurance in the answers as there is in the answers made by the old settlers of Clark county, and their answers are questioned.

Soon after the battle of Tippecanoe, November 11, 1811, there drifted into Union township, in the northwestern part of Clark county, a band of fifty Indians with their squaws and children, headed by a chief, according to the word handed down by descendants of Clark county pioneers. He was tall, well built, strong and in the prime of manhood. His face was of the classical Roman type. He was a man of dignity, taciturnity and sternness. He had only one wife, to whom he was devoted, and besides her he had a beautiful daughter and 2 stalwart sons. It was whispered among the Indians that he had been at the battle of Fallen Timbers, where the Indians were defeated by Mad Anthony Wayne, and that he had joined Tecumseh and the prophet and fought at Tippecanoe. The Indians of his band—Delawares—asserted that he had been a chief, wise in council, great in war, splendid in oratory and second only to Tecumseh. However, he never spoke of himself to a white man. Indeed, he seldom spoke to the whites.

Whites Feared Kilbuck.

In Union township he and his followers squatted on a farm owned by the father of George Townsend, grandfather of Mrs. William H. Freeman, of Indianapolis. He was known as Chief Kilbuck. He was a great hunter and trapper and was often seen chasing game, but the whites were not familiar with him, for they feared him, although he had given them no cause for apprehension. It is told that he was strictly honorable in all his dealings and insisted on the same course from his men and he was careful to give no offense. It is quite certain that no neighbor suffered harm at his hands.

Trouble, however, was inevitable. The buffalo had disappeared, the deer and other game became scarce; the little patches of corn could not, in the nature of things, keep the Indian band alive. In addition the Delawares must have felt the soreness of defeat and the white man's injustice, which had deprived them of their lands and possessions. In the trading of pelts for meal and other necessities, they were often cheated.

Indian Lost in Hollow Tree.

During the winter after their coming an incident occurred which nearly fanned the smoldering ill feeling among the bucks into a flame. One day a young man, a runner, disappeared, and the Indians accused the whites of killing the boy. The whites, in fear and trembling, wished to prove their innocence, and took the trail with the Indians. The trail disappeared at a sycamore tree on the bank of Wolfe creek, where the town of Henryville now stands. Again an attempt was made to find some trace. Finally one of the settlers, who halted at the tree, heard feeble scratching in the tree. He obtained a hatchet and found the tree was hollow. The Indian, starved and exhausted, had climbed the tree after a coon and had fallen in.

Murder of the Huffmans.

Almost immediately after this incident, which frightened the settlers, a tragedy followed, five miles east of Kilbuck's camp, but evidently neither he nor his men were responsible for it. At the headwaters of Silver creek, near Henryville, an old man, Huffman, was standing in the door of his log house one Sunday evening, when there was suddenly the crack of a rifle and he fell dead. His wife and daughter, trying to escape by a back door, were also killed. A young son was carried away captive. Another son hid in a hollow log and escaped. The case of the captured boy attracted national attention, and twelve years later Jonathan Jennings, then congressman, obtained $500 for his ransom, and the young man, by that time twenty-one years old, was brought back from Canada, where he had been sold to French traders. For a time he lived with Colonel Jesse B. Durham, at Vallonia, Jackson county, but he preferred the wild life and soon disappeared. Inquiry for him and descendants was made through local papers twenty years ago, but without result. Kilbuck and his people were at first suspected of these murders, but were evidently not guilty. They were more probably committed by a roving band from the north. But though Kilbuck held his followers under strict discipline, the tension was near the breaking point and if local tradition is right, it culminated in the Pigeon Roost massacre, in which twenty-four persons, three men, five woman, and sixteen children, lost their lives, near Vienna, Scott county.

Chief Angered in Trade.

Locally the story was that Kilbuck had bargained with William Collins for a peck of cornmeal, but when he came to his wigwam and emptied the sack, he found it half full of bran. Then he flew into a rage, denounced the whites as the robbers of the Indians' lands, requiring the red men to eat bran.

Thirty of his bucks are said to have disappeared from the camp on the evening before the massacre and they, it is believed, committed the slaughter in revenge for the insult to their chief. William Collins and Captain John Norris, however, defended themselves successfully in one of the houses of the settlement and escaped when darkness came to the home of Zebulon Collins. This version is vigorously denied by the descendants of Collins, who blame the Delawares from White river for the massacre. It is related that men under Captain Parker pursued the ravagers, but old settlers did not credit this, asserting that everybody was too badly frightened to go far from home and that most of the people had taken refuge in the stockades and forts that dotted the country.

The massacre of the garrison and the people of Ft. Dearborn (Chicago), occurred August 7, and the attack on Ft. Harrison (Terre Haute), occurred almost at the same hour as the Pigeon Roost outrage. Ft. Wayne was besieged about the same time.

Of course, in these latter affairs Kilbuck's band could have had no hand, if, indeed, they were the principals or had part in the murders at Pigeon Roost. Kilbuck was not disturbed, nor was ever any inquiry made whether his people had any share in the outrage at Pigeon Roost. The settlers were too much afraid of him. Six months after the massacre he and his band disappeared.
